Father Groppi On Probation For Two Years

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Father JAmes E. Groppi, white Roman Catholic priest who has guided Milwaukee's open housing demonstrators since last August, was fined $500 and put on two years' probation today on a charge of resisting arrest.

County Judge F. Ryan Duffy Jr. first sentenced Groppi to six months in the House of Correction, then stayed the sentence and imposed probation. He told Groppi that if the priest were arrested again during the period of probation, he would reinstate the jail term.

Groppi was convicted by a jury last Friday of resisting arrest during an attempted march last August.

The court ordered the fine paid within 24 hours.

Thieu Asks Extra American Troops

MY THO, Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today more U.S. troops are needed to hasten victory in the Vietnam war.

"We can hold them (the Communists)," Thieu said, "but to end the war faster is another matter."

There are now more than 500,000 U.S. soldiers in South Vietnam.

Thieu said the recent series of Communist attacks on South Vietnam's major population centers shows that one Viet Cong battalion in a city "demands at least five times as many troops on our side to destroy them."

"They can do that because they have no responsibillities, they don't have to protect roads, bridges and outposts and they don't have to worry about hurting people," Thieu said of the Communists.

Thieu made his comments during a helicopter tour of four Mekong Delta cities hit by the Communist attacks.

Thieu said the Communists might launch a second wave of attacks against South Vietnamese cities. But he said that if the Viet Cong had been hurt in the recent fighting "they could go back to the countryside and spoil the pacification program, and meanwhile stay around the cities to fix our troops."

He referred to Communist activity near the cities that would force government troops to guard the cities instead of providing protection for pacification teams in the countryside.

Hue Bombed

On the war front, Vietnamese warplanes bombed and strafed Communist forces holding out in Hue's Citadel today after U.S. Marine reinforcements were sent into the walled fortress for the first time in the two-week battle.

The allied assaults were part of an all-out effort to drive the Communist North Vietnamese regulars and Viet Cong guerrillas from areas they have held since Jan. 31.

The Communists, holding the Citadel's southeast corner, put up a hail of .50-caliber anti-aircraft fire at the attacking planes. Cloud cover lifted to permit the first air attack on the fortress in 10 days.

Marine Attacks

Two companies of Marines—about 300 to 400 men—entered the Citadel from landing craft sent up the Perfume River Sunday and another two companies of Leathernecks were taken to the Citadel's northern wall by assault boats today.

The Marines have already recaptured the southern part of Hue in a series of street battles in the old imperial capital since the Communists attacked Hue in the early stages of their big offensive against 35 cities and towns. South Vietnamese troops pushed the Communist troops into one corner of the Citadel but had been unble to drive them out.

The U.S Marine force in Hue was about 1,000 men. AP correspondent George McArthur reported from Hue that the Marines were meeting only occasional sniper fire in the southern part of the city 400 miles north of Saigon.

Local Guerrillas

He said there were indications all North Vietnamese troops had withdrawn from the fighting for the south side, leaving only local guerrillas, including some who infiltrated among the 30,000 civilian refugees.

Lt. Col. Phan Van Khoa, province chief, mayor of Hue and district military commander, said Communist troops in Hue executed 300 civilians Friday and buried them in a mass grave south of the city. He said the grave was in an area not yet reached by allied forces but that his reports of the executions were precise and unquestionable.

The victims were province officials, technicians, policemen and others who long had been marked for death by the Communists, he said.

A Vietnamese civilian reported 125 to 150 Catholics being led from the city as captives Saturday.

Fighting in Saigon

Fighting also continued in Saigon and its suburbs for the 13th day, and communiques and field reports said U.S. and South Vietnamese infantrymen, helicopter gunships and fighter-

Vance, Park Meet for 3 Hours

SEOUL (AP) — South Korean President Chung Hee Park is reported considering a trip to talk with President Johnson if U.S. presidential envoy Cyrus Vance doesn't resolve the U.S.-South Korean rift over Korean security.

Vance and Park met for the first time today. Vance's mission is to quiet South Korean fears that the United States is tending toward appeasement in the Pueblo incident and neglecting the increase in the infiltration of armed North Koreans into the South.

Park and Vance met for three hours today. The U.S. Embassy said the talks included a "free, friendly and candid exchange of views," while a spokesman for Park said the meeting was held in a "sincere atmosphere."

Neither side would say whether any progress was made.

Johnson sent Park a personal letter last Thursday, and Vance was expected to deliver another such letter today. Informed Korean sources said Johnson may have invited Park to Washington and, depending on the results of his talks with Vance, Park may decide to go.

Meet With North

In a move welcome to the South Koreans, the American officers who head the U.N. Command in Korea asked for a meeting with North Korea to air claims of Communist truce violations "in and through the demilitarized zone."

North Korea rejected the command's proposal to meet today, but it was indicated that the Communists proposed meeting Wednesday and that this would be acceptable to the U.N. side.

A U.S. military spokesman said four North Koreans crossed into South Korea around midnight Sunday, but American sentries repelled them in a brief clash. No casualties were reported.

There was speculation that Vance would also meet with North Korean representatives before his scheduled departure Tuesday afternoon. The United States and North Korea have held five secret meetings since reau sources said they believed the Communists seized the U.S. intelligence-gathering ship Pueblo Jan. 23.

No official reports have come out of the talks, but reliable Korean sources said Johnson may have invited Park to Washington and, depending on the results of his talks with Vance, Park may decide to go.

three injured Pueblo crewmen and the body of one sailor who died would be returned soon.

The secret meetings miffed the South Koreans, traditionally strong allies of the United States, who are more concerned about the security threat raised by the Communist commando raid into Seoul Jan. 21 in an attempt to assassinate President Park.

The commandos failed, but a police chief was killed in a gun battle with them only 800 yards from the presidential mansion. Allied forces later killed 27 of the infiltrators and captured one.

South Korean officials also were expected to ask Vance for return of operational control of their 560,000-man armed forces, now held by American Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel III, the commander of U.N. forces in South Korea.

The South Koreans also have been pressing for more U.S. help in modernizing and expanding their armed forces. President Johnson has asked Congress for $100 million in special military aid to Korea, but Park's government said it was more concerned about fundamental security problems than any one-time appropriation.

Some Korean legislators have suggested withdrawal of the 46,000 man Korean force in Vietnam to meet the crisis at home unless the United States takes what they consider a firmer stand in Korea.

Soviet Union Adheres To N. Vietnam Terms

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union publicly urged on the Vietnamese Communists to new victories today while Kremlin leaders secretly discussed peace prospects with U.N. Secretary-General U Thant.

After his talks, Thant departed for London to confer with Prime Minister Harold Wilson. He had come to Moscow from India where he met with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi. U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles and a North Vietnamese diplomat.

Britain is cochairman with the Soviet Union of the Geneva conference which ended the French-Indochina war in 1954. India is a member of the International Control Commisison for Vietnam.

Continued Aid

Complete Soviet support for the peace programs of Hanoi and the Viet Cong, and promises of continued aid in fighting the United States, were given here while Thant was meeting with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, Communist Party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev and President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

The talk with Kosygin was described as friendly. The other talks were not officially described.

Thant refused to talk to reporters before he left.

"I am sorry but I have had a long trip and I am very tired. Please forgive me," Thant had a Soviet official tell reporters waiting at the airport.

Pravda, official organ of the Soviet Communist Party, reported Thant's visit without comment but ran a long front-page editorial supporting what it called Hanoi's "clear-cut position . . . leading to a solution of the Vietnamese problem."

'No Obstacles'

The paper noted with approval that the Communist formula calls for an unconditional halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

"There are no obstacles whatever for the United States to enter into talks if it wants this seriously," Pravda said.

Communist China's official New China News Agency charged that Thant went to India last week "to peddle the U.S. peace talks scheme in collusion with Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi." The broadcast called Kosygin, Wilson and Yugoslav President Tito "American lackeys who are whipping up a new peace talks campaign."

The Soviet attitude has shown no change since the Viet Cong launched their military offensive two weeks ago.

Soviet leaders also gave personal assurances of support last week to the Viet Cong representative in Moscow, who has talked of continuing the war in South Vietnam until the Americans get out.

Thant's London schedule called for a meeting Tuesday morning with Foreign Secretary George Brown and luncheon with Wilson before departing for New York.

Road to Peace

Wilson said Sunday after a visit to Johnson that he supported President Johnson's San Antonio formula as the road to peace in Vietnam. He said he had carried the proposal to Kosygin when he visited Moscow Jan. 22-24.

Johnson in a speech in San Antonio, Tex., last September promised an end to the bombing of North Vietnam when there is assurance from the Communist side that this will lead to prompt, productive peace talks. North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh said last week the talks could begin as soon as the bombing stopped.

British Conservative Party leader Edward Heath accused Wilson on his return to London Sunday of "lecturing" gjohnson instead of supporting the President when, in a speech at the White House Friday night, he advised the President to ignore "impatient and exasperated demands" for intensification of the fighting. But the New York Times said it was thought Wilson "spoke with the President's advance knowledge and approval. In other words, Mr. Johnson used his visitor to strengthen his own hand against advocates of escalation."

Discredit Saigon

In Paris, neutral sources with close contacts in Vietnam suggested that the aim of the Viet Cong offensive in the cities was to unseat or discredit the Saigon government to keep it out of future peace negotiations.

These sources also said a chance to start negotiations apparently was close recently, but that prospects have dimmed considerably as a result of the military situation.

They said the Viet Cong goal appears to be to kill, kidnap or threaten so many government officials that President Nguyen Van Thieu's government can no longer be considered operating, and any peace negotiations would be between the United States on one side and North Vietnam and the Viet Cong on the other.

No Part Secure

In the United States, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said Sunday that the Communist offensive against South Vietnam's cities had made clear that no part of the country is secure.

"The hamlets, villages, and the cities of Vietnam are seen to be honeycombed with a NLF (National Liberation Front) infrastructure which has undoubtedly existed for many years, which is still intact and which may well be stronger than ever," Mansfield said in a speech at the University of Maine. Mansfield also disputed allied casualty claims in the offensive and said body counts "may well be over-inflated. The U.S. Command has reported more than 27,000 killed of an estimated enemy force of 60,000.

Mansfield said the bombing of North Vietnam had not accomplished its purpose and should

'Flames All Over,' Trucker Says

Jet With Crew of 2 Slams Into San Francisco Bridge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two men in a Navy jet trainer, hurtling through thick fog, crashed in flames into the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, scorching girders and tearing crosspieces Sunday.

Shattered remains of the T33, which had taken off from nearby Alameda Naval Air Station, continued past the five-lane westbound upper bridge roadway and about 180 feet down to the water. Engineers said a damaged bridge girder would have to be replaced.

Coast Guard boats and navy divers operating from a barge searched for the two fliers in 50 feet of water. The search, suspended because of darkness, resumes today.

Both From California

The Navy identified the two men as Lt. Anthony V. Miller, 33, of Palm Desert, Calif., and Lt. Bruce C. Turnbull, 34, of Los Angeles. Both were members of Reserve Attack Squadron 773 stationed at Los Alamitos Naval Air Station in Southern California. The Navy said they were on a routine weekend training mission.

Seconds before the crash, truck driver Ronald Terry of El Sobrante was heading toward San Francisco with 8,050 gallons of jet fuel in a tank truck.

"...I hear this jet coming," he said. "I look up and I see a big streak. There were flames all over the place. The stuff was raining down on me. I thought my truck blew up . . ."

There were no reports of any injuries on the bridge. Bits of wreckage slightly damaged Terry's truck.

The two fliers crashed into the cantilever section about two miles from the Oakland end. Girders were scorched within a 20-foot area. One was badly dented. Steel crosspieces were torn from their rivets, and an access ladder was wrenched loose.

Scorched debris from the plane including a blistered Red-White-and-Blue Navy star insignia, lay scattered on the roadway. San Francisco-bound traffic was halted 2½ hours.

It was the second time a Navy plane flying out of the Alameda air station has struck the 8½-mile long bridge. The first was in 1943, when Navy Lt. J. L. Morrelle, 24, a reservist from Georgetown, Tex., was killed when his single-seater hit suspension cables.

The bridge, one of the largest of its type in the world, is part tunnel, part cable, part truss and part cantilever.

Crash in Milwaukee

Amherst Junction Boy, Sister Killed

MILWAUKEE — Two children of a rural Amherst Junction family were killed here Sunday morning when the car in which they were riding collided with another vehicle at a southside intersection.

Rhonda Loberg, 6, and her 7-year-old brother, John, children of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Loberg, were thrown from the car on impact and both hit the curb. Rhonda was dead on arrival at a city hospital and John died shortly after.

In the same car but not injured were Mr. and Mrs. Loberg and four other children—Bonnie, 17; Carol, 16; Sandra, 10, and Willie, 9.

The Loberg family, which had gone to Milwaukee Sunday morning to visit relatives, lives on a farm one-half mile north of Nelsonville on Portage County Trunk ZZ.

Funeral services for the two children are pending at the Voie Funeral Home, Iola.

Cathleen S. Geisel, 18, of Cincinnati, Ohio, a student at Marquette University, died Sunday in a pre-dawn car accident in Oak Creek.

A West Allis man, David C. Raash, 21, died Sunday when his car plunged off a Waukesha County road.

The body of Daniel Stelmaszewski, 19, of Superior, was found Sunday along State 29 about two miles west of Thorp. Clark County sheriff's deputies said his car had left the road, jumped a stream and landed on an opposite bank. He was alone in the vehicle.

Bum Turns Down $19,219

44 Cents Is Richness Enough

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'd rather stay at the bottom of the barrel. I'm not ready yet to go over the other side."

With these words bearded, tattered Clint Wescott, 51, who says he's been on the bum for 15 years, refused $19,219.

"Hand me a dollar," he said. "I'll take it—buy a little drink, a little smoke. But I don't want the nineteen thousand.

"I just don't want the money."

Sleeps in Weeds

The money belongs to Wescott, who sleeps in weeds in a vacant downtown lot and lives with his friends "One-eyed Jack," "Big Swede," and "The Missing Man."

His current assets are 44 cents, he says.

The money is from the foreclosure sale in 1961 of a gas station in Burnt Hills, N.Y., near Schenectady, that Wescott abandoned in 1953 when he headed west. The $15,124 sale price plus interest are in two bank accounts.

A law firm, appointed by the New York Supreme Court to handle the case, has searched for Wescott since 1961.

In Burnt Hills, attorney John P. Brown read the story.

Being on the Bum Appeals to Clint Wescott, 51, who has refused $19,000 owed to him by two New York banks. After 15 years as a vagabond, he just wants money a dollar at a time. (AP Wirephoto)

Brown phoned the Los Angeles Times and told of the money owed Wescott.

Said Brown: "Finding Clinton is a great relief. The sooner I hand over the money to him, the better I will like it." He said Wescott had been a popular resident of the town and had built the gas station with his own hands.

"Then suddenly one day 15 years ago he said the hell with it and took off," said Brown.

Brown sent a letter to the newspaper carrying a separate note informing Wescott of his wealth.

'No Cares'

"It's not a bad life, Wescott said. "No cares." A man lives in the weeds with $30, $40 in his pocket—it's a different story. A few dimes, pennies. There's no danger of anything.

"I'm rich. This is all the richer I want to be. Enough to buy a short jug. That's all I want out of life now. No taxes, no rush to work. Rush home from work. Nothing.

"One of these days I'll go straight. I'll climb out of the bottom of the barrel. But I'm not ready. Not now anyway."

Britain Reportedly Set To End Nuclear Status

LONDON (AP) — Britain will be a nonnuclear nation by 1971 according to confidential government plans, a leading defense writer said today.

Chapman Pincher of the Daily Express said the government's goal is the abolition of all tactical nuclear weapons under independent British control, and the placing of the navy's four Polaris submarines under some form of international control.

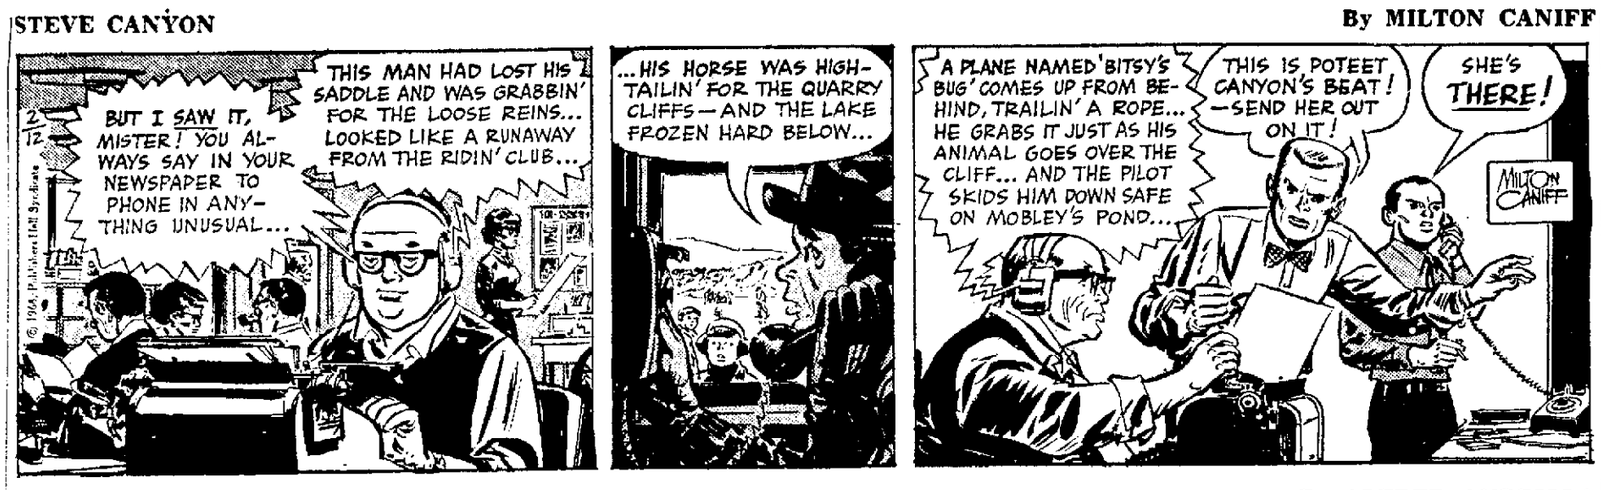

Pincher said reversion to conventional weaponry was foreseen in the recent defense spending cuts, but that the nuclear implications of the moves were kept quiet on government orders.

The moves leading to the nonnuclear goal, Pincher said, include the scrapping of aircraft carriers which carry tactical nuclear bombers, cancellation of orders for the American F111 nuclear strike bombers and the phasing out of nuclear roles for existing planes, no further nuclear supplies to the British Rhine army and the virtual abandonment of nuclear research and development.

Pincher said the plan has appalled Britain's defense chiefs but is a major victory for the Labor Party's left wing.

Play the License Plate Game as You Ride or Walk

BY CAPPY DICK

The auto license game described as today's fun-project for boys and girls can be played in all states where license numbers include letters of the alphabet. It may be played while walking on the sidewalk, riding in a bus or in a car.

A-B-C Sequence

The game begins when one player sees an auto license with "A" in it (Figure 1). To claim that plate he must call out, "I see an 'A'!" He makes a note of this fact on his score sheet, which can be any piece of paper.

No more licenses are called until a player sees one containing "B" (see Figure 2). He calls out, "I see a 'B'!" This becomes part of his score.

The next license called by any player must contain "C" (Figure 3). This player claims that license for his score.

The game continues in this way until the entire alphabet has been called. The contestant who has spotted the most letters is the winner.

State Starts Buying Land For Whitefish Bay Park

Also Approves Purchase of Lots For High Cliff Park Development

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — With the purchase of an 800-foot strip of shoreline approved Friday, acquisition of the Whitefish Bay state park in Door County has been started.

The approval of the purchase of the $52,000 property located along the south border of the planned park marks the start of an acquisition program aimed at buying the 821 acres needed for the development of the park approved by the state conservation commission in July, 1967.

The approval came from the commission meeting here Friday, at the recommendation of state parks director John Mackie, who told the commissioners that the department staff has delayed bringing any purchase recommendations for land for the Whitefish Bay park to the body until appraisals of all land needed for the facility had been obtained.

Approved Unanimously

The strip, 300 feet in depth and containing 800 feet of shoreline, was approved for purchase unanimously by the commission. Mackie told the group that local residents have questioned the amount of time that it has taken for the appraisals to be completed, and would favor the purchase because it would mark the start of the park project in the vacationland area.

Also approved by the commission at its monthly meeting were additions to the John Michael Kohler and High Cliff state parks in Sheboygan and Calumet Counties.

The Kohler Park addition involves the purchase of a 40 acre tract for $8,000. The land will be added to that donated by the Kohler family to the state for the development of the park.

The High Cliff approval covers two lots comprising four land parcels needed for the construction of new entrance to the park. Mackie told the commission that the division has also obtained an option on a second parcel, moving the new entrance closer to development.

Purchase price of the land from Theodore and Anna Meyer of Menasha was $7,000.

50 Per Cent Developed

Mackie reported that the High Cliff Park is 50 per cent developed, and that 62 per cent of the land needed for the park has been obtained.

The commission voted authorization to the state division of highways to proceed with surveys and planning needed for the construction of the new entrance.

Other park actions included:

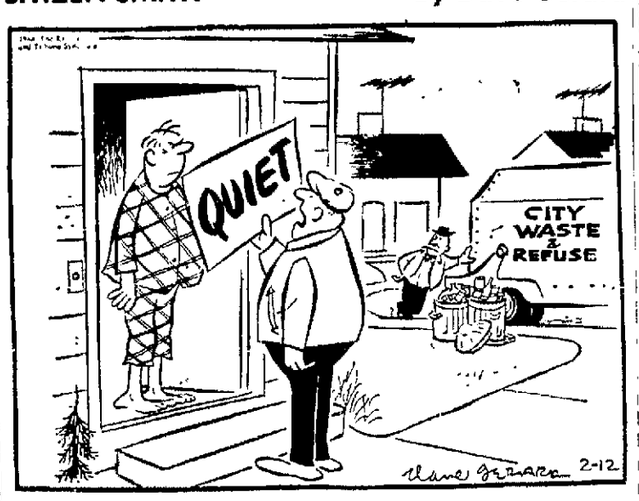

Approval of the conversion of 30 coin operated shower units in Peninsula State Park in Door County to free showers. The added feature will compensate for higher park fees charged overnight campers at the facility, the commission noted.

Purchase of a key land parcel for the Harrington Beach State Park north of Milwaukee for $425,000, rather than the $400,000 originally offered. Mackie advised the commission that if condemnation was pushed, a court would probably order a settlement of about $500,000.

See End of Roof Markers As Pilot Aids

Some Believe They Have Outlived Their Usefulness

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Wisconsin's system of rooftop markers for wayward pilots may be curtailed or ended, under a plan being considered by the state council of aeronautics

The system of 884 painted rooftop directional markers, in existence since 1948, could be dropped under a proposal made by Fritz E. Wolf, administrator of the division of aeronautics to the advisory group.

The system is comprised of yellow markers painted on rooftops throughout the state. Each marker consists of the name of the locality, and contains a circle with an arrow pointing in the direction of the nearest airports.

Pilots confused about their location use them as landmarks.

This spring, if the system is continued, up to 350 of them will have to be re-painted, at a total cost of up to $17,000.

Three Possibilities

Wolf asked that the council, which advised Transportation Secretary G. H Bakke on aeronautical matters, to consider the possibility of dropping the entire system, continuing it, or cutting it back in areas in which the signals might not be necessary

Wolf said that Wisconsin has more student pilots training now than at any time in the past, but that modern-day students are being taught to rely to use new navigational instruments and not to rely on the ground markers.

"You get sophisticated aircraft with $40,000 or $50,000 worth of radio and navigational equipment on board and the pilot is not going to be reading signs on the tops of buildings," said council member Gordon Leonard of Milwaukee.

Willard Pire, Eau Claire, disagreed in part.

He stressed that even experienced pilots, when lost, tend to panic and can have difficulty using new navigational equipment The rooftop signs reassure pilots in such situations, he said.

Necessary in Some Areas

He urged that the use of the signs be continued in the northern and southwestern areas of the state, where great distances exist between towns and pilots easily become lost. But the signs are not needed in the southeastern sector of Wisconsin, stretching up to Appleton, he said.

He also suggested that the signs could be removed from areas within 50 miles of an Interstate highway and Highway 41 as far north as Green Bay.

Wolf said that reducing the number of signs in such a manner could drop the cost this year to the state — a cost that is repeated with repaintings every four years — to less than $10,000.

Wolf will report back to the council at its March meeting with exact cost and location information on the partial curtailment proposal.

Lifting Debt Ban Seen as Forestry Aid

Post-Cresoent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Strong support for a proposed constitutional amendment to allow Wisconsin to spend for forestry purposes was voiced by the state Board of Natural Resources and the state conservation commission last week.

The referendum, which will confront state voters in April, would remove the constitutional bar on state spending for internal improvements and would be lifted if the referendum is passed by voters

The Legislature could then appropriate funds for forestry purposes -- a concept strongly endorsed by the two outdoor resources agencies as they met here

Hope for Strong Vote

A strong "yes" vote on the referendum, they stressed, would aid the thousands of state residents directly involved in the industries dependent upon state forests. It would build Wisconsin's $1 billion a year outdoor recreation industry. And it would make Wisconsin a better place to live in for all of its residents, they noted.

A similar referendum lost by nearly 100,000 votes out of 1 million cast in the elections of the spring of 1964. Since then, the 1965 and 1967 Legislatures have passed resolutions calling for another referendum, which will be on the spring ballot.

Seek Change in System Of Aircraft Licensing

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A strict new system of aircraft dealer and owner licensing is being pushed by Wisconsin's administrator of the aeronautics division.

Fritz E. Wolf says Wisconsin should stop licensing dealers not located at airports, and should push for stricter enforcement of its licensing requirements.

Wolf told his advisory council on aeronautics that 10 of the state's 44 aircraft dealers did not renew their licenses upon expiration Nov. 1, and that more than 500 of the state's 2,800 aircraft owners also missed the licensing deadline date and have not registered their craft.

Lost to the state under the latter practice, he said, is about $10,000 in licensing fees

Wolf told the council that under the present system, dealer licensing permits cost more to issue than the state earns from them "and the present requirements are just no good. I see no need for those who are not operating at airports to license as dealers," he said.

Wolf added that the reason the licensing provisions are so widely ignored include the problems that the laws covering the area contain no enforcement and penalty provisions.

Statutory changes would be necessary to grant those powers.

The Kellett reorganization of state government has merged the transportation divisions of state government, connecting the aeronautics divisions through the department with the state traffic patrol.

Wolf said that as the reorganization is completed, he hopes that the state patrol will be assigned the responsibility of inspecting and enforcing the dealer registration requirements as they do now with automobile dealers.

Burglar Exposed to Poisonous Chemicals

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Hospitals were alerted to watch for a burglar who might be feeling ill after ransacking a house and making off with $500 in loot Police said the house was being treated to rid it of termites and that the intruder had exposed himself to a toxic chemical.

Maybe you talk about taking a cruise when you retire. But, if you don't plan now, you may miss something.

The boat.

Prudential understands that some day you'll have the time to do the things you've always wanted to do. But the question is—will you have the money?

You probably know what you'll have coming to you from Social Security and perhaps a company pension. But they may not add up to the kind of retirement you want. You can make up the difference with a Prudential Annuity. A Prudential Annuity will guarantee you a check every month even if you outlive Methuselah. So you'll never run the risk of living longer than your money.

Nice thing, too, is that a Prudential Annuity doesn't have to be watched and worried over. Prudential does the watching and worrying for you. And, meanwhile, you've got a nest egg to borrow on if you get in a bind.

Your Prudential man is an expert at tailoring a Prudential Annuity to your income and retirement plans. When it comes to taking the money worry out of retirement and the planning for it, Prudential understands.

Prudential understands! See your Prudential agent, or call:

Educators Focus on Future Consumers

BY CAROL HANSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"Today's consumers are no longer faced with the simple matter of making purchases based on the best quality for the smallest amount of money. Human values in consumers' backgrounds, their hopes and dreams, influence their purchases," said Miss Kristin Klitgord when she discussed "Focus on Consumers, Today and Tomorrow" at a meeting of about 150 area home economics educators Saturday morning at Reetz's Supper Club.

Miss Klitgord, who holds a B.S. degree in home economics and a master's degree in education, is a field representative for J.C. Penney Company's Educational and Consumer Relations Department in New York City.

"We are living in an age of constant change. Today's median income is $8,000 with an expected increase of 46 per cent by 1980. Our country with its present population of 200 million will increase to 350 million by the year 2000 and we are going to have to learn to cope with this rise in population," she said.

We now have 70 per cent of the people living on one per cent of the land and because of this high-rise urbanization, consumers already are faced with many choices, Miss Klitgord explained. They can decide, for instance, whether they want an automobile or whether they will use public transportation and spend saved money on other luxuries.

Technological improvements already have changed our living habits in the U.S. We have the supermarket with all of its products that make meal planning and preparation easier for today's homemaker. We are beginning to look on automatic washers an driers as necessities. Women have more time than ever before for community affairs, charity and part-time employment.

Because our young people have never known depression years, she said, they are the ones who are questioning why, when we are the wealthiest nation in the world, we are materialistic and so interested in comfort. They see nothing amazing about our wealth and dismiss our technological gains casually. They become flower children or join the peace corps in the hopes of finding answers.

Individual Worth

Our worth as individuals is far different from what it used to be and the concepts of 10 years ago no longer matter. There was a time when leisure was only for the very wealthy but in our future, Miss Klitgord stated, people may be paid not to work. And they are going to have to develop interests to avoid becoming lost souls.

Our young marrieds are spending more freely and making use of credit more readily than ever before. They represent one-quarter of all families, yet have only 15 per cent of the income. Young mothers are performing duties of wife, mother and homemaker while they are trying to develop some maturity for themselves, she commented.

Teen-agers are exerting more pressure on the spending of the family income. Because of their increased influence, we have seen a turn-around in fashion. We are producing everything from the mini-skirt to the guitar for them. They are spending an estimated $11 billion per year and by 1970 with 27 million of them, they are expected to be spending $21 billion.

Way of Life

Consumer items reflect the values, needs and way of life in a society. Miss Klitgord pointed out that today's consumers are making use of more disposable items, and rent more items than ever before. They already have turned the renting business into a $650 million industry. They are buying and considering as necessities small appliances their grandmothers never thought of.

As incomes grow and a smaller percentage is spent on necessities, we wonder what the people of the future will buy to meet their needs.

Many food items, by 1980, will no longer require refrigeration, room color will be altered by controlled light and we will be buying appliances with lifetime guarantees. Repair will simply mean buying the model that is needed.

It is expected that by the year 2000, Miss Klitgord said, that ours will be a cashless society with banking done by computers. We will shop, make a punch card selection, charge it and have it delivered.

Ultrasonic waves will help keep our homes clean. Disposable plastic dishes will do away with dishwashing. Women will be using microwave appliances and programming a meal to be served at a specific time.

Television screens will be slim and mounted on the wall. Through the use of lazer beams and metal tabs in children's clothing, she said, we will be able to keep track of children on the television screen. Video cameras will protect our homes from intruders.

More Variety

Prefabrication, Miss Klitgord went on, will continue to grow and will provide housing at a lower cost with a greater variety of available styles.

Mrs. Kenneth Pagel, Neenah, and Mrs. Richard Kubalek, Appleton, review some of the material published especially for home economics teachers to use in the classroom. Records, film strips and leaflets are among several items the J. C. Penney Company's Education and Consumer Relations Department produces for teachers. (Post-Crescent Photos)

All of the changes facing the consumer are disturbing. Consumers, Miss Klitgord said, are going to have to experiment with the new products and find their true values. Now and in the future, the consumer is going to look for fulfillment of needs and desires and look for satisfatcion as well as quality in products.

Teachers can help young people, she concluded, became interested in the problems and responsibilities of the consumer today. They must be able to deal with change and accept the value and concepts of tomorrow. Consumers are going to need open minds to try new products, services and ways of living.

Miss Becker Sets Carnegie Hall Debut

Miss Becker

Miss Esther Becker, daughter of Mrs. Edward Becker, 1103 Michigan Ave., Oshkosh, will make her formal recital debut as lyric coloratura soprano in a concert at Carnegie Hall, New York, N.Y. at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Miss Becker is a Magna Cum Laude graduate of MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Ill. While teaching music in Chicago's public schools, she made several concert appearances throughout the area.

Miss Becker's vocal study in New York City has been with Eleanor McClelland and Sidney Osborne. In addition to performing as soloist with church choirs, and in concerts with the Collegiate Chorale and the Canterbury Choral Society, Miss Becker appeared as the lead soprano in the debut performance of the American opera "Into the Silence" by George Wehner at the World's Fair in 1964. This was followed by three performances on the Mall at Central Park.

Traveling to New York to hear their sister in her formal New York recital debut are Mrs. Duane Cismoski, Clintonville; Mrs. Jesse Johnston, Oshkosh; and Mrs. Rexford Peterson, Menomonee Falls.

14 Foods Taboo to Korean Mothers-to-Be

By AP NEWSFEATURES

So you're expecting a baby!

If you're irked at the dos and don'ts—particularly in the diet field—that your doctor has prescribed, be glad that you're not a pregnant woman living in one of 26 agricultural communities of South Korea.

According to the Korean Home Economics Association, they believe they must avoid 14 different kinds of food. Here's why:

Can't Eat Duck

If a pregnant woman eats duck, her baby may walk like a duck all its life.

If she eats rabbit meat, her baby will probably have a harelip.

If she eats fish or poultry, the baby will have rough scaly skin or chronic gooseflesh in later life.

Soup made with meat bones, especially chicken bones, may cause her baby to be born disfigured.

Teeth May Decay

If she eats soybeans or squash, her teeth may decay so badly that she may lose them all.

Spiced radish, if eaten during pregnancy, forewarns of a difficult childbirth.

A nursing mother must avoid seven different kinds of food, including all green vegetables, especially fresh lettuce.

A weaning baby must not eat any eggs; or he will be a late talker.

Pair Weds In Texas

ABILENE, Tex — Miss Lana Clydene Wright became the bride of Marcus Raymond Bodoh in a 7 p.m. ceremony Feb. 2 at Corinth Baptist Church. The Rev. Eric Lavell performed the double ring rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wright, Abilene. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Marcus Bodoh, 1634 N. Wilmer St., Appleton, and the late Mr. Bodoh.

Miss Sandra Erickson was chosen to attend as maid of honor. Miss Kay LeMay was bridesmaid. Flower girl was Miss Cecelia Killam.

Serving as best man was Sammy Wright, a brother of the bride. Jerome Preston was groomsman. Leonard Erickson and David Myers ushered. Acting as ring bearer was Glenn Killam.

The couple was honored at a reception at 9 p.m. Saturday at the Legion Hall, New London. They will honeymoon enroute to Appleton, where they will make their home.

Mr. Bodoh is with the Air Force Stationed at Taiwan.

Kaukauna Elks Ladies Guests at Menasha Party

NEENAH-MENASHA — Elks Ladies entertained Kaukauna Elk Ladies at a dinner party Wednesday evening at the Menasha clubhouse.

For a number of years the two groups have met during the month of February and it is becoming a tradition, according to the women.

The Kaukauna organization will act as hostess next year.

Theme this year was "Hearts and Flowers," based on Valentine Day and Leap Year. Cohostesses were Mrs. Ervin Mrotek and Mrs. Ray Van Linn, both of Neenah.

Marriage Announced

CHILTON — Miss Ruth Ann Henrietta Gross became the bride of George Russell Diedrich in a 10 a.m. Saturday ceremony at the Court House, Chilton. Judge David Sebora officiated at the rite.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Alden Gross, route 1, St. Cloud. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Joseph Brooka, Forest Junction, and the late Joseph Diedrich.

Honor attendants were Mrs. Norbert Schreiber, New Holstein, sister of the bride, and Thomas Hoeft, Manitowoc, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The couple greeted guests at the Altona, New Holstein.

Mrs. Diedrich is a secretary with the University Extension Office at the court house, Chilton. Her husband is employed by Farmco, Forest Junction.

The couple plans an April wedding trip to Florida.

Marriage Ceremony Performed

RIO — Miss Anna Jean Staveness and Larry R. Timm were married in a 2 p.m. ceremony Feb. 3 at Rio Redeemer Lutheran Church. The Rev. Obert Jorgenson performed the double ring rite.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Obert Staveness, Rio. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Stillman, Kimberly.

Mrs. James Topping, Albuquerque, N. M., attended as matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaid was Miss Kathryn Lasch.

Richard Stillman, a brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Richard Goss was groomsman. Guests were seated by James Topping and Paul Tobbs.

The newlyweds were honored at a reception in the church fellowship hall.

Mrs. Timm was graduated in January from the University of Wisconsin, Madison, with a bachelor of science degree and will be employed in Iowa City, Iowa. Her husband is also a graduate of the University and will be doing graduate study in urban and regional planning at the University of Iowa, Iowa City.

Wedding Promises Exchanged

KAUKAUNA — Miss Margery Ellen Mayo and James Francis Weiland exchanged wedding promises in a 1:30 p.m. Wednesday ceremony. Judge Urban Van Susteren officiated at the double ring rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mayo, 2401 S. Hendricks Ave. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Weiland, route 2, are parents of the bridegroom.

Miss Ellen Klein, Oshkosh, and Larry Berg, Madison, were honor attendants.

The couple was honored at a family dinner at Werner's Supper Club.

The new Mrs. Weiland is a junior at the University of Wisconson, Madison. Her husband also attended the university.

After a honeymoon trip, Mr. Weiland will report for service with the Air Force at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

Woman's Clubs Plan Award For Citizenship

Applications for nominations for the Theodora Youmans Citizenship award are now available to Wisconsin Federation of Woman's Clubs.

The Youman award seeks to honor a Wisconsin woman who has done outstanding work in the fields of citizenship, public health, education, social service, youth projects or crime prevention. The nominee need not be a clubwoman.

The award is based on contributions made from Jan. 1, 1967 through Jan. 1968.

All applications should be mailed to Mrs. H. F. Musgrave, 119 Cook St., Lake Geneva, before April 1.

The name of the winner will be revealed at the state convention in Madison in May.

The award was made possible by the terms of Mrs. Youman's will. She was a former state officer in WFWC.

Your Problems

College Coed Finds Difficulty Accepting Roommates Nudity

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just read the letter from the college student who complained because of an oddball roommate who liked to stand on his head. This is a problem?

I came to college from a small town in Michigan. I was prepared to be broad-minded and tolerant of the peculiarities of others. Well, when I met my roommate I nearly dropped dead. She looked like the lead character in Shock Theater — long hair with bangs down to her nose, white lipstick and dark glasses which she wore day and night.

I could have stood all this but she had one habit that almost drove me crazy. The minute she came into the room she took off all her clothes. That girl walked around constantly in the nude. She slept nude, did her studying in the nude, and it would not have surprised me if she had tried to go to the cafeteria in the nude.

When I mentioned this to her she replied emphatically, "Clothes are an affectation of society. Man was meant to be a free spirit." If there's an answer to this I would like to have it. — Bare Facts

Dear Facts: The answer is as follows: "The freedom to swing your arms ends where the other person's nose begins. Part of being civilized is having respect for the feelings and wishes of others. Put on a bathrobe, Lady Godiva, or I'm going to the Dean with this."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Several letters have appeared in your column from women who complain about poor manners on the part of the American male. The cry is, "Chivalry is dead!" Well, I'd like to say that if chivalry is dead, American women killed it.

I'm a male who enjoys opening doors for women. I like to help them with their coats and allow them to pass through doors first. But the women I've been running into don't want to be treated like ladies. They race me to the doorknobs and hop out of cars before I can get over to assist them. They struggle with their own coats, pick up things they have dropped, hail taxis, interrupt to give an order to the waiter and in general remove any and all incentive a man might have to be a gentleman.

Please print this letter and let the women of America who decry the "decline of the male" ask themselves, "Can this be me?" — A Mourner

Dear Mourner: Here's your letter and now, women of America, ask yourselves, "Can this be you?"

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are being divorced. We have two children, a boy six and a girl 14. The boy wants to stay with me. His father has paid little attention to the boy and there is no rapport between them.

Debbie wants to live with her father because he has always been duck soup for her. She can wheedle anything she wants out of him. We have been having some terrific arguments over this and I am weary of fighting and ready to give in. What do you say? — Cleveland Mess

Dear C. M.: Don't flunk the crunch, mother. Your daughter needs a firm hand and you know very well her father will not provide it.

If you allow Debbie to go live with her father you will regret it. And so will she. One day she'll say, "Why didn't you make me stay with you? You should have insisted on it!"

Bea Benaderet Recovered From Cancer

STUDIO CITY, Calif. (AP) — Bea Benaderet, television star of "Petticoat Junction," was home Wednesday after five weeks of radiation therapy in Stanford Medical Center for cancer of the lung.

X-ray examinations indicate the tumor is dissolved, doctors said.

"Since you enjoy working so much, go back to it and prepare to live," she was told by Dr. Joseph Kraut of Stanford's department of radiology.

The actress said she wants to "put my house in order" before returning to television work next Tuesday.

White, Bright Spring for Men

Spring and Summer Fashion for men will be white and bright according to predictions made by the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear at the group's tenth annual fashion press preview which began Saturday in Los Angeles. Above, wide lapels on an all white shaped suit is enhanced by the richness of a deep blue shirt and blue and black tattersall tie. Adding zest is the coordinated blue and white polka dot band on the brim-down hat and all silk pocket square.

BY IRENE GOLDEN
Post Crescent News Service

LOS ANGELES — The menswear industry is determined to be somebody's valentine. So take fair warning — if you're a fellow, they want you!

The campaign to lure men into the fashion fold is being mapped here in California Saturday through St. Valentine's Wednesday. It's a romance that has blossomed in just the last few seasons and the menswear retailers of America seem confident that 1968 just might be the year when the boys say "I do."

The five days are the 53rd annual convention of the MRA and the concurrent 10th annual fashion press preview of spring and summer fashions presented by the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear (AIMBW).

Key for the opening of the show, and maybe a few hearts and closets too, is the theme "Light, Bright and White Spring and Summer 1968."

Light, Bright Theme

It is just what it means for the AIMBW prediction is a summer season of businessmen taking to the lightweight, white suit. The old "tropicals" get a new boost when combined with dark tone shirts — navy blue or chocolate brown.

The whites of 1968 have body shape. The side seams trace the body under the arm and create the silhouette; the dart shapes the coat to the waist in front: the lapel is the widest and the center vent is very deep. Buttons come two by two for double breasted styling.

Off duty, those light-white suits will be put aside in favor of other lights, more whites and lots of brights, the AIMBW continues to predict.

Sportswear with Colors

Tailored sportswear will repeatedly call for the white on the bottom. White trousers will foil dark but colorful jackets and leisure shirts. Colors will be vivid oranges, kelly greens, aquamarines, pinsk and reds. Patterns will range from stripes to tattersals and checks for both jackets and slacks.

If predictions run true, it's a sure bet white shoes will be seen on the smartest men who have hastened to the fashion front. . .men who will be using their heads for more than those zesty straw hats with the brims turned down all the way around. Even hat bands join in the spirit of '68 — light and bright and white.

Unit Discusses Flag Purchase, Foundation Gift

DARBOY — Measures to give a donation to the Cerebral Palsy Foundation and to purchase a new flag for the Holy Angels School were passed by members of the American Legion Auxiliary, Leo Van Roy Unit 265, at their meeting Wednesday evening.

The unit also discussed plans for a clothing drive and read thank you notes from Keshena Indian children who received Christmas gifts of money, clothing and school supplies from the group.

Two bowling teams from the auxiliary will be entered in the Calumet County tournament scheduled this weekend at Sherwood

Hostesses were Mrs. Francis Jager, Mrs. Robert Weyenberg and Mrs. Pat Berben.

Eliminate Tears

Chopping onions needn't be a tearful experience. By putting your chopping board on the range top and turning on the exhaust fan in the hood, you eliminate odors, and tears.

Foresters Unit Okays Donation, Plans Election

The National Catholic Society of Foresters approved a donation to the Bishop Bona Seminary Fund when the group met Wednesday at St. Mary School.

The group plans election of officers for its March meeting. The nominating committee is composed of Mrs. R. M. Brandl, Mrs. James Piette and Mrs. Roger Green.

The society will receive corporate communion at an 8:30 a.m. mass March 31 at St. Mary Catholic Church. Miss Rose McDaniels and Mrs. Edward Van Ryite will have charge of the breakfast.

Would-Be Suitors Write Lady Mayor

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Miss Ann Uccello has discovered an interesting fringe benefit in her job as Hartford's mayor—mail from would-be suitors.

The attractive 45-year-old Republican became First Lady of Hartford when she polled the most votes in last November's City Council election.

Then the mail began coming in. "Judging from your picture in our paper, and from your outstanding qualifications, I don't see how you have remained unmarried," wrote one Louisianan.

Harry, a Pennsylvnia resident, is another letter-writing admirer "I have some swell newspaper pictures of you and think you are very attractive." Harry was kind enough to enclose two photographs of himself.

And a Connecticut songwriter penned the following lyric:

"Love love love love love love love

"That is all I dream about

Promises Exchanged

KNOXVILLE, Tenn — Miss Charlotte Ellen Morehouse became the bride of Robert Frederick Mathias Jan. 23 at the Knox County Courthouse. Judge James P. Brown officiated at the rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Morehouse, route 1, Hortonville. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Robert Mathias, Peoria, Ill., and the late Mr. Mathias.

Mrs. Mathias is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and has been employed as a personnel staffing specialist by State Department's Agency of International Development. Mr. Mathias attended Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., and is an investigator with the Civil Service Commission, Chicago Region.

The couple will reside in Rock Island, Ill. after Mr. Mathias has completed his temporary assignment in Knoxville.

Artist Melts Aluminum For Sculpture

KANSAS CITY (AP) — For the last five weeks, artist Nan Witte has melted aluminum truck pistons and poured the hot metal into five-gallon drums of potatoes in a new sculpturing technique.

So far, Mrs. Witte estimates, she has used 2,000 pounds of truck pistons and 500 pounds of potatoes.

Molten aluminum is poured over the potatoes. When it hardens, the spuds are scooped out and the result is freeform casting.

Her current work is a freeform aluminum sculpture suggesting the crest of a wave.

"Nobody went hungry during this project," Mrs. Witte said Wednesday. She referred to the baked potatoes retrieved from the hardened aluminum. "The salt and pepper are right over there."

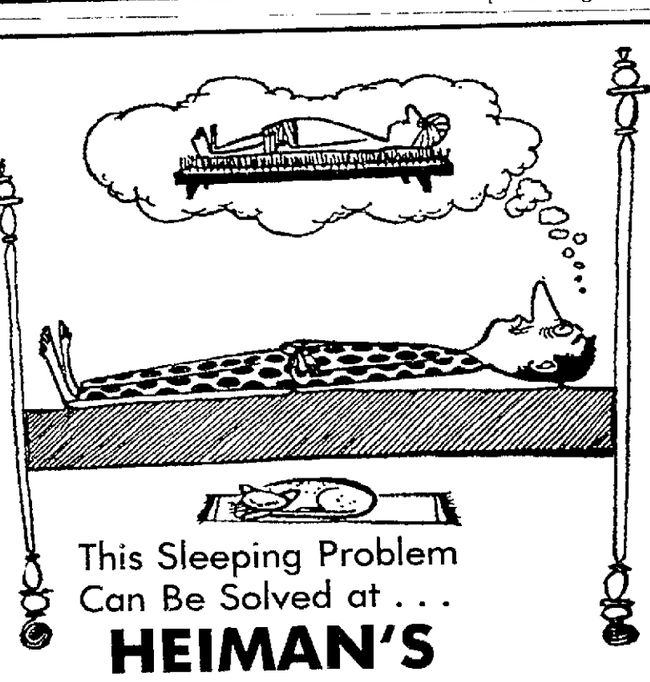

Queen Home After 37 Years In Exile

MADRID, Spain (AP) — "Long live the queen!" shouted thousands of Spaniards Wednesday as Queen Victoria Eugenia returned home with tears in her eyes after 37 years in exile.

The queen, who left Spain in 1931 with her husband, King Alfonso, after the Republican rise to power, returned for the christening of her 10th great-grandchild.

She became queen of Spain by marriage more than 61 years ago and has lived nearly four decades in Italy and Switzerland

The 80-year-old English-born noblewoman carried a huge bouquet of yellow and red flowers, the colors of the Spanish flag.

State Guernsey Breeders Gather for Convention

Wisconsin Guernsey Breeders, their wives and guests gathered for a pre-convention dinner Thursday night at the Left Guard Steak House. The event was sponsored by the board of directors of the state association.

The 43rd annual convention of the association was held Friday and Saturday at the Conway Hotel under the sponsorship of the Outagamie County and Calumet County dairymen.

Wives gathered Saturday morning to hear Mrs. Kenneth Engelman speak about "Creative Design in the Home." During the afternoon they toured Bergstrom Art Center, Neenah.

Wives of State Directors of Guernsey Breeders met briefly before the pre-convention dinner was served. Seated are Mrs. Howard Sattler, Malone; Mrs. Norbert Nuttlemen, LaCrosse, and Mrs. Joseph Cramer, Menominee. Standing are Mrs. Clinton Nelson, wife of the state association president, Glen Flora; Mrs. Les Peckham, Fort Atkinson; Mrs. Iva Griffiths, state office secretary, Fort Atkinson; Mrs. Gale Gordon, Nelsonville, and Mrs. Leo Gasper, Baraboo, wife of the state field secretary.

Wives of Outagamie and Calumet counties directors and convention planners, above, go over activities for wives. Seated are Mrs. Laverne Wehrman wife of Outagamie County president, Black Creek, and Mrs. Robert Stanelle, wife of Calumet County president, Forest Junction. Standing are Mrs. Edgar Steinbeck, Brillion; Mrs. Earl Lintner, Chilton; Mrs. Kermit Baumgartner, Wrightstown, and Mrs Jack Krull, Nichols. At right are the wives of Fox Valley Guernsey dairymen. Seated are Mrs. Oscar Miller, Black Creek; Mrs Robert Kimball, Mrs. Elmer Kimball and Mrs. Ervin Stephani, all of Seymour. Standing are Mrs. Russell Luckow, wife of Outagamie County agricultural agent; Mrs. Elmer Federwitz and Mrs. Allen Lintner, both of Chilton.

Consumers Warned About 'Health Foods'

Don't spend your money on so-called "health foods" and diet supplements not recommended by your doctor, warns Charlotte Dunn, foods and nutrition specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

Americans waste dollars on vitamins, minerals, or other "health foods" that they don't need, instead of choosing foods from the basic food groups — milk, vegetables, fruits, meat, bread and cereals.

Most products which claim special health-giving properties may contain the same nutritional properties found in more common and certainly less expensive foods. Yogurt may be recommended for certain intestinal ailments, but it contains the same nutrients as milk. Milk is certainly cheaper, points out Miss Dunn.

The iodine in "kelp tablets" or "sea salt" is a costly substitute for the iodine found naturally in seafoods, or in iodized salt, she continues.

For Certain Diseases

There are some legitimate dietary foods for people suffering from certain diseases. Low-sodium and salt-free foods may be recommended for people with cardiovascular problems. Other special foods may be needed for diabetics. people with allergies, and other people.

But these legitimate products shouldn't be confused with "health foods."

"Health foods" may become popular because people want a simple answer to food and health problems. They want special foods that have magical properties. Unfortunately it is not that simple.

Nutritionists have been working to make food information easy to use. They suggest that there is no better "magic" than choosing a wide variety of foods each day. No one food will give you everything you need No "pill" can take the place of meat, vegetables, fruits and cereals.

Silken Legs

A Lovely writes: My legs are acutely dry. The skin is scuffed and red. I suspect miniskirts, knee socks and fishnet stockings are to blame No protection! Will you please suggest a reconditioning program?

The Answer: The obvious first step is to give the legs a cozier covering on cold or damp days The slick way to do is to wear sheer stretch nylons under panty hose and stockings with open patterns. Hold nylon shades to skin tones and no one will detect the ruse.

Now for a treatment that silkens the legs·

1. Twice weekly during a bath, suds the legs well and slide a pumice stone over the skin. Be very gentle; harsh treatment gets you nothing but soreness.

2. At least once a week indulge the legs in an oil soak. For the purpose use a lanolin-rich or herbal body oil. Simply lather it on and wait a half-hour before tissuing off.

3 Never fail to film the legs with moisturized non-greasy hand or body lotion (or cream) before dressing in the morning, upon changes of hosiery during the day, and before retiring.

When you are completely faithful to those steps, the leg complexion soon acquires a smooth texture and a clear, pretty color To keep it that way, keep up the routine.

Complexion Care

The best time to wash your face is whenever it is dirty, but the two "must" times are morning and night.

Washing with warm soapsuds in the morning removes oils secreted during the night, and helps you to feel and look fresher. The night-time washing is vital to remove cosmetics and the day's grime; if allowed to remain on the skin, they will clog pores and may cause a blemished or "muddy" complexion.

Car Hits Pole When Driver Loses Control

Two young people were hospitalized about 9:45 p.m. Sunday after their car slammed into a utility pole at E. Wisconsin Avenue and Ballard Road.

Taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by ambulance were Terrence C. Schaeuble, 18, route 1, Greenleaf, driver of the car, who suffered a left leg injury, and his passenger, Margaret I. Giebisch, 20, 1612 N. Elinor St., Appleton, who suffered face, arm, and leg cuts.

Police said that Schaeuble was westbound on Wisconsin and lost control of his 1963 auto on a curve.

Richard B. Schilt, 17, 1024 W. Whittier, Drive, suffered minor injuries when his car struck a tree while westbound in the 800 block of W. Kamps Avenue about 2 p.m. Saturday.

Linda Vander Velden, 3242 N. Morrison St., suffered a cut knee in a two-car accident about 12:25 a.m. today on N. Richmond Street, near W. Franklin Street.

She was in a car driven by Daniel J. Vander Velden, 26, also of 3242 N. Morrison St., who was northbound on Richmond. The second car, driven by Arthur R. Malouf, 21, 603 E. Pine St., New London, was pulling out of a service station lot.

Hold Try-Outs For KHS Play

KAUKAUNA — Try-outs are underway for a second 3-act play to be offered by the drama department this year, according to Thomas Schaefer, instructor and director.

A date for the play, "The Remarkable Incident at Carson Corners," has not been selected. A cast of about 30 is needed for the production. Individual parts include students, their parents, a janitor, school principal and an English teacher.

The play is adapted from a television show in which a group of high school students put their parents on trial, accusing them of being responsible for the death of a classmate.

Democrats Will Hear Panel Talk About Civil Rights

Panel members include Vernon Roelofs, histry professor at Lawrence University, speaking on development of civil rights laws; Howard Bloch, assistant professor of economics at Lawrence, speaking on employment; Rev. Jesse Waller, director of Christian Education at the First Presbyterian Church of Neenah, talking on housing, and William Herziger, head of the social studies department at Menasha High School, talking on education.

Panel moderator will be Mrs. Joseph Dercks of Appleton.

Welding Society Sponsors Clinic At Institute

The Fox Valley chapter of the American Welding Society is sponsoring an educational series on welding in Appleton.

Monday night sessions during February will be at the Institute of Paper Chemistry auditorium. Meetings for the first two Monday's in March will be at Appleton High School East and conclude March 18 at the Institute.

Fred Bovie from the Air Reduction Company, Chicago, will be the speaker for today's session at 7:30 p.m. at the institute. About 120 to 140 students are expected.

Pickup Alert Out For Missing Boys

Two 16-year-old Appleton boys who are missing from their homes are thought to be driving south in a car taken without the permission of one boy's mother.

The boys were reported missing about 8:40 p.m. Sunday, shortly after one of the boys telephoned his mother from Gary, Ind., saying they were going south and intended to "see how far they could get."

Appleton police, who were told the boys had a small amount of money, issued a net pickup message.

Bad Bridge Played by Philosopher

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

You can be sure of your own existence but nothing else, according to some philosophers. East put this in bridge terms in today's hand: he wasn't willing to admit the existence of anything outside of his own hand.

East won the first trick with the queen of hearts and returned the three of hearts to South's ace. South led a trump to dummy's queen, returned a diamond to win a finesse with the queen, and led out the rest of his trumps.

East threw a low club, a low diamond and a low heart, thus committing a philosphical blunder. East could not then make a safe discard on the last trump.

If East threw the queen of clubs, South would lead a club. East would take a club and a heart but would then have to give South two diamond tricks.

If East threw a diamond, South would lead the ace of diamonds to drop the king. If East threw the king of hearts, South could lead either clubs or diamonds and East would eventually have to yield a trick to give South his game.

East ruined the defense when he refused to admit the existence of the jack of hearts, which his partner obviously held. Or perhaps East refused to admit the existence of his partner.

East should discard the king of hearts on an early trump, but must save the five of hearts. Now East can throw a low diamond, a low club and, finally, the queen of clubs.

If South then leads a club, East can take the ace of clubs and get out with his low heart. West takes two heart tricks, defeating the contract.

Schedule Rites for Mrs. Martin L. Downs

Memorial services have been set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday evening, for Mrs. Martin L. Downs, 52, wife of the vice president and technical director of Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Kaukauna, who died unexpectedly early Saturday morning.

The Rev. Ernest S. Heeren will officiate at the services at the First Congregational Church. Mrs. Downs was a longtime member of the Service Circle of the Kings Daughters, and the family is establishing a fund to carry on the work of this group. Memorials may be sent to Miss Margaret Walsh, 516 W. Sixth St., Appleton.

Immediate survivors, in addition to Mr. Downs, are two daughters, Stephanie, Boston University, and Kathleen, Radcliff, Cambridge, Mass.

Fifth Annual Concert

Xavier Bands Produce 'Well-Blended' Tone

BY DERALD DE YOUNG

Xavier High School culminated its Fine Arts Week last evening by presenting its Fifth Annual Pops Concert in the Lawrence Memorial Chapel. The concert featured the concert band, stage band and wind ensemble all led by Francis Scholtz and assisted by trombonist "Buddy" Baker, guest artist. Ray Brock did an excellent job as M.C., setting the stage for each work on the program.

The concert opened with the concert band, an ensemble of 68 freshmen and sophomores, performing James Ployhar's "El Festivo", which features the percussion section. This group demonstrated a fine, well-balanced tone, especially in the woodwinds. This type of sound, dark and sonorous, is characteristic of both the Xavier bands and demonstrates the fine caliber of training these young instrumentalists receive in the fundamentals of performance.

The concert band continued with "Autumn in New York", "The Syncopated Clock" by LeRoy Anderson, "Night and Day" by Cole Porter and finally "Street of Athens".

Superior Tone

In all of these selections the young members of the concert band showed superior tone quality, but were bothered by recurring problems of intonation in the woodwind and cornet sections. While each of the five selections played by this band were attractive, their musical style was too similar to provide the needed contrasts in programming.

The stage band appeared next, playing "Flamingo", and demonstrating a fine saxophone section. The featured soloist of the evening, Buddy Baker, made his first appearance with this band, playing "Tenderly". Baker is on the faculty at Colorado State College in Greeley, Colo., and is first trombonist with the Greeley Philharmonic Orchestra. He has played with such well known bands as Stan Kenton and Woody Herman.

Baker also performed Gershwin's "My Man's Gone Now" and from the classical repertoire, "Morceau Symphonique," by Guilmant. The guest artist played with a rich dark tone quality and with an ease of production that was most satisfying. During the evening, he demonstrated a judicious use of both the slide and jaw vibrato and also a fine legato technique.

Not once did Baker resort to forcing his sound as do so many popular brass players; therefore, he set a fine example for all the young Xavier brass students to emulate.

Wider Range

After intermission, the wind ensemble, a group of 60 select upperclassmen, performed a program with a wider range of styles. "Claire de Lune", by Debussy, is a very lightly scored and difficult piece to execute, but the wind ensemble was equal to its demands except for intonation problems in the woodwinds. Composer Dave Schanke, high school band director from Ripon, was present to hear his composition, "April Winds," performed: the work featured an excellent woodwind ensemble.

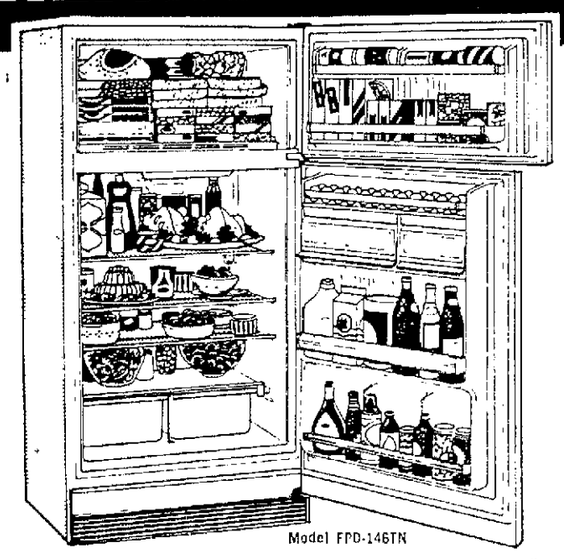

Generally, the wind ensemble exhibited a very rich dark tone quality with good blend and balance; however, the ensemble did not achieve enough of the dynamic contrasts needed to give an emotional excitement to their playing. Part of this problem could have been caused by the fact that they were not accustomed to playing in the large hall; nevertheless, the overall effect of the concert was excellent and demonstrated some high standards of which Xavier can be very proud.

As a fitting climax to the concert, as well as Xavier's tribute to the fine arts, the combined bands performed "America the Beautiful".

Teacher-Pupil Ratio Theme Of Conference

School Board and Advisory Group Will Discuss Terms

Appleton school district's pupil-teacher ratio, which drew criticism during budget hassles with the fiscal control board last fall, will be clarified tonight during a joint meeting of the school advisory committee and the board of education.

This is the committee's first meeting following a resolution last fall urging the fiscal control board not to approve the school budget unless a 1-25 teacher pupil ratio existed.

Mayor George Buckley named the advisory committee to investigate the question after Roland Kampo, Town of Menasha chairman, submitted the resolution.

Clarify Resolution

Ald. Norman Beyer (20th), advisory committee chairman, and Supt. of Schools William Spears indicated the resolution would be clarified at tonight's meeting.

Beyer said the groups would determine whether the resolution referred to all school personnel or just classroom teachers.

When this is clarified, Spears will present the current ratio statistics to compare with those requested in the resolution.

The advisory committee will report back to the fiscal board sometime after this meeting.

Kampo contended last fall the school could save considerable money if it strictly adhered to the 1-25 pupil-teacher ratio. He said the savings would come in number of teachers, equipment and other areas.

Committee Members

Advisory committeemen are Alds. Beyer, Arthur Hoolihan (11th), Mark Catlin (7th), John Steidl (18th) and Glenn Thompson (13th). Representing townships in the school district are committeemen Joseph DeBruin, Buchanan; Thomas Thorson, Grand Chute; George Schwalbach, Harrison, and Kampo.

Prior to the joint meeting, William Pickett, director of physical education, health and safety, will present the proposed program for the school's compliance with the new state safety law on driver training.

The new law requires persons under age 16 to pass both classroom and behind-the-wheel drivers training course before receiving a license.

The school will have to pick up the behind-the-wheel portion of the program, which was formerly carried on by Appleton Vocational School.

With the vocational school reorganization, it no longer can present training for persons under 18.

Pickett met with I. Russell Hunter, state driver and traffic safety education supervisor, last week to adjust the program.

The public school district also has night classes for private school students as a part of the new program.

Guernsey Convention

State Educator Sees Need For System Collaboration

BY PAT DUFFEY
Post-Crescent Farm Editor

A prominent state educator invited Wisconsin Guernsey dairymen to join in seeking answers to problems facing the state's growing education system.

Angus Rothwell, executive director of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education (CCHE), pointed to the need for better educated leaders not only within the agricultural industry but in all other walks of life in the state.

Rothwell was keynoter for the Wisconsin Guernsey Breeders Association's 43rd convention banquet at the Conway Hotel Saturday night.

"We have problems ahead," he warned, "and unless we work together the problems will become more serious."

Problems facing the U.S. such as the international situation, racial strife, crime, health in the form of air, water and soil pollution, conservation and ways to continue our prosperity, will not be resolved by the under-educated, he reminded.

"There will be more of the educated in higher positions than in past years," he said, ans many of them "your sons and daughters."

Rothwell noted that Wisconsin has enjoyed an outstanding reputation for educating its youth. Almost 90 per cent of its grade school graduates finish senior high school he observed. But the new change is toward higher education in one form or another.

The CCHE's job is to work with the university and its branches, extension centers, vocational schools and teachers' colleges, and make them ready for the influx of students.

Since 1960 the state's population has increased only 5 per cent while the number of persons going on for higher education has increased 150 per cent. Thus a smaller group is asked to pay for it.

The problem becomes serious because the great increase in population has been in the below 21 age bracket of youths who are not yet contributing to the tax rolls.

At Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, the student population was 2,200 in 1960. Fall enrollments for 1968 through 1970 are expected to reach 10,000 per year, or double the present population at the University campus in Madison.

The 18 new vocational school districts in the state also are expected to attract large numbers of high school graduates.

Alter Policy

With the opening of five branch university campuses including Green Bay and Fond du Lac this year, and others in Baraboo and West Bend next year, this phase of the state's educational system should be ample for the time, he said.

Rothwell predicted the time may come when the state may be forced to alter its present open door policy of permitting students to attend schools in any area of the state. Future students may be shifted to less crowded schools, he said

The educator reminded the dairymen that their industry has benefited considerably from the present high degree of sophistication. He saw a future need for more basic and applied research, and public service through the schools such as community education programs

Rothwell likened the future education financing task to an industry trying to find economies in its operation but retaining the most able leaders.

Guernsey Princess

The association named its first Guernsey princess, Helen Fischer, route 1, Cumberland. Runners-up were Sandra Polzin, route 2, Cadott and Cathy Sattler, route 1, Malone. Miss Sattler is the daughter of state director Howard Sattler, a member of the Calumet County Association.

The first state junior association also was formed with 64 charter members. Cynthia Wehrman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Wehrman, route 2, Black Creek, was named a secretary of the board of directors. Wehrman is president of the Outagamie County Guernsey Breeders Association. Outagamie and Calumet County associations sponsored the convention.

Primary Campaigns Begin For Four Appleton Posts

Buckley Faces Formidable Foes In Bid for Second Mayor Term

Appleton's primary election campaigning for mayor and three city council posts is expected to pick up steam by the end of the week.

For the first time in the city's recent history there are formidable foes for the mayoral race which has attracted a field of four.

In addition, there will be aldermanic runoffs in the 7th, 14th and 20th wards.

The primary election will be March 5.

In the meantime, candidates for board of education and others seeking to capture positions on the city council have a "breather". They won't have to mount campaigns until just before April 2 general election.

Four-Year Term

Mayor George Buckley, completing his first term, has three challengers for a four-year term as the city's chief executive at a salary of $15,000 a year.

All are familiar to city government and include.

—Former Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell, who served four 2-year terms (eight consecutive years) as mayor before losing the post to Buckley in 1966.

—Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), a member of the city council for 12 years, and its president in 1966.

—Ald William Wachtendonk (3rd), completed the first year of his two-year term on the city council, and formerly a park board and plan commission member under the Mitchell administration.

Buckley, 51, who has made several waves since taking office in April of 1966 and cast the first veto of the city budget this last year to force the proposed tax rate down, says he is confident the voters will approve of his record of accomplishments.

Lack of Leadership

The 43-year-old Pointer, who played a major role in the College Avenue rejuvenation as chairman of the street-sanitation committee, claims there is a lack of leadership at city hall. He credits the council for the city's progress.

Wachtendonk, 46, the first to announce his intention to run for mayor, also feels that city hall needs leadership.

The 51-year-old Mitchell, who beat Buckley in 1964 but lost to him two years later by more than 1,000 votes, is pinning all hopes on a political comeback, declaring he has the credentials for the job and citing the record for his previous administrations.

But with the primary three weeks away, Buckley is confident he will run well. His campaign group is scheduled to meet this week and map strategy.

Pointer also has been working on campaign organization and last week a group announced it would work for his election. It filed the necessary legal form with the city clerk's office this morning.

Wachtendonk and Mitchell have also been lining up campaign workers.

Battle for Survival

Two of the four candidates will be eliminated in the primary, and veteran city hall observers are predicting the battle for survival will be

Robert A. Weinandt Accused Of Shotgun Holdup of Tavern

OSHKOSH — Robert A. Weinandt, a 26-year-old Green Bay man, faced an armed robbery charge in Winnebago County Court Branch 3 this morning in connection with Saturday night's shotgun hold-up of Marten's Bar near Neenah.

Weinandt told Judge James V. Sitter that he understood the charge "in a way" and asked for a court appointed attorney. After an indigency hearing the judge refused his request and instructed Weinandt to hire his own attorney.

The judge set bond of $25,000 and scheduled a preliminary examination for 2 p.m. Friday.

Weinandt, who reported his address as 1416 Oakland Ave., and his occupation as a welder for Green Bay Structural Steel Co., was stopped in his car and arrested by Winnebago County police about 9:15 p.m. Saturday five miles north of Marten's Tavern.

Winnebago County Sheriff Marvin Peppler said this morning that five policemen, two from Outagamie County and three from Winnebago County became involved in the arrest. Police reported that Weinandt struggled when they tried to handcuff him, and a tussle ensued.

Peppler said the sheriff's office received a call from Warren Zemlock, route 1, Neenah, bartender at the tavern, at 9:11 p.m. Peppler said his office was given a description of the car and its license number. Minutes afterward County Policeman George Sasse spotted Weinandt's car and radioed for help before stopping it.

The complaint charged that the robber escaped with "in excess of $200 in currency and coin." The owner told The Post-Crescent Saturday night that the bartender reported $219.50 stolen.

Weinandt had not posted bond at 11 a.m today and was being held in the Winnebago County jail.

Conway Heads Hotel Project At Two Rivers

New Group Takes Over Structure Started in 1965

Investors from Appleton, Manitowoc-Two Rivers and Milwaukee areas are mapping plans for construction of a million dollar-plus year-around resort-inn complex at Two Rivers.

John Conway, Appleton, is president of the new corporation which assumed the liabilities of a defunct hotel project, following foreclosure proceedings in the summer of 1966.

Conway, who heads the Conway Motor Hotel here, said today the corporation intends to start the inn project from scratch, coming up with a completely new building approach.

The inn, which will occupy the site of the Two Rivers Lodge, was started in 1965 and never finished, is to be located on the shore of Lake Michigan at the southeast corner of Two Rivers.

39 Per Cent Complete

Although the structure is about 39 per cent completed and has been lying dormant for months, Conway announced basic plans have been revised and the structure is being

Group to Back Wachtendonk for Appleton Mayor

A "Wachtendonk for Mayor Committee," formed Jan. 31, today filed its organizational papers with the city clerk's office.

The group is supporting the candidacy of Ald. William Wachtendonk (3rd), one of four in the mayor race this year.

Officers are Robert Schindhelm, 131 Roosevelt St., president; Stanley Cook, 825 N. Linwood Ave., secretary, and Garrison Kausch, 506 N. Richmond St., treasurer.

Groups or individuals endorsing or working for the election of candidates for political office must fill out forms at the clerk's office in compliance with state election laws.

Nine Cars Involved

10 Hurt in 2 Appleton Weekend Accidents

Ten persons were injured in two accidents late Saturday night and early Sunday on State 96 (Wisconsin Avenue) east of Appleton. The accidents involved a total of nine cars.

Eight of the injuries occurred in a 1 a.m. mishap involving four cars. Outagamie County police said the injured, who were taken to Kaukauna Community Hospital by car and by ambulance were Richard Diedrick, 21, 724 W. Third St., Appleton, driver of one car, with a cut ear; Robert Sachs, 20, 416 Park St., Combined Locks, a cut on the head; Verna Fischer, 219 Oak St., Kaukauna, leg and head cuts; and Peggy Secor, 19, 1605 E. Main St., Little Chute, head cuts.

The other four injured persons were Bruce Neveu, 23, 709 Jefferson St., Menasha, with thumb and left leg cuts; Michael G. Griffin Jr., 22, 625 Greenfield St., Neenah, another driver, with chest injuries; David Frank, 23, 744 Wilson St., Menasha, ankle injuries, and Rose Popp, route 3, Kaukauna, neck and back injuries.

Appleton Driver

Police said cars involved in the accident were driven by David J. Otte, 18, 150 S. Lee St., Appleton, Diedrick and Griffin. The fourth vehicle was a parked car owned by Jerome G Hoffman, 1123 Taft St., Little Chute.

Police said that all four vehicles were eastbound on State 96. The Diedrick car first struck the Hoffman car which was stalled. Five minutes later, the Griffin car came onto the accident and stopped, but was rammed by the Otte vehicle. Police estimated damage to the four cars at $3,000.

Two persons were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital following a five-car accident about 11:20 p.m. Saturday at French Road and State 96.

French Road Crash

Raymond Becher, 21, route 1, Seymour, driver of one car, suffered cuts and bruises, while his passenger, Margaret Bekkers, 17, Freedom, suffered severe head cuts and a neck injury.

County police said Becher was southbound on French Road when his car struck a parked vehicle owned by Roy Rusch, 1821 E. Melrose Ave., Appleton.

The chain reaction accident also involved parked cars owned by Henry Pussehl, 433 Turner St, Wrightstown; William Ahrens, 525 S. Weimer St., Appleton; and Lawrence F. Geiger, 310 S. John St., Kimberly.

Police estimated damage to the five cars at $1,650.

Auto Stolen From Area Near School

Kevin W. Mackey, 20 Westwood Court, reported to Appleton police about 9:40 p.m. Friday that his 1961 Chevrolet was stolen from near Appleton High School-East after 7:45 p.m. Mackey said the brown, two-door auto bears license number H 36-544.

Burglary Suspect Seen at Store Front

Combined Locks Man Tells Court of Events at Scene of Dec. 17 Break-in

A 27-year-old Combined Locks man this morning identified Harold B. Lutchin, Cincinnati, Ohio, as one of two men he saw in front of the Martin J. Hupka Jewelry Store, 336 W. College Ave., about the time the store was burglarized Dec. 17.

Jerome Hartjes, 426 Park St., Combined Locks, identified the 34-year-old Ohio suspect in response to a question to Outagamie County Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer, during a preliminary hearing before Judge Urban F. Van Susteren. The hearing was expected to end this afternoon with the testimony of two more witnesses, including a Cincinnati Police Department detective

Martin Hupka, 534 N. Vine St., one of three witnesses who testified this morning, said that 134 watches were stolen from his store. His cost for the missing watches was $5,102, he testified.

Observed 2 Men

Hartjes testified that he and his young son were driving west on College Avenue about noon Sunday, Dec. 17, when he saw two men near the jewelry store. He said the men moved around in front of the building, and at one time went into an alcove in the front of the store.

Hartjes said that as he drove past the store, he noticed the front door lock was missing.

He said he observed the two men, one tall and the other one short, carried two "army-type duffle bags" to a car parked in front of the store. They put the bags into the vehicle, he explained, then drove west on College Avenue. He testified as to the description of both men.

The Combined Locks man, who drove to the police station after observing the two men, said they drove away in a maroon 1966 Ford two door, with Ohio license plates. He gave police the license number.

Hartjes underwent extensive cross-examination by Lutchin's attorney

State Trooper Testifies

State Trooper J. R. Hendry, Green Bay, testified that about 10:10 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 16, the day before the Hupka burglary, he issued a traffic citation to Lutchin, whom he said he stopped on U.S. 41, just north of Brown County Trunk F. Hendry identified Lutchin in the courtroom.

The state policeman said that Lutchin was driving a car of the same description and with the same license number as that which Hartjes saw near Hupka's the next day. Hendry said there was a passenger in the Lutchin car the night the traffic arrest was made near Green Bay.

Hupka testified that he would be able to identify the stolen watches on the basis of serial numbers and model numbers, and through his store's recording system. Hupka was still being cross-examined by Lutchin's attorney when Judge Van Susteren called noon recess.

Lutchin is in jail under $10,000 bond.

Burglary Try Unsuccessful

LITTLE CHUTE — A break-in and unsuccessful burglary attempt took place sometime during the weekend at United Grocers, 401 North Ave Entry was gained by breaking a garage window at the rear of the building.

An attempt was made to open an office safe, and desk drawers throughout the building were rifled Nothing was reported missing.

The break-in was discovered at 5 a.m. today when a truck driver arrived to load supplies. Police are investigating.

Life, Actions Some Indication

If Abe Was President Today

BY CHUCK DILDAY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

What would Abraham Lincoln do if he was President today?

No one knows the answer, of course, but perhaps his life and actions in his time can give some indication of how he might act in a day when national problems are world problems and our nation is in a state of great internal change.

He would have been honest, of course, because the honesty of his personal life is unquestioned. And he would be sincere because the sincerity of his years as President have lived through our history for a hundred years.

And he would have been a politician of the first order. He always was, in his own state and in national life.

Great Politician

It took a great politician to weld a national party out of a motley following of men with diverse purposes, varied social and economic backgrounds and from geographical areas that ranged from the industrial east through the agricultural prairies to a rugged and violent frontier.

It took a politician to wrest a second nomination from a constituency disillusioned by three years of bitter and not too successful war, just as Vietnam is a source of political difference today.

He would be able to face up to today's threat of inflation and other economic problems because he did just that when he was president He had to control an industrial structure that expanded so rapidly it was in danger of collapse.

Inflation Impetus

He had the inflationary impetus of a nation growing so fast it could not contain itself and constantly moved toward new frontiers. He handled the problem of a people dominantly agricultural who saw the shadow of big business eating at the social and financial structure.

He had boom and depression to fight, along with a war, in a day when there were few legislative tools with which to handle them.

He would face the problems of the Presidency with great personal fortitude, withstanding attacks on his policy and attacks on himself and his family We know that. He did it. Perhaps no President in the history of the United States has been so exposed to vituperative personal calumny. Perhaps no President's wife was so assailed by rumor and derision as Mary Todd.

Would be Idealist

He would have vision if he was President today, and he would be an idealist. He, too, fought for a great society, a society different than any this country had ever known. And he faced derogatory critics with unchangeable will.

Lincoln fought for a nation in which the people could and would live in brotherhood. He was the champion and the sustaining force of the Union's dedication to this ideal — "A new nation conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

He fought for equality of race. If he was President today, he would fight for social equality, educational opportunity for everyone, economic security and, of course, equality among the races.

Master Diplomat

If he was President today he would be forced to be a master diplomat within his own family. With men in every phase of political life assailing each other and the President on policies both domestic and foreign, and political factionalism feeding on the operations of government, the diplomacy of leadership must achieve a unique degree.

Lincoln would handle the job today. He faced a Congress so militantly opposed to his policies that his supporters were attacked physically by their colleagues in the congressional chambers. Members of his own cabinet refused to speak to one another and some spoke to him only when it was absolutely necessary.

It all adds up. It is hard to dispute the perspective of history.

What would Lincoln do if he was President today? He would do just about what he did 100 years ago.

State to Investigate Sewage Bypass in Neenah-Menasha

BY CLIFF MILLER
Post Crescent Staff Writer

NEENAH-MENASHA — Personnel at the Neenah-Menasha sewage treatment plant worked to reduce the amount of sewage leaving the plant semi-treated today, as state pollution officials prepared to look into the problems

The breakdown of a crucial press at the end of the treatment process last Wednesday set off a chain of reactions that led to the bypassing It continued at diminishing rates today following repairs that put the press back in service

About one-third of the plant's intake was leaving the newly expanded facilities after going no further than primary stages of treatment according to Harland (Bud) Schuelke acting superintendent

Chemists he said were keeping track of the processes and conditions that determine the rate at which the system can be returned to normal

Delicate Process

Resuming normal operation too quickly, he explained would shock" the secondary treatment facilities, which rely on delicate biological processes

Meanwhile James Lissack regional director of the division of resource development, Department of Natural Resources, said his office in Green Bay was unaware of the troubles at the plant

Lissack whose office handles anti-pollution duties including supervision of municipal treatment plants said We hadn't been advised of any abnormalities as of last week" He said his office would inquire into the situation as quickly as possible

E E DenDooven president of the sewerage commission said that in "emergency" situations state officials have been notified in the past However he pointed out that when the press broke down there was nothing that could be done except to reroute part of the plant's intake since holding basins were filling up DenDooven pointed out that a breakdown could produce similar circumstances at any treatment plant

He said he was unable to explain why the state agency was not informed of the breakdown last Wednesday Schuelke added that the local sewerage commission had been informed of the emergency through E E DenDooven commission president He could not be reached this morning for comment

During construction of the new $2 1 million secondary treatment facilities last summer short-term bypassing had been necessary and state officials were aware of it through their review of construction plans and timetables

Lissack said this morning his office faces what he termed a problem of educating these people so they do inform us if something abnormal occurs

Lissack explained that in an emergency such as the recent mechanical breakdown there is nothing the state agency can do to alter the conditions But he said his office should be notified so its representatives can answer complaints and inquiries He said it would also be useful to know of such situations so that, if the same problem occurs repeatedly, the records might indicate a design or equipment problem that needed correcting

No Third Time

The press that broke down last week had failed for a few hours a month ago but Schuelke said the manufacturer's serviceman gave assurances last week against the problem repeating itself a third time

Schuelke said today that approximately two-thirds of incoming sewage was passing through the entire primary and secondary treatment system

The secondary stages went into full service last summer after a two year $2 1 million expansion program aimed to making major improvements in the plant's efficiency in removing waste

Schuelke and DenDooven have both stated that except for the periods of mechanical trouble the plant's performance has been good

Plane Forced To Land on Winnebago

OSHKOSH — Lawrence E Demmer, 46, Milwaukee, landed his light plane on Lake Winnebago about 3 p m Saturday without damage to himself or the plane

Winnebago County sheriff's officers, alerted to the forced landing from the FAA control tower at the county airport located the plane a mile east of 20th Avenue

Demmer said an oil hose blew out judging from oil over the right side of the engine

Hoover's Cousin Wants Name on Ballot in Primary

MADISON (AP)— Herbert F. Hoover a fourth cousin to the former President objected Friday to what he called "the method by which pro-Nixon Republicans kept his name off Wisconsin's April 2 presidential preference primary ballot

Hoover, of Oskaloosa, Iowa, was one of two men who filed protests concerning their omission from a list of primary candidates selected earlier in the week by a bipartisan committee

Hoover submitted his complaint in writing The other protester who appeared in person at the office of Secretary of State Robert C Zimmerman, was Donald DuMont of Chicago, who calls himself a good humor candidate"

Both are Republicans Lar Daly a frequent candidate in Illinois elections had asked earlier that the committee be reconvened so he could be listed

Hoover who with DuMont is entered in the New Hampshire primary said he objects to the method by which pro Nixon Republicans kept my name off the ballot" in Wisconsin

Having not been listed on the primary ballot a candidate wishing to enter the state's primary must obtain 1 000 signatures in each of the state's 10 congressional districts by March 5

Winneconne Lake To Open in June

WINNECONNE — Earth chewing and moving equipment is busy changing the topography of the Arthur Marble Memorial Park area to form the four-acre man-made lake which will be ready for use this summer

The P G Miron Construction Co Inc Appleton was awarded a contract for $6 868 to construct a triangular concrete diving pier in the center of the lake

'Kids will be swimming in this lake by the last week in June" predicted Jack Gruwell a village trustee who has been involved with planning the Arthur Marble Memorial Park, these past 18 months

Men and machine are dredging out 90.000 yards of dirt and will bring in 5 000 yards of sand to top the blue clay base to form the four acre lake When finished Gruwell said the lake will have a 650 foot beach a depth of 14 feet and a diving platform in the center with one and three meter diving towers

4-Year Mayor List Growing In Wisconsin

NEENAH — If Neenah citizens choose to okay a four year term for mayor in the referendum this April the city will join a growing list of Wisconsin communities which have extended the tenure of their chief executive

Some five cities have adopted four year terms for mayors since 1960 including Appleton and Kenosha which will put the longer term into effect following this spring's elections

The four-year term in Neenah will go into effect in 1970 if the citizens remain with the mayor form of government on April 2 and approve the extended term However if the referendum on the city manager question wins, the results of the four-year term will mean nothing.

Green Bay voters okayed a four-year term in November, 1966, and the term went into effect last April

Wausau has had a four-year term since 1964 and Sheboygan, since 1961 Other cities with four - year terms include Milwaukee Superior, West Allis, Greenfield and Wauwatosa

Milwaukee LaCrosse, West Allis Cudahy, Greenfield and Wauwatosa all have four-year terms for aldermen

A referendum on the four-year mayor term in Manitowoc in 1958 was soundly defeated 3.809 to 1 428

Brookfield put the issue before the voters in 1954 and the longer term was downed by eight votes

Concern Voiced Over Dismissal of Rev. Treat

OSHKOSH — Several Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh students faculty members and co-workers last week expressed concern over the Rev Paul Treat II depature as United Campus Christian Fellowship minister this June

Possible action was being discussed by students, although nothing had been decided

Some faculty members have also said they would like to aid in an effort to keep the Rev Treat on campus, although the general consensus seems to be that they will wait for the students to do something

The professors, friends and acquaintances of the Rev Mr Treat, favored the move on the basis of academic freedom or because of their personal admiration for him

Interviews with several students seemed to indicate widespread support for Rev Treats reinstatement on campus

'Everyone I've talked to on campus thinks he's the greatest,' according to David Feirer, a WSU-O freshman from Oshkosh

"He's what we need on this campus Feirer said 'A voice. someone that the students can rally behind because he has the same causes that many of the kids have'

Feirer's praise for the campus minister asked by a board of the Oshkosh Council of Churches to leave after this school term was echoed by several other students interviewed No student, faculty member or campus minister interviewed was pleased with the dismissal

One professor felt the Rev Mr Treat has been a source of dynamism on campus and has helped to make the students think

'Paul is a very conscientious and dedicated person and is probably the person on campus who can work best with the students" said John Collins, president of the campus Young Democrats organization

'He communicates better with students because he approaches them on their own level and treats them as adults" Collins believes

His comments echoed those of a number of students who know Rev Treat

One professor, who said his chief interest in Rev Treat's dismissal was its effect on academic freedom and freedom of speech at WSU-O, said that seeing two guys (Rev Treat and L Larry Leonard, political science professor) disappear" for expressing controversial views "kind of gets my dander up"

Hesitant to Speak

Noting at the same time that 'he had no proof that anyone's been fired for his views' he also expressed hesitancy in speaking out because he lacked tenure at the university

Another professor said he didn't think issues of academic freedom were involved but supported Treat

Ellen Kassilke WSU O student from West Bend said "I think most people who oppose him are afraid of what he says or dislike the way he says it' she said

Campus ministers associated with the University Christian Movement at WSU-O also complimented Rev Treat's place in campus life

'He has helped me look more closely at the things I'm doing and my Christian role," according to Rev Benedict Kleiber, campus Catholic chaplain'

He tries very hard to live up to his convictions' the Rev Kleiber said which are unique only to him And he tries to understand not only himself but others"

He has done a very good job and tried very hard to fulfill the national UCCF purposes," according to Rev Donald Collins, Methodist campus minister

"One of the problems has been that his purposes are not always in line with what the local people think," he added "Also, his tactics in expressing his views have been wrong at times which has hurt him in the community'

Beth Feirer Episcopal campus representative for UCM on campus, said, "He is a magnificent person who has fulfilled his purposes as outlined in his covenant beautifully"

She said, however that problems may have stemmed from a 'misunderstanding of what he was hired for"

Ronald Del Bene, executive director of Newman Center on campus made the following analysis of Rev Treat's dismissal

"I think some people feel Rev Treat has misused his freedom and power on campus, and I don't necessarily mean the church boards I, personally do not feel that he has'

Del Bone said the incident had greatly influenced me to reevaluate the function and freedom of a man in whom the ordaining sanction of the institutional church has been place"

Milk Is Next

NFO Inaugurates Livestock Boycott

The National Farmers Organization (NFO) started its livestock holding action at 10 a m today throughout its 30-state area

Members in the Fox River Valley area were expected to be notified through the NFO's calling system this morning

This is the second of a three phase system action scheduled this winter by the NFO to boost farmer prices on grain, livestock and milk

The grain action which is expected to have little immediate effect on the Fox River Valley except as it contributes to a national picture is about three weeks old

Withholding of milk is expected to follow shortly NFO President Orin Lee Staley has indicated that by the time the milk withholding action begins to take effect the other phases should be reaching a simultaneous reaction on the market and force buyers to purchase these commodities from the farmers at NFO stipulated prices

Fox Valley Campaign

Heart Fund Drive Workers Selected

Campaign chairmen and other key committee officers for the 1968 Heart Fund drive throughout the Fox River Valley were announced today by John S. Hirschboeck, M.D., state campaign chairman.

The campaign will be conducted during February, national heart month, and will reach its high point in the four-day period, starting Feb. 25, when Heart Sunday volunteers will canvass the residential areas.

Selected as city chairman for Appleton is Robert R. Groves, 2525 N. Brookdale Ct.

Groves, a manager for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., will be assisted by Wayne Berkley, 118 S. Schaefer St., associate chairman; John A. Hennessy, 1025 N. Leminwah St., advance gifts chairman; Morris W. Gabert, 1624 W. Lorain Ct., business chairman; John G. Wylie, 116 Greenfield St., professional chairman; Mrs David R. Arthur, 1806 Mohawk Dr., Heart Sunday chairman; Joseph L. Benton, 319 E. Greenfield St., publicity chairman; F. Donald Ryan, 1531 S. Perkins St., city treasurer, and Mrs. Robert A. Swan, 416 W. Pershing St., headquarters supervisor.

Twin City Chairman

Dr. Fredrick L. Hildebrand, Neenah, will serve as city chairman for the Neenah-Menasha Heart Fund Drive.

Dr. Hildebrand, who was also city chairman for the Wisconsin Heart Association during 1967, will be assisted by John S. Sensenbrenner Jr., Neenah, advance gifts chairman; Mrs. Norma Osterndorf, Menasha, Heart Sunday chairman; James Auer, Neenah, publicity chairman; Frederik W. Jensen, Neenah, treasurer, and Mrs. Donald E. Meyer, Neenah, headquarters supervisor.

City chairman for Fond du Lac is John E. Oberg, a field underwriter for New York Life Insurance Co.

Oberg, who has served as Heart Fund publicity chairman for three years, has selected as his division heads the Rev. Martin K. Koehler, of the Church of Peace, Fond du Lac, as advance gifts chairman; Donald M. Bastian, business division chairman; John W. Mickiewicz, professional chairman; Mrs. Jackie Osmanski, Heart Sunday chairman; Donald C. Dreifuerst, publicity chairman; Peter Stone, treasurer, and Mrs. Gerald S. Hensel, headquarters supervisor.

Associate city chairman for Oshkosh is Vern Gauger, office manager, Castle-Pierce Printing Co. His department heads include T. L. Cowan, business chairman, Dr. P. C. Froehlke, professional chairman; Charlotte Lee, Heart Sunday chairman and publicity chairman; Thomas J. Binner, treasurer; Norris F. Krohn, advance gifts chairman, and Mrs. Francis J. Larie, headquarters, supervisor.

Kaukauna - Little Chute

Edward J. Schmidt, of Kaukauna, will serve as city chairman for the Kaukauna - Little Chute campaign.

Schmidt, who is assistant cashier of the Farmers and Merchants Bank, will be assisted by Richard A. Bohm, Kaukauna, associate chairman; Patrick E. Kenney, Kaukauna, advance gifts chairman; Mrs. Ignatius T. Lenz, Kaukauna, Heart Sunday chairman for Kaukauna; Thomas A. Malkowski, business chairman for Kaukauna; Mrs. Earl Pogrant, Kaukauna, headquarters, chairman; Rita Mitchell, Kaukauna, treasurer; David J. Flanagan, Kaukauna, publicity chairman; Mrs. Gordon A. Vandenberg, Heart Sunday chairman for Little Chute; and Merle F. Vandenberg, business chairman for Little Chute.

Mrs. Leonard Romenesko, of Kimberly, will act as city chairman for Kimberly.

Badger Wrecking Co. Looted Over Weekend

Outagamie County authorities are investigating a burglary that occurred over the weekend at Badger Wrecking Co., 1101 S. Grider St.

Company officials said about $50 worth of tools, 20 bottles of soft drinks, and a large amount of pens and pencils were taken. Sheriff's investigators said that entry was gained after a door glass was smashed.

Three Races For Alderman In Primary

among Mitchell, Pointer and Wachtendonk in that order.

At least two office seekers say "things have been calm" because they find running for mayor — with a primary and general election — gets to be an expensive proposition.

The League of Women Voters and several civic clubs have arranged candidate forums as in the past.

One thing is certain — Appleton will have at least two new aldermen after the election in April.

Three races developed into primaries as two aldermen stepped down to seek other offices.

In the 7th Ward, Ald. Mark Catlin, elected earlier in the year by the city council to fill a vacancy, is running for a county judgeship.

But three others are hoping to take over Catlin's aldermanic positions, including Robin A. Long, 1708 S. Perkins St.; George E. Reynolds, 2018 Hickory Ct.; and Fred A. Kingsley, 1123 S. Mason St.

Reynolds and Kingsley are newcomers to city elections while Long lost on a previous bid for the 7th Ward post. One of the three will be eliminated in the primary.

Because Ald. Pointer is vacating his council seat to seek the mayor's job, that position will be open, with four candidates running. They are Harold H. Douglas, 1030 E Byrd St.; Thomas A. Mulvihill, 1131 E. Byrd St; Austin Tucker, 936 E. Glendale Ave.; and Dorothy Draheim, 1701 N. McDonald St.

In the 20th Ward, Ald. Norman E. Beyer will have to battle two contenders. Ralph L. Schwartz, 902½ W. Winnebago St. and Charles Roeck, 1003 W. Wisconsin Ave.

The first unusual development in pre-election discussion is the status of Douglas in the 14th Ward. He is records clerk for the department of public works and has sought public office before.

While Douglas is eligible to run for office and hold a seat on the city council, if elected, City Atty. David Geenen and state legal authorities question whether he could continue to work for the city, or vote on anything dealing with financial or personnel matters within the public works department.

Although office seekers have kept the lid on electioneering thus far, Appleton residents have been checking their voter eligibility. City Clerk Elden Broehm said several persons registered to vote at city hall during the past week.

And starting tonight, Broehm and staff will begin a voter registration campaign in the neighborhoods with fire stations serving as registration centers.

Mathematics Club Film Will be Shown Tuesday at Lawrence

A 60-minute color film titled "Let's Teach Guessing" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Casper Youngchild Hall of Science at Lawrence University under the sponsorship of the Lawrence Mathematics Club.

The film presents Prof. George Polya of Stanford University. It was funded by the National Science Foundation (NSF) and the American Mathematical Society.

Dr. William Sanders of the Lawrence mathematics department has pointed out that the film is comprehensible to those with little or no mathematical background.

The film is open to the public without admission charge.

Court Names Attorney For Kimberly Suspect

An attorney was appointed this morning for Robert J. Menting, 27, 107 N. Main St., Kimberly, who is charged with burglarizing the Avenue Bar, 104 W. Kimberly Ave., early Thursday.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller appointed attorney Gordon Myse to serve at county expense and continued the case to Tuesday. Menting, arrested following investigation by Kimberly police, is in jail under $2,600 bond.

Police said $111 and a bottle of liquor were taken in the 2:45 a.m. burglary.

Conway Heads Hotel Project At Two Rivers

"completely redesigned and rebuilt".

Conway stressed there was no connection between Lake Michigan Properties, Inc. and the new corporation.

"We had talks with Two Rivers city officials during the past week and they have pledged their cooperation," Conway said.

He indicated construction will begin this summer and the inn, a two-level structure with 84 units plus other facilities, should be completed by the end of this year.

Conway said the inn site consists of 3½ acres and includes an estimated 700 feet of Lake Michigan frontage.

The new inn will have an indoor pool, health club, dining and banquet rooms, and other features.

"When completed, the inn will attract resort as well as regular hotel business." Conway predicted. He said the area could support the type of an operation the new corporation has in mind.

The Manitowoc area already has a Guest House Inn, Manitowoc Motor Hotel and numerous small motels.

Two Rivers has been without a hotel since 1956 when Hotel Hamilton, built early in the century, was condemned and closed.

Minor Price Gains

NFO to Continue Holding of Grain

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The National Farmers Organization said today it will "outlast the grain trade" with its withholding action despite no appreciable price gains after a month of boycotting markets in 30 states.

Prices for corn, oats, wheat, rye, soybeans and sorghums have edged upward only pennies since the militant farmer organization announced its sales embargo Jan 11.

Trade specialists say that in addition to the NFO action factors involved in higher prices include increased exports, a big farmer turnout to join the government's 1968 acreage diversion program, grains held off the market under government loan and the political tension in Southeast Asia

Picture Cloudy

The result is a cloudy picture of what effect the withholding action has had, if any

NFO President Oren Lee Staley points to a fresh one-cent hike in corn prices at Chicago as evidence that the flow of corn is beginning to stop. Dealers, however, report neither shortage nor stockpiling.

Staley says farmers can outlast the grain traders as long as grain can be stored under government loan at prices equal to or higher than the market price, a current condition.

But Bob Skinner of the Iowa Grain and Feed Dealers Association thinks the boycott has stalled "If all farmers would stop selling grain it would affect the market in a hurry," said Skinner. "I don't think we are going to see any effects."

Boycott Ill - Timed

U S. Rep Mark Andrews, R-N D., feels the boycott was ill-timed. "Once the grain is produced, individual holding back doesn't work too well. Generally, the middleman can wait," Andrews told a Missouri farmer meeting last week

On the Chicago market Friday, No 2 corn sold for $1 18 a bushel, about five cents more than on Jan. 11. The NFO is holding out for $1 50

Soybeans traded Friday went for $2 73, seven cents above the Jan 11 price The NFO is seeking $3 a bushel Wheat was near $1 66--up 36 cents from Jan. 11—with the NFO asking $2 in its pledge of "no price, no production."

Staley is urging his members to sign up to hold back 50 per cent of their grain acreage next season and to seal the current supply for distribution over the next 18 months.

Plans remained firm to extend the withholding action to meat, and then to milk at undisclosed later dates

The NFO keeps secret both the timetable for its actions and its total membership

Withholding actions were called on livestock in 1962 and 1964, and on milk last March. The NFO claimed some success in each, which dealers discounted

The Justice Department stepped in to halt the milk boycott

Froehlich to Speak to Tri-Hi-Y Council on Youth and Government

Harold Froehlich, speaker of the state assembly, will tell the Inner Club Council of Tri-Hi-Y Clubs of the Appleton YMCA "Why Youth Should be Interested in Government," at 6.15 p.m. Tuesday.

Sheryl Sommers, president of the Inner Club Council and a candidate for governor in the State YMCA Youth in Government Assembly, will introduce the speaker

The council is composed of officers of 19 Tri-Y and Hi-Y clubs affiliated with the Appleton YMCA.

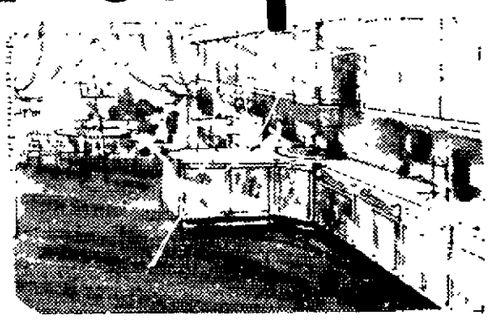

Supper, set for 5 30 p m., will be served by the Donas Tri-Y Club.

Garbagemen Attack Rubble As Officials Continue Fuming

Lindsay Up in Arms at Rockefeller Takeover, Pending Legislation

NEW YORK (AP) — Men are busy today collecting tons of garbage rotting on New York City s streets That's about all Gov Nelson A Rockefeller and Mayor John V Lindsay agree on

Differences between the two nationally prominent Republicans escalated over the weekend, spurred by Rockefeller's action Saturday night to end the city's 9-day, illegal strike by the Uniformed Sanitationmen's Association.

Rockefeller, in an unprecedented move, placed the city's 10,000 sanitationmen under state control and put them back on the streets. By then, garbage had a 10-to-1 edge on the collectors—10 tons for each man.

Atcion Unsound

Lindsay, already fuming because Rockefeller balked at the mayor's request for a National Guard call-up, exploded at the state takeover, calling it unsound and a threat to every city in the nation.

The plan, Lindsay said, was a "direct and dangerous threat to home rule." He said it was "clear that the governor and I have a disagreement about how you run a government."

Rockefeller's plan, which gave the union a settlement Lindsay termed "blackmail," would put the city's Sanitation Department under state control during a temporary health emergency

It still left the union without a contract.

Rockefeller was to ask the state legislature today to drop its regular business and pass the special legislation

3-Day Delay

On Sunday night the governor announced that he would ask for a 3-day delay in the effective date of the legislation, "to give the mayor an opportunity to work out a settlement with the sanitation union."

Lindsay didn't comment on the proposed delay, but an aide called it unrealistic. "How can you bargain with the union," the Lindsay aide said, "when they know that just by waiting three days they can get the maximum amount promised them by the governor?"

The plan, said Lindsay, "left everything up in the air," including who would foot the sanitationmen's salary bills. Rockefeller said it would, one way or another, come out o fthe city's pocket

Lindsay said the plan would reward a union that violated a state law banning strikes by public employes and at best was "a makeshift labor peace bought at a price decreed by the state."

Public Sentiment

A hint about public sentiment on the Lindsay-Rockefeller confrontation came Sunday night when the handsome congressman-turned-mayor got a standing ovation at the formal opening of the new Madison Square Garden

Aides to the mayor said telegrams to Lindsay ran 778-15 in his favor, and calls to the Mayor's Action Center backed his stand 3,249-62 Rockefeller aides said a wave of unfavorable messages to the governor turned in his favor after he got the garbage collectors back on the street, but the ysaid they had no specific figures.

More than 5,000 sanitation men worked Sunday in temperatures mostly in the teens The war on garbage was slowed on scores of streets where firemen had put out trash blazes and left an icy mass of trash

Sanitationmen, who also are responsible for snow removal, moved first into slum areas, where the pileups were largest One three-block stretch in Harlem yielded three truckloads.

Lindsay, who ordered the men to work 11-hour shifts, toured parts of the city Sunday and said it would be several days before the mess was cleared.

City health officials warned it would be at least Friday before a threat to health eased.

18 Children Die In Two Fires Over Weekend

Blazes in Quebec, Pennsylvania Homes Take Heavy Toll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Eighteen children in two families died Sunday in fires at Franklin, Pa., and Howich, Que., near Montreal Four other persons, including at least one American, died in an Acapulco, Mexico, hotel fire that injured more than 20.

Counting two adults killed at Howich and Franklin, the three fires took 23 lives.

Eighteen Chinese were killed early today in a fire at Hong Kong that destroyed a tenement building Scores of impoverished families were left homeless

Ten children were killed in Pennsylvania as their mother widowed just over two weeks ago screamed for them to jump from the second floor of their flame-filled home

New Home

In Quebec, Allam Champ had planned to move his family out of their single - story brick home a week go, but the new house wasn't ready Champ perished along with eight of his children, 2 to 23 years old, after his wife escaped and he brought out their 4-month-old daughter

At Franklin, Mrs Marv Grossman, 34, leaped from the house first, hoping her example would give the frantic children courage to follow. Her pleas from the ground could not make the children jump A handyman, Ronald Simpson, 24, who lived with the Grossmans, also was killed. Mrs. Grossman, suffering from shock, was admitted to a hospital Her children six boys and four girls, ranged in age from one to 13

The Red Cross identified one of the Acapulco dead as Robert Mayo Davis, 68, of Raleigh N C Four of six persons admitted to a hospital were U S citizens The beachfront Hotel Majestic fire started in a night club packed with winter vacationers and swept the lower floors Many persons jumped from the hotel into the surf of Acapulco Bay. U S sailors put out boats to rescue them.

Bomb-Laden Truck Crashes in Kansas

HAYS, Kan. (AP) — A truck loaded with 500-pound bombs crashed on Interstate 70 Sunday, killing the driver None of the 60 bombs exploded.

The driver, Bruce C. Bosworth, 37, of Moore, Okla., was pinned in the cab by one of the bombs that jarred loose from its cradle

The highway patrol said the truck ran off the road about 15 miles west of Hays, went across the ditch, through a fence, across a field and plunged into a creek

An ordnance team from Ft. Riley was to load the bombs on another truck today.

Road Grader Ticketed

PALMYRA, N Y. (AP) — Officials of this village received a court summons Friday for illegal parking in New York City in an apparent mixup in license plate numbers. The ticket, issued last November, bore the license number of the village road grader, a construction machine.

Entertainers Bob Hope and Bing Crosby flank New York Mayor John V. Lindsay Sunday at the formal opening of the new Madison Square Garden. (AP Wirephoto)

New York's New Showplace

Lavish Show Opens Garden

NEW YORK (AP) — The new Madison Square Garden opened Sunday night with Bob Hope announcing a benefit show for "my favorite travel agency—the USO" and dubbing the handsome new Garden "Astrodome East."

The only indication during two hours of lavish entertainment that the Garden will sometimes be used for athletic contests came when a fight ring was set up and into it climbed Rocky Marciano—and Hope. Their fight" ended in a waltz, during which a couple of men from the audience climbed into the ring and cut in on the dance The audience recognized Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney.

The show, also featuring Bing Crosby and Pearl Bailey, was a delight to adults who despair that show business has been taken over by teen-agers.

The only "youngster" Sunday night was the building It is round outside, bowl-shaped inside, with efficient and attractive color coordination, including matching tickets, directional signs and seats.

Stole Punch Line

Hope did a monologue from which Mayor John Lindsay had already used his punch line about New York's garbage collectors' strike making the city just another disaster area for Hope to visit.

But Hope had a few more "garbage" jokes

"People have been going to the Fulton Street Fish Market just to breathe.

"Your mayor appealed to Gov Rockefeller for help Rocky sent him some airwick and a clothespin."

On politics: "In New Hampshire Romney is showing how good he is on skis, and he's only hit one person. Nixon is having the ski removed tomorrow

"If Bobby Kennedy waits till '72, the White House may be too small for him."

The new 20,000 capacity, $150 million Garden is built over Pennsylvania Station, at 33rd Street and 7th Avenue

The first Madison Square Garden was named in 1879 The building previously had been a railroad shed, converted for public use by P. T. Barnum It was replaced, on the same site, Madison Square, at 26th Street and Madison Square, by a Greek Revival style building designed by Stanford White It opened in 1890 with an orchestra concert

The Garden moved in 1925 to 50th Street and 8th Avenue That building, which can seat 17,000, will close on Tuesday, at the end of the current dog show.

Actions Unpredictable

End Is Near for Echo I, Brightest U. S. Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP) — Echo I, the U.S satellite that long has ranked as the brightest and most easily observed spacecraft orbiting the earth, appears to be about to die.

The Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md., confirms reports by amateur skywatchers that the balloon-like Echo—observed by millions of people in virtually every country since its launching Aug. 12, 1960 — may drop back to earth any time

A Goddard spokesman said the North American Defense Command has forecast, on the basis of computer studies of the satellite's recent orbits, that it may fall into the earth's atmosphere about March 31.

But Echo I is a large, very light spherical object and therefore somewhat unpredictable

Schedule Uncertain

The world's first passive communications satellite could disappear a week or two earlier than the computed date Or, if the solar pressure that has been driving it earthward eases slightly, the sphere could remain aloft well into April.

Scientists attribute recurrent changes in its orbit to air drag —the friction resistance of the thin atmosphere to the satellite's surface—and to the solar wind, a product of the sun's energy

On most spacecraft these effects are negligible, but Echo's light weight and great mass make it susceptible to the slight pressures.

Fashioned of mylar polyester coated with aluminum, the huge space ball, tall as a 10-story building, glowed like a headlight at night, sparkling in the sunshin that bathed its course

Public Interest

Echo I excited such interest that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration published weekly local forecasts of the periods at which it could be seen

Goddard officials used the sparkling sky-rider as a "radio mirror" to bounce hundreds of two-way voice conversations and for relay of other types of high-quality communications across the United States, and between this country and Europe.

Nixon Hopes to Debate Democratic Candidate, Not Other Republican

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Richard M Nixon says he wants to debate the Democratic candidate for president this year.

"When they get their candidate I want to debate him," Nixon said. "I hope to debate the man we will face in November."

Nixon made the statement Sunday to students at St. Paul's School, a preparatory school in Concord, following a question-answer session before a packed audience of 600.

In 1960 Nixon appeared in a series of televised debates with John F. Kennedy Kennedy said that he could not have won the election that year if it had not been for the debates with Nixon.

The former vice president returned to New Hampshire for the second week of campaigning The state holds the nation's first presidential primary March 12

Another McNamara

Students at St. Paul's and a number of townspeople crowded into the auditorium to hear Nixon

Among them was Craig McNamara, son of Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara. The young McNamara sat in the balcony and raised his hand several times to ask Nixon a question. He was not recognized and Nixon said after the session, "Gee I wish I had known"

The students applauded warmly when Nixon entered and when he finished fielding their questions, a large number swarmed around him on the stage.

One asked him whether he had any plans to debate Sen Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. Nixon replied that he would not debate McCarthy or Gov. George Romney of Michigan, the only other announced major Republican candidate for the nomination.

Indirectly Nixon criticized Romney on the question of neutralizing South Vietnam as a means of ending the ar there. Romney has advocated this solution

Answering a question about the war, Nixon said: "There is the suggestion made by several pundits and by some political leaders that the way to end the war in Vietnam is to neutralize North Vietnam, South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

"Now any beginning student of foreign affairs knows that neutralization is not a formula for a process for bringing peace We must recognize that for neutralization to be a viable, diplomatic concept, it is necessary first, for the nations to be neutralized to accept that proposal and, second, it's necessary for the major powers in the respect it

"So when the time comes—I hope it does come but it's a long way off now—that Ho Chi Minh is willing to accept the concept that he will be neutralized and will not infringe on the neutrality of South Vietnam, and when the Chinese Communists and the Soviet Union agree to respect that neutrality, then we could have peace on that basis."

Nixon meets with the New Hampshire Weekly Editors Association at lunch today. He scheduled a speech to be delivered at Dover in the evening.

'Jamie' Versus 'Squat,' But Mattison Will Win

BELTON, S C. (AP) — James Mattison will be the mayor no matter which man wins Tuesday's election.

The incumbent mayor is James C. 'Jamie" Mattison. His opponent, a newcomer and no relation, is James A. "Squat" Mattison.

The nicknames are on the ballot to help the voters

Nedda Harrigan Logan, right, serves tea to Eleanor Biggers Cole as they talk over how both their lives were affected by a Chinese movie sleuth named Charlie Chan. Mrs. Cole is the widow of author Earl Derr Biggers, creator of Charlie Chan and the string of movie mysteries he solved. Mrs. Logan, wife of director Josh Logan and an actress, played the role of the murderess in "Charlie Chan at the Opera." (AP Wirephoto)

Great Charlie Chan, Detective, May Return

Warner Owners of Film Series Hope Festival Will Revive His Popularity

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Are you ready for a Charlie Chan cult, following those for Humphrey Bogart, Laurel and Hardy, W. C. Fields, etc.?

Warner Bros.-Seven Arts devoutly hopes it happens, since the company owns the mystery dramas produced by Fox in the 1930s. Such hopes are being furthered by a Charlie Chan film festival at New York's Museum of Modern Art March 4-17.

How could any middle-aged movie goer fail to recall the inimitable Charlie? Whether played by Warner Oland or his successor, Sidney Toler, he was always the same: The white suit with Panama hat perched squarely atop his head, . . his banter with No. 1 son, the breathless Keye Luke, . . . his way of wrapping up the situation with pseudo-confucianisms like "bad alibi like dead fish—cannot stand the test of time."

Lives Affected

Two ladies whose lives were profoundly affected by Charlie Chan met in Beverly Hills for tea. One was Nedda Harrigan Logan, wife of director Joshua Logan and a former actress. The other was Eleanor Biggers Cole, wife of the author who created Charlie, Earl Derr Biggers.

"My husband and I took a cruise to Honolulu in 1920, when it was really Honolulu," Mrs. Cole recalled. "Nothing of a literary nature came from it; my husband was not a prolific writer. A year or so later he decided to do some writing, and went to the newspaper room of the New York Public Library to seek ideas.

"He happened to come across an item in a Honolulu paper that sparked his imagination. It mentioned that a Chinese detective had arrested three Japanese for gambling. That was the beginning of Charlie Chan."

Mrs. Logan recounted her own connection with Chan: "I was typed when I was playing in pictures: I was always the villainess. So I was chosen to play the murderess in 'Charlie Chan at the Opera.' Boris Karloff was also in the picture, and Oscar Levant composed an opera for us to sing."

Five Chan Books

Biggers produced the first of the Chan books, "House Without a Key," in 1925. Five others appeared before the author's death in 1933. Hollywood first saw possibilities in the Biggers books in 1926, when Pathe produced "House Without a Key."

Another Japanese, Kamiyama Sojin, played Chan in Universal's "The Chinese Parrot" in 1928. Fox filmed "Behind That Curtain" in 1929 with Warner Baxter as star and an English actor, E. L. Park, as Charlie. The pattern for future films finally arrived with "Charlie Chan Carries On" in 1931.

"I'm the one who suggested Warner Oland for the part," said Mrs. Cole. "I went to see 'Fu Manchu' and I came home and told my husband, 'I've found the man who should play Charlie.' He made the suggestion to Fox, and Oland was hired. He was a fine actor and had a marvelous face. He was Swedish, but the Scandinavians have a look that is not quite Mongolian, but slightly Oriental."

After Oland's death in 1938, Chan was played by Sidney Toler, who was of Scotch descent. He was an adaptable actor, but he never achieved the finesse and style of Oland. The low-key sleuthing of Chan seemed ill-suited to the wartime market, and the Fox series petered out in 1942.

But Charlie Chan carried on. Toler moved over to Monogram to continue the series, and after his death the role was played by Roland Winters. Then came a television series that starred J. Carroll Naish. Throughout Chan's entire history on stage, screen and television, the role has never been played by a Chinese.

Filming Completed on 'Nameless,' Story of Famous Woman Spy

Principal photography has been completed at Dino De Laurentiis Studios in Rome for Paramount Pictures' "Nameless," dramatic account of the beautiful and ruthless mystery woman who was Germany's ace spy during World War I.

The motion picture also was photographed on locations in Yugoslavia and Hungary.

"Nameless" stars Suzy Kendall, Kenneth More, James Booth and Capucine. Appearing in major supporting roles are such international performers as Alexander Knox, Nigel Green, Roberto Bisacco, Malcolm Ingram, Giancarlo Giannini, Mario Novelli, Ralph Nossek and Olivera. The movie formerly was titled "Fraulein Doktor," produced in English by Dino De Laurentiis.

Theater-in-The-Round For U.S.O.

BY TV SCOUT

8-9 (Channel 5) — Bob Hope's second theater - in - the-round variety special stacks up to be his best of the season as The Bob Hope Show originates in the brand new Madison Square Garden in New York. Produced as a benefit for the U.S.O., the program, being presented to all four sides, at all times, has a uniquely appealing quality for the home viewer. It also boasts an all star cast including Bing Crosby, Pearl Bailey who has scored a big success in Broadway's "Hello Dolly," Barbara Eden, emerging more and more from her I Dream of Jeannie role, and the 100-voice Cadet Glee Club of the United States Military Academy. 6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7) — Gunsmoke has a classic western yarn guaranteed to please the oater fans. Matt is presiding at the retirement dinner for a legendary sheriff and longtime friend when four border-jumping gunmen mow the man down. (C)

7-8 (Channel 5) —Don Adams is the news on Rowan & Martin's Laugh-In and a pleasure to see him working again as a stand-up comic. He is particularly good as an industrialist describing peacetime uses for his tanks (cops can't get to you to give you tickets), and as the head of a germ central with several lovely ladies as miracle pills including one who is "the pill." Lovely Pamela Austin plays Lady Godiva, clad in a body stocking, and comedian Jack Riley plays LBJ in a Diplomat Club scene. Also on hand: The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band and regulars Arte Johnson, Judy Carne and Gary Owen. (C)

9-10 (Channels 11-9)—Barbara Stanwyck gets an emotional opportunity on The Big Valley when she is given a psychedelic brain - washing by an old "friend" trying to corner the rice market and intent on getting shipments belonging to her. There is much oriental flavor here including a threatened Tong war and the belief that Tong forces have kidnapped Victoria. Harry Townes and Julie Adams are featured. (C)

German Play Seems Lost in Translation

NEW YORK (AP) — More than its original title has been apparently lost from the German solo role drama which opened this week at off-Broadway's Stage 73 as "I Only Want an Answer."

Any valid meaning seems to have been mislaid, along with theatrical tension.

Written by Fred Denger, a member of his homeland's post-nazi generation, as "Langusten" (translation, "lobsters"), the piece recounts a day in the life of a forlorn scrubwoman.

As she waits for some friends to come by to help mark her 64th anniversary, she maintains a marathon monologue variously addressed to the heavens, a canary and her mirror image. If someone did arrive to attempt explanation of questions that sprinkle her reverie, he'd be hard put to get a word in edgewise.

Possibly Symbolic

As for lobsters, two cooked specimens turn up, presumably as some kind of guilt symbol, but their precise significance never becomes clear in Basil Ashmore's translation.

Hermione Baddeley, a much-admired English actress, impersonates the neglected old char with persistence but little persuasiveness. Tony Tanner, an English actor, directed and veteran designer Stewart Chaney, who has been working on both sides of the ocean for 30 years, provided an effectively drab London flat.

Police Benefit Most In Raid of Poker Game

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — A poker game contributed $26 to the police pension fund Friday.

When police raided the game last week all the card players fled, leaving a $123 pot. One man later claimed $97. A municipal judge awarded the rest to the pension fund.

Great Heifetz Leaves Second Teaching Post

Departure From USC Reminiscent of Earlier Discordant Break With UCLA

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "When they used to call me a distinguished professor, I said I felt more like an extinguished professor. I didn't realize how prophetic that would be."

This was violin virtuoso Jascha Heifetz in a puckish mood, but not without a degree of pique. He had called a reporter to his Beverly Hills home to announce some news: that he had left his teaching post at the University of Southern California.

The announcement struck a reminiscent note. Six years ago, Heifetz ended two years of teaching at UCLA on a sour note. The experience had been both a success and a failure, he said, adding: "I was hoping there would be less talk and more practice."

Once again Heifetz has parted with a university with a degree of discordance.

"Early last year I was notified that I was being relieved of my duties as of July. The reason for this is so ridiculous I would rather not discuss it," he said.

Not Ready to Quit

"After I was told I was unemployed, I replied that I was not ready to quit. Even though my staying may not be welcome, I intended to do so because I felt I could still provide some benefits to the students. I said I would leave when I was good and ready, and when I did, I might make a big noise.

"I continued teaching until recently, and then I left—but with little noise, merely removing my properties and saying so long to my colleagues. I left with sadness, because the experience had brought many pleasant memories. USC was not easy to reach (it is located in southern Los Angeles), but the work was good. I enjoyed working there."

Heifetz said his immediate plans were to "evaporate for a while," perhaps to do a little fishing. After the first of the year, he intends to resume teaching, this time in his own studio at his home. Later, he said, he might have some interesting plans to announce.

Authorities Disturbed

Authorities at USC were disturbed by the flourish of the violinist's departure and declared the teaching program had been a successful one. The problem, they said, had been money.

Dr. Raymond Kendall, who had been head of the music department and remains a faculty member since assuming presidency of the Performing Arts Council of the Los Angeles Music Center, had this explanation:

"Five and a half years ago, we established the masters' program with Mr. Heifetz, Gregor Piatagorsky and William Primrose as teachers for a three-year period. It was a very expensive program, but it proved so successful that it was continued two extra years. But then it had gone beyond what the university could afford to finance.

"Last December we decided the program would have to be discontinued, through we appreciated all they had done. This was in no way a negation of their efforts; we simply couldn't afford the program any more. I had hoped to make an orderly transfer of their functions to a program at the music center, and this is now being done."

Patrolman Quits Force

Daniel J. Koehler To Join Department At Little Chute

Daniel J. Koehler, 28, today became the third Outagamie County policeman to resign within a two-week period.

Koehler, a county patrolman since March 1, 1967, informed Lt. Lowell Vietch this morning that he will take a job March 16 with the Little Chute Police Department. His resignation from the county force becomes effective March 15.

Koehler, who lives at 321 Evergreen Drive, Kaukauna, worked for the Institute of Paper Chemistry, before joining the county police. He and his wife have one child.

Patrolman George Van Cuyk resigned Jan. 1 to take a position with the Kimberly Police Department while Gene H. Schroeder resigned last week to take other employment. Vietch said steps are being taken to hire three patrolmen to bring the traffic force up to its full 17-man strength.

Killy, Dianne Holum Earn Second Olympic Medals

Jean-Claude Takes Giant Slalom Title

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Jean-Claude Killy, France's magnificent ski master, took another giant stride today toward a gold medal sweep of the three men's Alpine races at the Winter Olympic Games, winning the giant slalom with disarming ease.

Killy, the 24-year-old innkeeper's son who flashed to victory in the downhill last Friday and set a blistering pace Sunday in the first of the two giant slalom runs, beat Willy Favre of Switzerland by a decisive margin of 2.22 seconds—although American ace Billy Kidd posted the fastest time in today's climactic race.

Killy will shoot for the Alpine triple — a feat accomplished only once before in Olympic history—Friday and Saturday in the special slalom.

"I hit it as hard as I could," the dashing Frenchman said after his final run of one minute, 46.54 seconds locked up the giant slalom title. "I will try just as hard in the special slalom. I know it won't be easy, but I'll give it everything I have."

Second 'Gold'

Johanna Schut gave the Netherlands its second gold medal in women's speed skating, zipping to a record victory in the 3,000-meter race. Three American girls drew a medal blank, but 29-year-old Jeanne Ashworth of Wilmington, N.Y., who finished 10th, was one of 10 speedsters who cracked the old Olympic mark held by Russia's Lidiya Skoblekova.

In the day's other early final, the biathlon—which combines cross-country skiing with rifle marksmansip — Norwegian policeman Magnar Solberg outpointed two Russians for the gold medal. The four-man U.S. team finished far back in the field of 60.

Killy, whose first giant slalom dash of 1:42.72 gave him a lead of more than one second over Favre going into the finale, clinched his second gold medal.

Hosket Nurses Knee

Front-Running Bucks Invade Wisconsin for Important Big 10 Tilt

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big ten basketball title struggle is entering its sixth week and still there is no breakthrough into a solid lead.

Ohio State, with its star Bill Hosket nursing a knee injury, is on top with only one loss. But Northwestern, Iowa and Illinois have only two defeats and Purdue and Wisconsin three.

Signs of a breakout may come this week as Ohio State hits the road. The Bucks, 6-1, are at dangerous Wisconsin, 4-3, today. Saturday, they appear to have an easier touch, invading Minnesota, 1-7.

The Gophers were downed 89-62 by Purdue Saturday but Tom Kondla, Minnesota's scoring champion last season, put a cap on his slump with 32 points. Purdue's Rick Mount hit 28.

Nagle Keys Badgers

Wisconsin, meanwhile, beat Indiana 95-83 as Chuck Nagle, making his first start in four games, pumped in 21 points. It was the Hoosiers' fifth straight conference loss.

Ohio State kept setting the pace with a 90-62 romp over Michigan State behind Steve Howell's production of 22. Hosket had early foul trouble and finally left with a pulled knee muscle and 12 points. He is expected to play today.

In other early week games, Michigan (1-6) is at Illinois (4-2) and Northwestern (5-2) at Minnesota Tuesday.

Saturday's slate includes two afternoon contests—Purdue (4-3) at Illinois and Michigan State (3-4) at Northwestern on television. At night, Michigan is at Indiana (2-5) and Wisconsin at Iowa (5-2).

Northwestern and Iowa moved into a second place tie.

Northwestern knocked Illinois into fourth place by downing the Ilini 78-71 as four players, topped by Don Adams' 20 points, hit in double figures. The Illini climbed from a 41-34 halftime lag into a 50-50 tie, then gradually faded again. Dave Scholz led them with 38 points.

Iowa staged a second half rally to trim Michigan 99-86 with Sam Williams scoring 24 and sophomore Chad Calabria chipping in with 23. Rudy Tomjanovich and Bob Sullivan headed the Wolverines with 22 and 21.

U. S. Skater Takes 3rd in 1,000 Meters

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Dianne Holum went to a party Sunday night, not the usual training procedure for a girl scheduled to skate 3,000 meters against the best competition in the world.

But Dianne, an ever-smiling 16-year-old from Northbrook, Ill., wasn't skating today. George Howie, the manager of America's Winter Olympics speed skating team, figures she's due for a rest.

Sunday, she won her second medal in three races, taking third place in the women's 1,000-meter competition. Friday, she won a silver medal when she and two other Americans tied for second in the 500-meter race.

"She has done enough and deserves a good rest and lots of congratulations," said Howie of his decision to take her out of the 3,000-meter race.

Throws Off Flu

"I felt better today than I have for a week," Dianne said after the race. "I guess I have really thrown off that bout of flu I had a week ago and my legs really felt great."

Winner of the race was Carolina Geijssen of Holland in 1:32.8. Ludmila Titova of Russia was second.

"I thought I had a silver again today," Dianne said, "but at the back of my mind I always knew that Carolina had to come

Mary Schmidt Bowls 613

GREEN BAY — Mary Schmidt and Shirley Helser, Appleton, took over first place in the Class A doubles in the State Women's Tournament at Green Bay over the weekend and a Little Chute team went into first place in the Class E Division.

Mary Schmidt

Mrs. Schmidt and Miss Helser had a 1,142 total headed by Mary's national honor count of 613. Shirley came through with a 529 set.

For Mrs. Schmidt it was the second national honor count of the season. She had a 617 in the 41 Bowl Classic League in October. Mary opened with a 175 game, followed with a 208 and then blasted a 230 in her final line. The high game included five spares and a string of five strikes in a row.

The 613 is the highest count rolled by an individual in the state tourney so far.

Miss Helser's 529 series included a 203 singleton. The Appleton duo has a 26-pin lead over the second place doubles team of Doris Hanson and Rosemary Thees, of Green Bay.

Weenie's Chubs, of Little Chute, took over the team lead in Class E by hitting a 1,991 series. Top kegler was Margaret Dercks with a 210 game and 443 series while other scores included Marge Vosters 442, Janet Verstegen 418, Elaine Winius 363 and Lori Vosters 324.

In other state tournament action, Cathay House, Madison, took over the lead in Class A for teams with a 2,601 series.

Karen Rees, Oshkosh, rolled a 588 series to move into third place in the Class A singles.

Weekend changes:

Changes Sunday in the standings of the state women's bowling tournament:

No. 1 was Jiri Raska of Czechoslovakia with 259 and 238 feet for 216.5 points.

Tom Collects $30,000

Last-Hole Eagle Gives Weiskopf First Win

By BOB MYERS

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf is a professional golfer with a name as difficult to spell as to remember, but the likeable young fellow from Bedford, Ohio, is changing that.

Weiskopf, at 25 a pro for four years, captured the $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open tournament Sunday, third richest in the nation this year, and equipped with a winning bankroll of $30,000, he headed for the $100,000 Phoenix Open.

It was Weiskopf's first victory on the tour and in it he shattered the opposition, including such giants as Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Bill Casper.

One spectacular shot on the final hole Sunday at the par 36-36—72 Torrey Pines Golf Course did it—one that broke a three-way deadlock and a probable sudden-death playoff.

Sinks 25-Footer

It was a 25-foot putt from off the edge of the green that snaked and curled its way into the hole for an eagle 3.

The eagle gave him a 4-under-par 68 for the day and a 15-under-par 273 for 72 holes.

Al Geiberger, playing in the same threesome, got an anticlimatic birdie 4 on the hole for 69 and second place at 274 and $18,000. Ray Floyd, who staged a great last-round rally, had a 67 and a 275 for $11,250.

Another young pro, Bob Lunn of Sacramento, Calif., got in fourth with a 70 and a total of 276 good for $7,500. Nicklaus was fifth at 277.

Weiskopf is a rangy young man, 6-foot-3, 170 pounds, broad-shouldered with a nose burned from the sun of Palm Springs and the wind of San Diego. A product of Ohio State University, he looks as if he should have caught passes for football Coach Woody Hayes—if Woody's team ever threw passes.

He was a forerunner of Nicklaus on the golf team at Ohio State.

Of the final hole, Weiskopf said that he knew he and Geiberger were tied 13 shots under par. He then discovered that Floyd had already finished, also 13 under.

"I felt 'goodness gracious, now there's three of us tied,'" Weiskopf said.

Tom's approach landed on the apron. He says he merely planned to lag the ball up and go for a birdie, figuring the pressure would then be on Geiberger, who was away, to birdie.

"I never thought the ball would drop in until it was about four inches from the cup. Then I knew I had it," he said.

Celtics' Graham Reports to Army

BOSTON (AP) — Rookie Mal Graham played his last game of the National Basketball Association season for the Boston Celtics Sunday in a 141-104 loss to the Los Angeles Lakers.

The former New York University star will report to Fort Dix, N. J. Monday to start six months active duty as part of his Army Reserve program.

Hintz Becomes Terrors' Top FRVC Scorer

Exceeds Record Set 15 Years Ago By Hopfensperger

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

When Tom Hintz scored 24 points for Appleton West against Oshkosh High School's basketball team last Saturday night, he became the most productive Fox River Valley Conference scorer in Terror history.

Hintz, in 14 league games, has scored 327 points, for an average of 23.4. The old school mark, of 305 (for the same number of games) was set by Jerry Hopfensperger in 1962-3. "Hoppy," who went on to star at Marquette University and now coaches at Green Bay Preble, still holds the FRVC 1-game record of 51 points.

Miss Fleming Refuses To Discuss Pro Plans

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Peggy Fleming's gold medal victory in the Winter Olympic Games is a triumph for the ballet school of figure skating over the more dramatic ice show style, says two-time Olympic champion Dick Button.

"Peggy can do things on the ice that no other skater can do, but hers is a graceful ballerina style," he added, Sunday.

"She seems to just glide over the ice. She is a floating symphony. She does spins and jumps, but she hardly kicks up any ice at all.

"This is in contrast to the professional show skaters — and any amateurs — who think speed, flash and power are the ingredients of impressive figure skating."

Former Champion

This comment by the former world's champion, Olympic king in 1948 and 1952 who is here as a television commentator was particularly significant since Miss Fleming apparently is headed for a pro career with the touring Ice Follies.

Will she be forced to change her style to fit the pro format, or will she create a new ice show trend?

Peggy continued to deny reports that she will give up her amateur status after next month's world championships at Geneva, Switzerland, for a $500,000 five-year contract with the pro troupe.

"My aim now is to win a third world's title," she said. "I haven't thought about turning pro."

Peggy's mother, Mrs. Doris Fleming, became piqued by constant queries about her daughter's pro plans. "Why must you keep pestering us about professional skating," she said. "Can't you let us remain happy as amateurs?"

Any suggestion that Peggy might be considering a pro career could have her disqualified from the world tournament.

However, it is an open secret that the Ice Follies, bidding against two other road shows, are prepared to pay half a million dollars for Peggy's name and abilities during the next five years.

Close friends say they are sure Miss Fleming will accept the attractive offer after the Geneva competition Feb. 27 through March 3. Under the proposed contract, she would perform only in the major cities and not make the full tour.

Peggy, a striking blue-eyed brunette, is not an electric skater. Her repertoire contains no daring triple jump as East Germany's Gabriele Seyfert, who finished second, nor does she skate with the verve and drive of European champion Hana Maskova of Czechoslovakia, the bronze medalist. Yet she can keep an audience entranced with her flowing grace and beauty of style.

Coach Agrees

She felt her free-skating performance Saturday night was below the exhibitions she put on at Philadelphia in the U.S. Nationals two weeks ago. Her coach, Carlo Fassi, agreed.

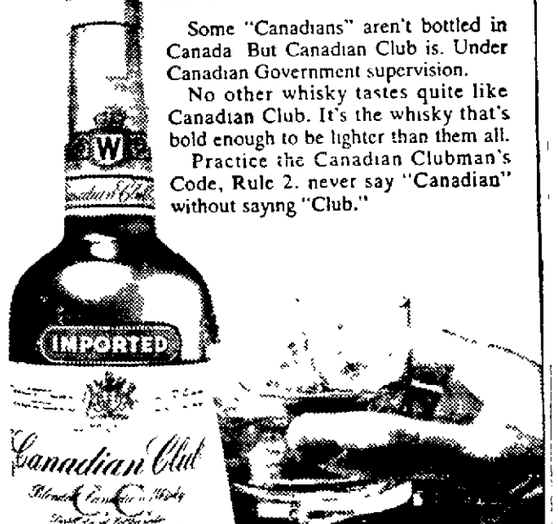

"There were a couple of things she didn't do as well, but it is immaterial," Fassi said. "She was under tremendous pressure. I think she was marvelous."

Peggy was asked what she was thinking the few moments before she took to the ice for her final bid.

She replied:

"I thought to myself 'Here I have worked and trained 10 years for this moment, and I have only four minutes to prove myself.'"

They'll Do It Every Time

Earl Hits 738; Tom Slams 714

Mentzel, Hibbard Top 700 Mark

Couples leagues are generally "fun leagues" and Earl Mentzel and Tom Hibbard took this to heart Saturday night as they enjoyed pounding national honor counts.

Mentzel, a veteran of 20 years of league bowling, fired a 738 national set in the Cocktail Couples League at Sabre Lanes. Hibbard, manager of the 41 Bowl, took a liking to his own lanes by socking a 714 in the Forest Green Couples circuit

Mentzel's high set included a 279 game which saw a stubborn 4-pin spoil his chances of getting a perfect game. After ramming nine straight strikes in the pocket, Earl drilled another one in the 10th frame only to see the 4-pin wiggle and then stay standing. He picked up the spare and then rolled another strike.

After the 279, Mentzel fired a 235 and finished with a 224. It was the fourth national set of his career and Earl carries an average around the 191 mark He bowls once a week in regular league competition and every other week in the couples loop Mentzel is secretary-treasurer of the Appleton Junior Bowling Association.

Two weeks ago Earl's son Dic had a 711 national set in the Sabre All-Star Classic League

Hibbard belted a 257 game to lead into the 714 series. He had a national honor set earlier this season in the Traveling Classic League and carries an average around the 205 mark in that circuit.

Other high scores from the Cocktail loop included Andy Uecker 550; Bob Stumpf 248-610, Cleone Rohloff 195-201-547 and Barbara Sheets 207

In addition to Hibbard's score, the Forest Green loop counts included: Pete Schmidt 609, Art Behrent 245-591, Don Tamminen 230-564, Mel Myers 562, Bob Hoehne 555, Art Schuenemann 553, Karen Kranzusch 224-544, Ruth Schmidt 199-527, Alice Mavroff 538, Evelyn Myers 505 and Betty Kolosso 191

Al Gara socked a 612 series to lead the Bird Couples League at the 41 Bowl and for the women Audrey Lathrop slammed a 192 game and 541 series.

Gene Healy had a 232 line and 551 set while Tom Ahrens fired a 230 and 570. Viola Dickrell rolled a 504 series and Lois Dorner had a 193 singleton.

Ed Kies topped the Card Couples League at Sabre Lanes with a 236 game and 629 series Saturday night. Robert Armstrong had a 562.

Bea Albrecht fired a 219 game and 537 series to lead the wmen while Beverly Lyons had a 216 line and 518 series and Rose Sanders fired a 504.

Bob Huebner's 235 game and Jerry Wolff's 611 series topped the Swingers Couples League at Sabre Lanes. Huebner finished with a 588 and Wolff had a 232 singleton.

Don Wessel rolled a 600 series, Ken Bastian had a 585, Larry Hubeny smacked a 551 and Denny Huhn counted a 572 series.

A 237 game by Bill Sawall and a 602 series by Harold Becker set the pace in the Candy Bar Couples League at Sabre Lanes Saturday night

Elaine Landskron socked a 225 game and 533 series to lead the women while Joan Zolkowski was close behind with a 212 game and 532 total. Other high scores included Jerry Birling 556, George Hinski 562 and Hank Plath 571.

Don Krause fired a 240 game and Harold Lippert had a 607 series to lead the action in the Knights of Columbus Couples League at the 41 Bowl Sunday night. Krause finished with a 557

Other top scores included John DeYoung 566 and John Lesselyoung 236 and 584.

In the Friday night Candy Bar Couples League at the 41 Bowl, Bob Duszak cracked a 228 game and 610 series Chuck Connelly was runnerup with a 580 followed by Bill Anderson 567, Jack Wirth 563 and Norm Grow 550.

Lester Nohr cracked three consistent games over the 200 mark for a 627 series to lead the Football Couples League at the 41 Bowl Sunday night.

Kappell's Keeps Pace In Volleyball Loop

KAUKAUNA — Kappell's Bar kept pace in the Women's Volleyball League by winning three games from Joyce and Tuggy's No 1 to match the 33-3 record of Lee and Sandy's.

Rexall Drug downed Rich and Sally's thrice to run its third place record to 28-8.

Coach Denies Charge

Poor Training Cause of U.S. Skiers' Injuries?

By BOB LOCHNER

CHAMROUSSE, France (AP) — One self-styled expert on ski-racing asked U S coach Bob Beattie if the current run of injuries means his team has been poorly trained

"Is it poor training if one Iranian skier runs in front of Karen Budge and makes her fall?" Beattie shot back

How then does he explain the loss of four racers with the 1968 Winter Olympics not even half over yet?

"It's been a nightmare," he said Sunday "But I can't explain it We went clear through January, competing all over Europe, without serious injuries Then we come in here, and boom"

Of the four serious accidents last week, two were definitely flukes—Miss Budge's dislocated shoulder prior to the downhill, and Robin Moning's broken leg, incurred when she hit a pile of soft snow while skiing over to the start for a downhill training run

Just American Style

Another one, Jere Elliott's spill in the downhill, which left him with an injured shoulder and other assorted bruises, might be considered one of the hazards of the Americans' style of racing.

The Americans rate about 10 per cent behind the Europeans, on average, and some racers think they can make this up with a little extra effort, or by taking chances some of the top stars wouldn't

Jim Barrows' crash and resulting dislocated hip is an extreme example of this

"It was almost a suicide dive," Beattie said "He went into those turns full-out. He wanted to win that race But it was his decision, and he got hurt."

Barrows and Miss Morning are due to be flown back to the U S later this week, before the end of the Games Sunday.

Elliott won't compete here again, and Miss Budge is a very doubtful starter in Thursday's giant slalom

Meanwhile, Billy Kidd continues to race on a twisted ankle and slightly-bruised leg, and Poncho McCoy and Wendy Allen still bear facial scars from falls taken last week

Actually the injury streak began last year Karen Korfanta, one of the original eight girls named to the team last April, injured an achilles tendon and is over here as a spectator

Penny McCoy and Sandra Shellworth, also chosen among the original eight, were dropped from the team, according to Beattie because injuries had kept them from regaining their form—although Sandy was later restored as a replacement for Miss Morning

Paper Airs New Charges

MSU Athletes Under Fire

ANN ARBOR, Mich (AP) — Athletes at both of Michigan's Big Ten schools have been receiving discounts, free meals and parttime jobs in probable violation of conference rules, according to the student newspaper at the University of Michigan

The paper, the Michigan Daily, made its latest allegations against Michigan State University in a copywrited story appearing in its Sunday editions

Earlier, it had stirred a tempest in sports circles with similar allegations against the University of Michigan in a story Friday.

An investigator from the Big Ten headquarters in Chicago was to arrive at the Michigan campus in Ann Arbor Sunday night to begin an investigation into the charges

University of Michigan officials have promised full cooperation

The paper said that MSU football players have been getting discounts at four major movie theaters in the vicinity of the MSU campus in East Lansing

The paper also said Michigan State athletes get so-called grill passes, entitling them to free food at dormitory snack bars

Athletes at MSU also were allowed to bill long-distance telephone calls to the numbers of their coaches, the paper said.

It also quoted a freshman football player who asked not to be identified that Daugherty held a "big hotel banquet for five of us" apparently to attract football players from the Chicago area

In addition, it said, Daugherty paid the travel expenses of a football recruit and his parents for a visit to the MSU campus.

Chicago vs Cincinnati at Cleveland

BOSTON (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers were red hot, but the Boston Celtics would rather forget about it

Boston veteran John Havlicek summed up the general feeling of the Celtics in a few words Sunday after he and his mates suffered their worst beating of the season in a 141-104 clobbering by the Lakers

"The best part of the day is ahead of us," Havlicek said without a trace of a smile as he left the dressing room

The Lakers, bidding to overtake San Francisco for second place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division, came to play The Celtics were as cold as the 10-degree weather outside the Garden

Bring Jeers

The Celtics, accustomed to cheers in winning eight straight NBA titles before being dethroned by Philadelphia last year, were jeered by many in a matinee crowd of 9,001 And they didn't win any new fans watching on national television

Elsewhere, Philadelphia bombed St Louis 119-93 Seattle crushed San Francisco 146-118 and Baltimore topped San Diego 136-16

The Lakers, ahead 70-40 at halftime, cashed 53 of 95 floor attempts for 55 8 per cent en route to their seventh victory in eight games and their 12th in their last 15 starts

Win Third Straight

Gus Johnson's 44 points the most of his career, led Baltimore to its third victory in a row Kevin Loughery had 29 points for the Bullets Johnson had 24 of his points in the first period

Walt Hazzard scored 16 points in the third quarter to lead Seattle to its resounding triumph The victory moved the Super-Sonics into a tie for fourth place in the Eastern Division with Chicago

Wilt Chamberlain scored 21 points, had 26 rebounds and 13 assists for the 76ers Len Wilkens, averaging 21 points a game for the Hawks was blanked while high-scoring Zelmo Beaty had only seven.

New London Tourney

Hortonville, Manawa, Amherst All Qualify 4 Matmen for Sectional

BY ROGER PITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEW LONDON — Amherst made its early lead stand up for a 77-68 team victory in the WIAA regional wrestling tournament here last weekend.

Manawa placed second despite faring better than the Falcons in individual titles. The Wolves were trailed in team scoring by Hortonville, 58; New London, 46; Shawano, 45; Iola-Scandinavia and Marion, 38; Weyauwega, 21; Wittenberg, 17, and Clintonville, 2.

Every school except Clintonville qualified at least one wrestler for the Seymour sectional tournament Friday and Saturday. Amherst, Manawa and Hortonville each qualified four, New London and Shawano three, Iola-Scandinavia and Marion two, and Weyauwega and Wittenberg, one.

Judges Decide

Two of the championship matches had to be decided by judges decisions. Amherst's Bob Jastromski nipped John Tucker, Shawano, 2-1, after tying 2-2 in regulation time and 0-0 in overtime of the 123 pound title bout.

Tom Hobbs, New London, was the 130-pound champion on a 2-1 vote after knotting the Falcons' Rick Konkol, 1-1, in regulation time and a scoreless overtime.

Mike Hein, Manawa, recorded the only championship round pin by flattening Shawano's Todd Zeuske in 5:24, of the 136 pound event. Hein is 22-0-1 for the year.

Other winners were: Terry Kitzman, Marion, 17-2 for the season; Steve Becher, Hortonville, 21-0; Dave Flanagan, Manawa, 21-1; Jastromski, 15-2-1; Hobbs, 21-3; Larry Matson, Iola-Scandanavia, 15-4; John Jolly, New London, 16-4; Tom Griffin, Manawa, 21-1; Dick Opperman, Iola-Scandinavio, 17-2; John Irish, Shawano, 15-5-1; and Mel Glodowski, Amherst, 21-1.

Takes 10-2 Decision

Glodowski captured the heavyweight title by dominating Hortonville's Carl Baumgart, 19-2, for a 10-2 point decision.

Kitzman was hard-pressed in the semi-final match by Jeff Lundmark tying 4-4 in regulation and 2-2 in overtime before getting a judges' decision. He then downed Hortonville's Jim Schroeder with a last second take-down in the championship bout for a 4-3 win.

Becher downed Amherst's Charles Hansen, 6-0, in the 106-pound class, but brother Dick Fell, 4-1, before Manawa's Flanagan. Matson had little trouble in the 141 title match beating Don Harvey, Shawano, 8-3.

Shutout wins were recorded by Jolly, 6-0, over Gary Rambo, Iola-Scandinavia, and Griffin, 8-0 from Wittenberg's Cliff Groshek.

Championship-round results and individual finishes, including wrestle-backs.

98—Terry Kitzman, Mar., beat Jim Schroeder, H, 4-3. 3. Jeff Lundmark, S. 4. Casey Groshek, A.
106 — Steve Becher, H, beat Charles Hansen, A, 6-0. 3. Gary Krueger, Mar. 4. Jim Krumrie, Wit.

Killy Takes Second 'Gold' Of Olympics

with the second fastest run of the day.

Kidd, of Stowe, Vt., blazed down the 1,800-meter, 70-gate course in 1:46.46, but failed to crack the top three. Seventh after Friday's run, he climbed to fifth, behind Favre, Heinrich Messner of Austria and Guy Perillat of France.

"No medals today, but we still have another chance," said Kidd, who has bounced back from an ankle injury last week that contributed to his 18th pace windup in the downhill.

Last of Eevnts

Kidd and teammate Jimmy Heuga of Squaw Valley, Calif., who took the silver and bronze medals in the slalom competition at Innsbruck, Austria, four years ago, will again challenge the powerful, Killy-led French squad, the Austrians and the Swiss in the last of the big three Alpine events.

Heuga, who went into the giant slalom final one place behind Kidd, fell back to the 10th spot with a 1:48.43 clocking today. "I just didn't race as well as I like," he said. "The course didn't bother me. It was soft, but I dodn't mind. I'm only discontented with myself."

Killy finished with combined time of three minutes, 29.28 seconds. Favre had a total of 3:31.50 after his second run of 1:47.56. Messner vaulted past Perillat, who was third Sunday, with a 1:46.67 clocking today and a total of 3:31.83.

Killy hopes to match the triple gold medal coup of Austria's Toni Sailer in the 1956 Games, but the French superskier isn't making any predictions about his chances in the slalom. "That's really too difficult to say. There are many hurdles to cross — qualification races and two heats for classification," he said. "Anyway, I run each race for itself without thinking of the others."

Kidd's combined time was 3:32.37 and Heuga ad a total of 3:33.89.

Spider Sabich of Kyburz, Calif., and Rick Chafee of Rutland, Vt., wound up 14th and 15th, respectively, completing a highly respectable showing for the underdog U.S. contingent.

In the final of four women's speed skating tests, Dutch girls finished 1-3, with Miss Schut setting an Olympic mark of 4:56.2—close to 18 seconds under the record set by Miss Skoblekova eight years ago at Squaw Valley—and Stien Kaiser, holder of the pending world 3,000-meter standard of 4:54.6, flying home just behind Finland's Kaija Mustonen.

Miss Mustonen, gold medal winner in the 1,500-meters, was clocked in 5:01.0, Miss Kaiser in 5:01.3.

Clocked in 5:14

Miss Ashworth, an Olympic veteran who captured a bronze medal at Squaw Valley, streaked in with a 5:14.0 clocking in one of the finest performances of her career. Jeanne Omelenchuk of Warren, Mich., eldest member of the U.S. Olympic team at 36, was right behind Miss Ashworth in 11th pace. Toy Dorgan of Springfield, Ill., finished 14th.

The best the U.S. could do in the biathlon was a 27th place finish by Ralph Makely, an Army corporal from Murray, Utah. Three other Army men, Capt. William Spencer of Fort Richardson, Alaska, Lt. Edward Williams of Rosendale, N.Y., and PFC Jonathan Chaffee of Lynne, N.H., were 37th, 45th and 49th in the field of 60.

Warm weather and rain again played havoc with the bobsled and luge schedule. Singles luge (small sled) races set for this morning and tonight were postponed, as was tonight's first training session for the four-man bobsled event.

and she is in such great form at the moment that I doubt whether anybody could have beaten her."

Carolina said she had won the race at royal command from Princess Beatrix of Holland.

"I had lunch with the princess yesterday," she said, "and when I told her that the 1,000 meters was my best event she gave me special instructions to win a gold medal for Holland.

"I am just so happy that I have done so, and when I spoke to the princess a few moments ago she gave me a big kiss of congratulations. I am going to make a party and drink lots and lots of champagne."

Jeanne Ashworth of Wilmington, N.Y., was fifth in the race.

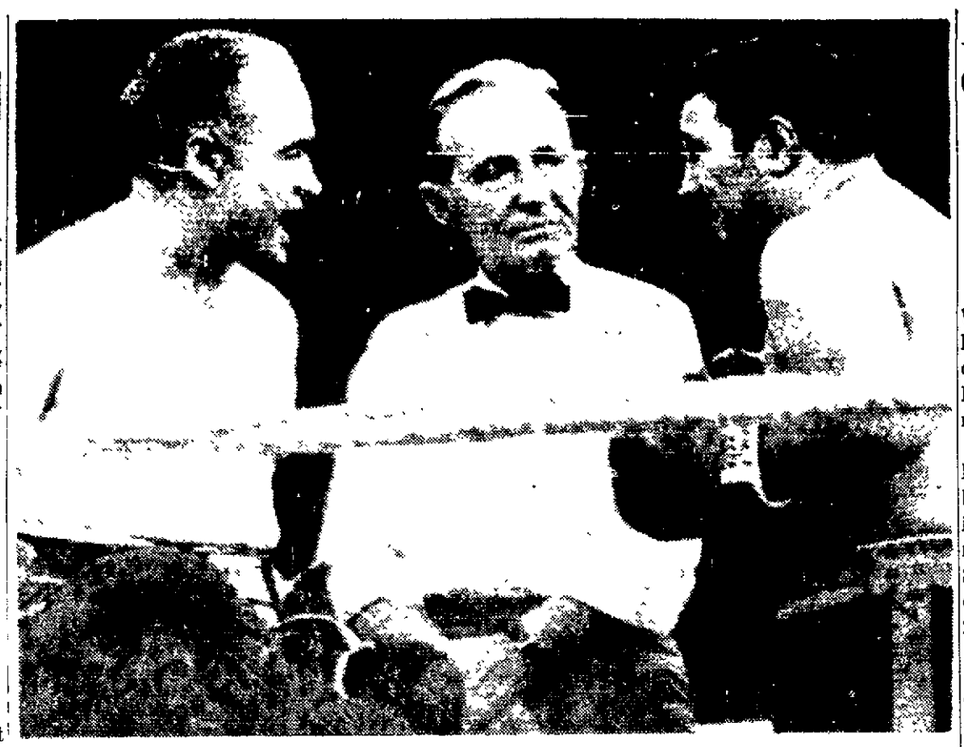

Cynthia and Ronald Kauffman, the top U.S. figure-skating pair, had their problems in the figures competition Sunday and stood in fifth place, probably too far back to make up enough ground for a medal in the free skating, which is set for Wednesday night.

Defending champions Ludmila Beloussova and Oleg Protopopov took a big lead and seemed to have their second gold medal wrapped up. Sandi Sweitzer and Roy Wagelin of Los Angeles were in eighth place while Alicia Starbuck and Ken Shelley of Downey, Calif., were 14th.

Eugenio Monti of Italy won the gold medal that had long eluded him in bobsled competition. Though Monti and his brakeman Luciano De Paolis finished with the same aggregate time as the West German team, they were declared the winners because they had the fastest single run.

Jiri Raska of Czechoslovakia won the 70-meters special ski jump, and Franz Keller of West Germany took the Nordic combined event — jumping and cross country.

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — The schedule for Winter Olympic events Tuesday, times Eastern Standard:

Terrors' Top FRVC Scorer

the only Terrors ever to exceed the 300 mark in FRVC scoring for one season. The other school leaders, behind this pair, are Jack Ulwelling, 286; and Brian Bock, 271. Ulwelling went on to play for the University of Wisconsin, while Bock is currently captain of the Lawrence University team.

In Second Place

Hintz's 49-point weekend (he scored 25 against Sheboygan South Friday) elevates him to second place in FRVC scoring. He trails Green Bay West's Jerry Tagge by seven points and leads Manitowoc's Pete Hansen by two. With two games remaining, Tagge, Hintz and Hansen all have a chance to break the all-time FRVC season record of 380, set by South's Steve Fischer last season.

AHS-W, in winning its 10th game of the season Saturday, assured itself of a winning record for 1967-8, no matter what happens in the remaining games. Both Appleton public schools (East with 11-6 and West, with 10-6) are now sure of winning marks in their first season after the split. Few, if any observers, had deemed it possible for the AHS talent to be split two ways and to have the two schools post the records they have.

Besides Hintz' scoring ability, "AHS-W displayed two of its other hallmarks against Oshkosh — poise and a tight defense. Even when the Terrors fell seven points behind (38-31) late in the third period, they refused to panic. They scored the game's next 13 points in the fading seconds of the third quarter and first 2:27 of the fourth — with Carl Hunt collecting six of them, Hintz three, and Wally Day and Mark Schroeder two apiece.

At least three different defensive alignments employed by the Terrors kept the Oshkosh offense off balance. AHS-W continues to lead the FRVC in defense.

Vike Matmen Split Pair of Matches

RIPON — The Lawrence University wrestling team split in a double dual here Saturday defeating Monmouth College, 25-24 and losing to Knox College, 26-23.

The split gives the Vikings a 5-4 dual record for the season.

In the win over Monmouth, Lawrence trailed 24-20 going into the final match. Heavyweight Chad Cummings of the Vikes pinned his opponent to nail down the victory. Other pins for the Vikes were recorded by Linc Saito at 130 pounds, Jerry Clifford at 145, and Dave Toyson, 152.

Scoring victories in the Knox match were Saito, Clifford, Toyson, Jerry Nightengale at 165 and Bill Baird at 177 pounds.

Rhinelander Cops Invitational Test

Rhinelander athletes won nine of 11 events in scoring an easy triumph in the Viking High School Invitational swimming and diving meet at the Lawrence University pool at Alexander Gym Saturday.

The Hodags from the Wisconsin Valley Conference overpowered the seven other schools in the meet by tallying 87 points. Stevens Point, also from the WVC, finished far back in second place with 36 points.

West Bend wound up in third place with 28, followed in order by Manitowoc, 15; Wausau, 14; Chilton, 12; Two Rivers, 7; and Menasha, 6

Crown Champs Of First Annual Junior Tourney

Olympic Briefs

Killy, Perillat Fear One Another Most

AUTRANS, France (AP) — Wanted: Skiers who are both long jumpers and swift cross country racers. The Olympic Nordic combination event had nobody who was tops in both.

Combination winner Franz Keller of West Germany had the best jump but placed only 13th in the cross country run. Combination runner-up Alois Kaelin of Switzerland ran the fastest cross country but placed only 24th in jumping.

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — The French have a word for the Canadian uniforms for members of the Winter Olympic team, with Hudson Bay jackets ringed in green, yellow, red and black.

The French call them "Tranches Napolitaines" after a multi-colored brick ice cream.

Grenoble, France (AP)—A resident of this Olympic city stopped at the tourist information office today to ask when the opening ceremony would take place — almost a week after the opening of the Olympic Games.

CHAMROUSSE, France (AP) — Jean-Claude Killy and Guy Perillat, who gave France a 1-2 finish in the Olympic downhill ski race, don't go beyond their own team when it comes to making predictions.

Killy was asked who he feared most in the giaut slalom, and he replied: "Guy Perillat."

Perillat was asked the same question and he said "Jean-Claude Killy."

Autrans, France (AP)—Alpine and Nordic style skiing come face to face at this resort. Even during the Olympic ski jump competition, a ski tow operated at one side of the jump, hauling up crowds of weekend skiers who proceeded to descend in Alpine style, sometimes falling.

Montreal Rips Black Hawks To Boost Lead

6 Canadiens Score In 6-0 Win; Bruin Rally Ties Oakland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Who do you watch when the Montreal Canadiens have the puck? That's what the Chicago Black Hawks were trying to figure out today.

Six different Canadiens scored Sunday afternoon as they beat the Hawks 6-0 and boosted their lead in the National Hockey League's East Division to five points over second-place Boston.

On Saturday night, five different players accounted for six goals as the Canadiens outlasted Chicago 6-4.

In other games Sunday, Fred Stanfield's goal with 53 seconds left gave Boston a 3-3 tie with St. Louis, New York tied Detroit 3-3, Philadelphia edged Minnesota 3-2 and Oakland scored four times in the third period to nip Toronto 4-3.

Montreal, which has lost only once its last 20 games, scored twice in each period Sunday as goalie Rogatien Vachon recorded his third shutout of the season.

The Canadien scorers were Jacques Lemaire, Bob Rousseau, Jean Beliveau, Claude Provost, Yvan Cournoyer and Henri Richard, who was playing his first game since he returned last Friday after threatening to retire.

Boston Comes Back

St. Louis opened up a 2-0 lead on goals by Ron Schock and Frank St. Marseille before Boston tied it on a 60-foot screen shot by Ted Green and a goal by Johnny Bucyk in the third period.

Then St. Louis took the lead on Larry Keenan's goal. But just 20 seconds later Stanfield poked in a rebound for the tie.

Jean Ratelle's second goal tied it for the New York early in the final period. The Rangers had taken a 1-0 lead on Ratelle's goal in the first period before Detroit went ahead 3-1 on a goal by Alex Delvecchio and a pair by Norm Ullman. Donnie Marshall got New York's second goal.

5 Appleton Swimmers Set Records

A quintet of Appleton YMCA swimmers established new team records, as the Appleton squad finished on the short end of a 283-213 score with the Beaver Dam YMCA at Beaver Dam recently.

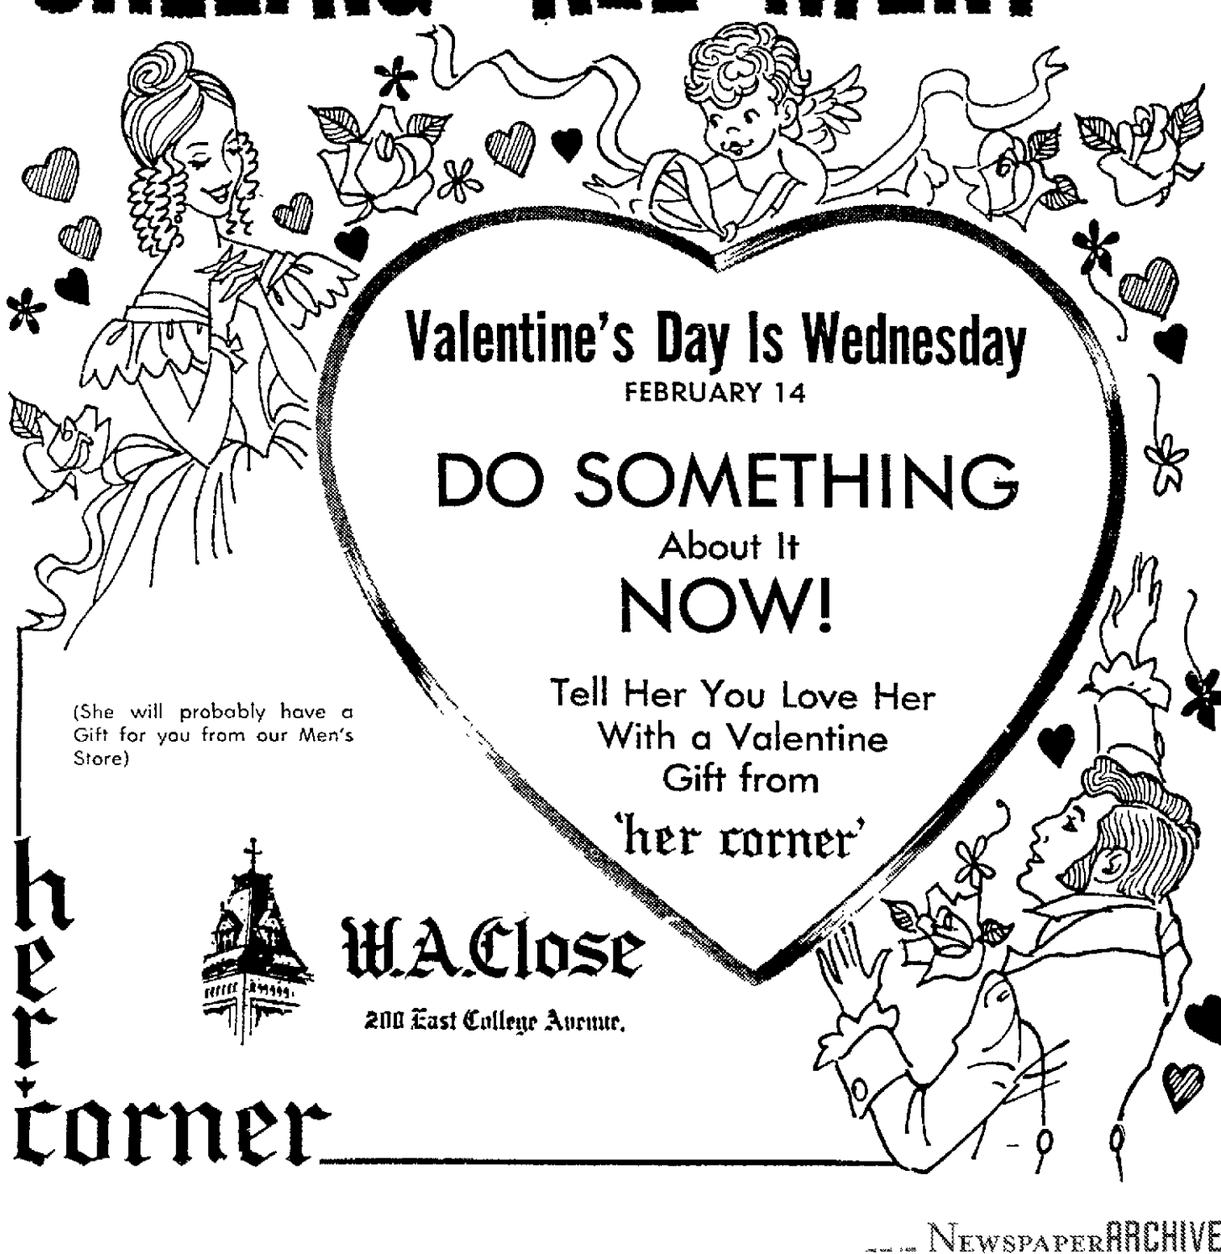

Participants ranged in age from eight to 14 years.

Eileen Connolly, in the 50-yard freestyle; Maud Hardacker in the 50-yard butterfly; Bruce Reynolds, in the 50-yard butterfly; Amy Savage in the 50-yard backstroke; and Marietta Martin in the 50-yard breaststroke were among the Appleton first place winners who set new standards. The same five, who are between 11 and 14 years old, also helped in relay victories.

Other individual first places for Appleton were garnered by Pam Bleier, Jeanne Martin and Barbara Pawlowski (two apiece) plus John Cannon, Maud Hardacker, Joey Hackbarth, Eric Rogers, Claire Cate, George Behnke and Bill Kuehmsted.

30-Year-Old Young Wins 2-Mile Run

Defeats Clarke, Pearce, Smith in Los Angeles Test

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

"I'll keep running as long as I can beat the kids," 30-year-old George Young said recently.

These were the kids Young beat Saturday when he ran two miles in 8:31.8 in an indoor track meet in Los Angeles:

Ron Clarke, the redoubtable Australian who holds a fistful of world distance-running records.

Kerry Pearce, an Australian who is a student at Texas, El Paso and had broken Clarke's indoor two-mile record a week earlier.

Tracy Smith, world indoor record holder for the three mile, now in the Army.

Kerry O'Brien, yet another Australian long-distance star with definite Olympic potential.

A science teacher in Casa Grande, Ariz., Young ran past the field with three laps left and held off late bids from Smith and O'Brien who finished second and third respectively, though both were timed in 8:32.6.

Clarke, who was ahead until Young took the lead ,finished in fourth place at 8:35.0 while Pearce who set some of the early pace, faded badly, finishing eighth in the nine-man field at 8:50.4.

Wins in 4:03.4

Elsewhere, Jim Ryun didn't quite succeed in his ambition of running two "quality" miles on consecutive nights, turning in a time of 4:03.4 in the Michigan State Relays in East Lansing Saturday.

Not that there's anything wrong with that time, but the night before in New York, the world record holder turned in the third fastest mile ever run on the boards, 3:57.5

In Los Angeles, Earl McCullouch of Southern California won the 60-yard high hurdles, with a speedy 6.9, beating out a classy field that included Willie Davenport and Leon Coleman. Lee Evans of San Jose State won the 440 in 47.8.

Four high jumpers cleared seven feet, with Valentin Gavrilo of Russia winning at 7-2. Ed Caruthers of the Pacific Coast Club cleared the same height while Otis Burrell of the Southern California Striders and Dick Fosbury of Oregon State made 7 feet.

John Vaughn of UCLA became the third pole vaulter to clear 17 feet indoors, winning at 17½. The first man to do it, world indoor record holder Bob Seagren of Southern California, finished second at 16-6½.

Charlie Greene won the 60-yard dash at 6.0. Martin McGrady took the 600 at 1.10.9, Ralph Doubell won the 1,000 at 2.08.2. Jim Kemp won the 500 at 57.5 Tim Danielson took the mile in 4:06.1 and George Woods took the shot put at 65-2½

Beloit Takes Second Place In the MC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beloit College, capitalizing on efforts by a fired-up Monmouth squad, climbed into second place in the Midwest Conference basketball standings during the weekend.

The Bucs, improving their conference record to 8-4 with a 65-56 victory over Coe Saturday, is close on the heels of Monmouth (9-4), which accommodated Beloit by knocking St Olaf out of the lead and into third place with an 8-5 mark

Monmouth faces Grinnell Tuesday in a contest crucial to the title chase

In other conference action Saturday, Lawrence University wound up in an eighth-place tie with Ripon after the Vikings fell to Cornell 75-64, and Ripon downed Grinnell 93-62.

Jim Jones, the conference's top scorer, produced only 15 points against Coe compared with his game scoring average of 22.4 Teammate Pete Chatilovicz was high for Beloit with 18 points.

Ripon led from early in the game and took an eight-point halftime lead. Ripon and Lawrence are 5-7 in the conference

Cornell is 6-4, Knox is 7-6, Carleton is 6-7 and Grinnell is 1-10.

IF YOU ARE LOOKING for a desirable, distinctive, independent business of proved success and exceptional public response from young and old, look at the fascinaitng facts about a BRATWURSTHAUS franchise. No other food and beverage establishment matches the unique character and charm of a BRATWURSTHAUS, the original old-world cafe featuring delicious sausage sandwiches of universal appeal and popularity. If you can make a moderate investment, you can own and operate a BRATWURSTHAUS without previous food experience. Our complete, responsible program of assistance starts with location-selection and carries through every detail of design, equipment, successful operation and promotion. If Man Ruins Earth, He Has Nowhere Else to Go

Carelessness Continues to Destroy Land, Air, Water

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

Three bold men, buttoned inside an Apollo spacecraft, are destined in coming months to leave earth and go exploring the moon.

They know of course, everyone knows, they will die should anything go seriously wrong with their supply of air, water or heat—in short, with their environment aboard the tiny spacecraft.

But mankind at home on earth is threatening ominously to destroy his own planet, by actions as careless as astronauts deliberately tampering with their life-support system. Man on earth is even running out of places to throw away his garbage and trash.

The earth is actually only one huge spaceship. It spins at 1,000 miles an hour; it wheels around the sun once a year at 66,960 m.p.h.; it is one captive planet of the sun whirling within the Milky Way galaxy at 630,000 m.p.h. on the sun's unknown cosmic mission.

Space Crew

Every human being thus is a member of a space crew.

Planet earth keeps them alive with one total environment, only one to supply the air, water, heat, food, all the materials to support all of its current 3.3-billion passengers. By some predictions, within 30 more years there will be five to seven billion passengers, all dependent upon and in turn influencing the earth's self-contained environment.

At accelerating pace, man is poisoning, polluting and abusing his earthship environment.

"We are exploiting the earth the way a parasite exploits its host. But if our host earth is killed, we have nowhere else to go," says Dr. Harold G. Cassidy, Yale University chemist.

Air in city and country alike is becoming increasingly polluted, at a rising risk to human health and life. Water in streams, lakes, ocean shores is becoming more contaminated, smelly, dangerous to health and aquatic life.

Destroyed Forests

Man in his tenure has caused the extinction of at least 300 species of animals, has destroyed forests and grasslands, and created dust bowls.

Uncontrolled noise impairs hearing, and "most urban Americans have forgotten what tranquility is," one conservationist observes.

Human populations explode around the world, and implode into cities. Slums erode human life and dignity. New tensions rise from crowding, from traffic jams, from loss of human privacy.

Of the 3.3 billion people on earth, at least two billion live "like steerage passengers or worse," assailed by hunger and disease, says Dr. Roger Revelle, director of the Center for Population Studies at Harvard University.

More people migrate to new or expanding suburbs, paving land with more asphalt, concrete and buildings, thereby affecting local weather and climate, adding new contaminations.

Urgent Themes

An Associated Press survey finds scientists, specialists, and various government and health officials stressing these urgent themes:

—Man has assumed, and behaved willy nilly, as though the atmosphere, rivers and lakes, the soil, all had unlimited ability to cleanse and repair themselves. Now he finds this is simply not so. Nor are the oceans an infinite sink for waste disposal.

—The earth's environment must be treated as an integrated whole. Air, water and land are intimately related; they affect one another. Man affects his environment: the changed environment affects him.

—Needed now is action "looking at total man in his total environment rather than taking a crisis or piecemeal approach to solving problems," declares a special report to the government entitled, "A Strategy for a Liveable Environment."

Anticipate Consequences

—Man must try to anticipate the consequences from new things he does. Great changes in rainfall, weather, bodies of water, may be triggered off inadvertently by seemingly innocuous manmade influences. Jet contrails and exhausts, manmade heat, might be such triggers.

—Environmental pollution is very serious, and growing worse. And little is known yet about the potential hazards from 500,000 to 600,000 synthetic chemicals and other compounds in use today.

—Critical problems call for new attitudes and ways of thinking.

One example is contained in a report from a specialist committee of the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council:

As the earth becomes more crowded, there is no longer an "away" in which to throw things away, it says, adding:

"Our whole economy is based on taking natural resources, converting them into things that are consumer products, selling them to the consumer, and then forgetting about them.

Only Users

"But there are no consumers—only users. The user employs the product, sometimes changes it in form, but does not consume it—he just discards it."

Closing the loop from user back to resource to remake the discards could be an answer, and "a product such as an automobile could be designed in the first place with return to the factory for remaking and reuse in mind," the report says.

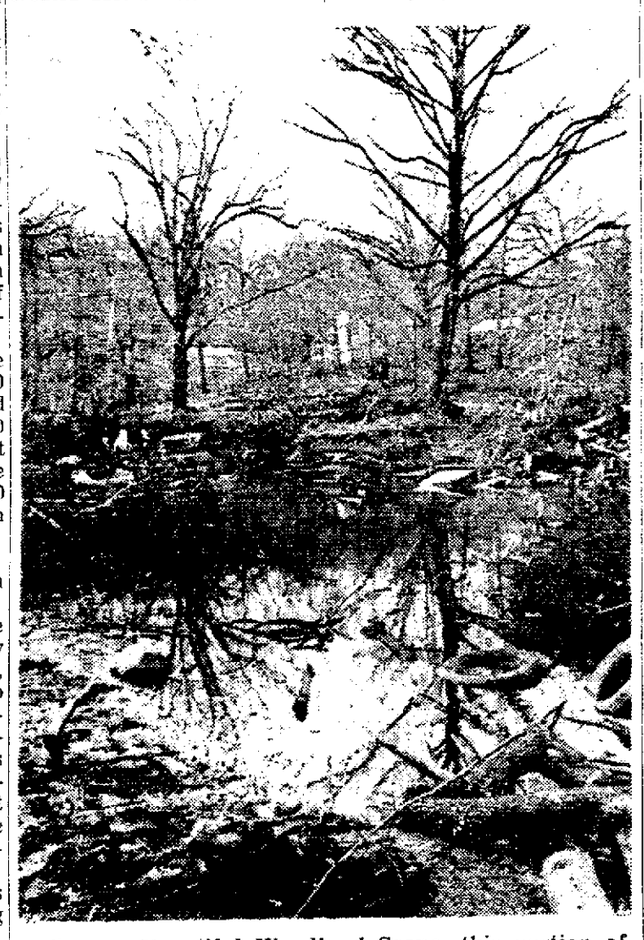

"We have accepted noise, foul air, dirty rivers as inevitable consequences of industrialization. This has been our psychology," says Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall. "But now we are changing our basic assumptions. We have been a filthy generation. What will become of our grandchildren if we don't change our approach?"

Nature, one scientist remarks, now is presenting her bills for man's reckless exploitation of his earthly environment.

Men in an Apollo spacecraft must all be responsible for their limited and crucial environment.

Says Dr. Cassidy: "We, capable of thought, must be the stewards of this spaceship earth. The goal is not only the survival of man, but survival with maintenance of quality."

Next: Will man accidentally freeze up his whole planet, or turn it into a hothouse?

Once a Beautiful Woodland Scene, this portion of New York City is now ruined and contaminated by junk and other waste. (AP Wirephoto)

Crisis in the Cities—VII

$20 Million in Improvement Costs Face Oshkosh in the Next Decade

By DAVID GIFFEY
Of The Paper Staff

OSHKOSH (AP)—The atmosphere of this old city would be totally foreign to its founders of the last century.

From a thriving 19th-century lumber town, Oshkosh is becoming a city of industrial and political diversity. Factories here manufacture, among other things, trucks, overalls and doors.

But there was a drought of activity which city officials blame for the crisis here—if one exists.

"It's impossible to do in 10 years what has been undone in decades," said Common Council President William Manske.

Three times in the past 10 years, referendum voters have retained a council-manager form of government—one which is seriously attempting to direct the city on a new course of development. Outspoken opponents of the administration remain, however, and they have said they will continue their efforts to bring back a mayor.

"If there is a crisis here, it is one of a burgeoning community," according to City Manager Angus Crawford. "We have turned the corner, and the city is on a tremendous upswing."

What is needed?

Crawford estimated $20-$25 million would cover the cost of "improvements that need to be made in the next 10 years."

What has been and is being done? Lots.

Current Projects

Under construction are incinerator and water treatment plant projects totaling about $2.5 million. A proposed $1.3 milion bond issue, likely to be approved this month, includes enough money to improve about six miles of arterial and residential streets.

Construction which began in 1967 totaled nearly $5 million, including $1 million in federal grants.

The city has pushed its limits to the west with a large annexation which is split from "old town" by U.S. 41. Industrial and residential development is reaching both north and south.

But the amoeba-like expansion of total area in Oshkosh is not taking place at the expense of downtown redevelopment. n January, the city paid $38,000 for an abandoned building a block from Main Street. Two adjacent sites are being purchased for off-street parking which probably will be completed by mid-summer. The sites, in addition to an existing parking ramp, will accommodate shoppers using downtown stores and a proposed multi-million dollar shopping center.

Private Capital

Razing of 22 buildings to make room for Park Plaza, which is expected to open in late 1969 or early 1970, began early last year. The $10 million project, expected to revitalize downtown Oshkosh and provide the nucleus for a six - county trade area, is being developed by Miles Kimball Company, and will be financed entirely with private capital. It will be constructed on an 18-acre site in the heart of Oshkosh.

There is no doubt about the costly and immediate need for "enlargement and improvement of municipal facilities," according to city officials.

But with the current bond issue, the city is faced with having bonded for about 75 per cent of its debt limit.

Revenue bonds are being considered.

The city's storm and sanitary sewer separation program is about 40 per cent complete. The incinerator and the water plant addition are scheduled for completion this year. Parks and recreation areas are being developed with an eye toward a federal LAWCON grant to supplement $35,000 of bond money at Red Arrow Park. A new fire station is on its way. Planning costs alone will be at least $20,000. Many miles of streets need improvement. The problem is one of priorities on a limited budget.

Downtown Parking

The downtown parking program is on the move. It will be financed with parking revenues. A street-lighting program, one of the most ambitious in the area, is brigtening every street in the city.

"I don't think this city can possibly do the job alone without federal or state aids," Manske said. "We're just going to have to get our share of the tax dollar."

Schools too are needed as city and university population grows. With nearly 10,000 students at Wisconsin State, more faculty members are expected. Their children will add to the school enrollments. A new 700-student junior high school opened last year. Plans started immediately for a second senior high school.

And the largest single expense, municipal salaries, is increasing. Last year, city employes, excluding teachers, received an increase averaging about 5½ per cent. Crawford called that increase, "generally in keeping with economic levels of the community."

Salaries for beginning teachers went up in the past year from $5,400 to $6,100.

To meet the challenge, policymakers have indicated they will apply for outside aids, whether they agree with them in principle or not. An emphasis is being placed on regional planning with the city's new participation in the Fox Valley Council of Governments and a continuing relationship with surrounding cities calling themselves the Alliance of Cities.

A master sewer study, by professional consultants, is being done in the city and surrounding areas. Officials are exploring possible use of the incinerator by outside communities. There exist needs for bridges and overpasses to facilitate traffic movement.

Manske predicted the development of Oshkosh as a resort-convention center. The location is ideal, he said, with Lake Winnebago forming the eastern city limits.

Social Problems

"This is what the wave of the future is," he said. "Here is Oshkosh, ready to be re-discovered again."

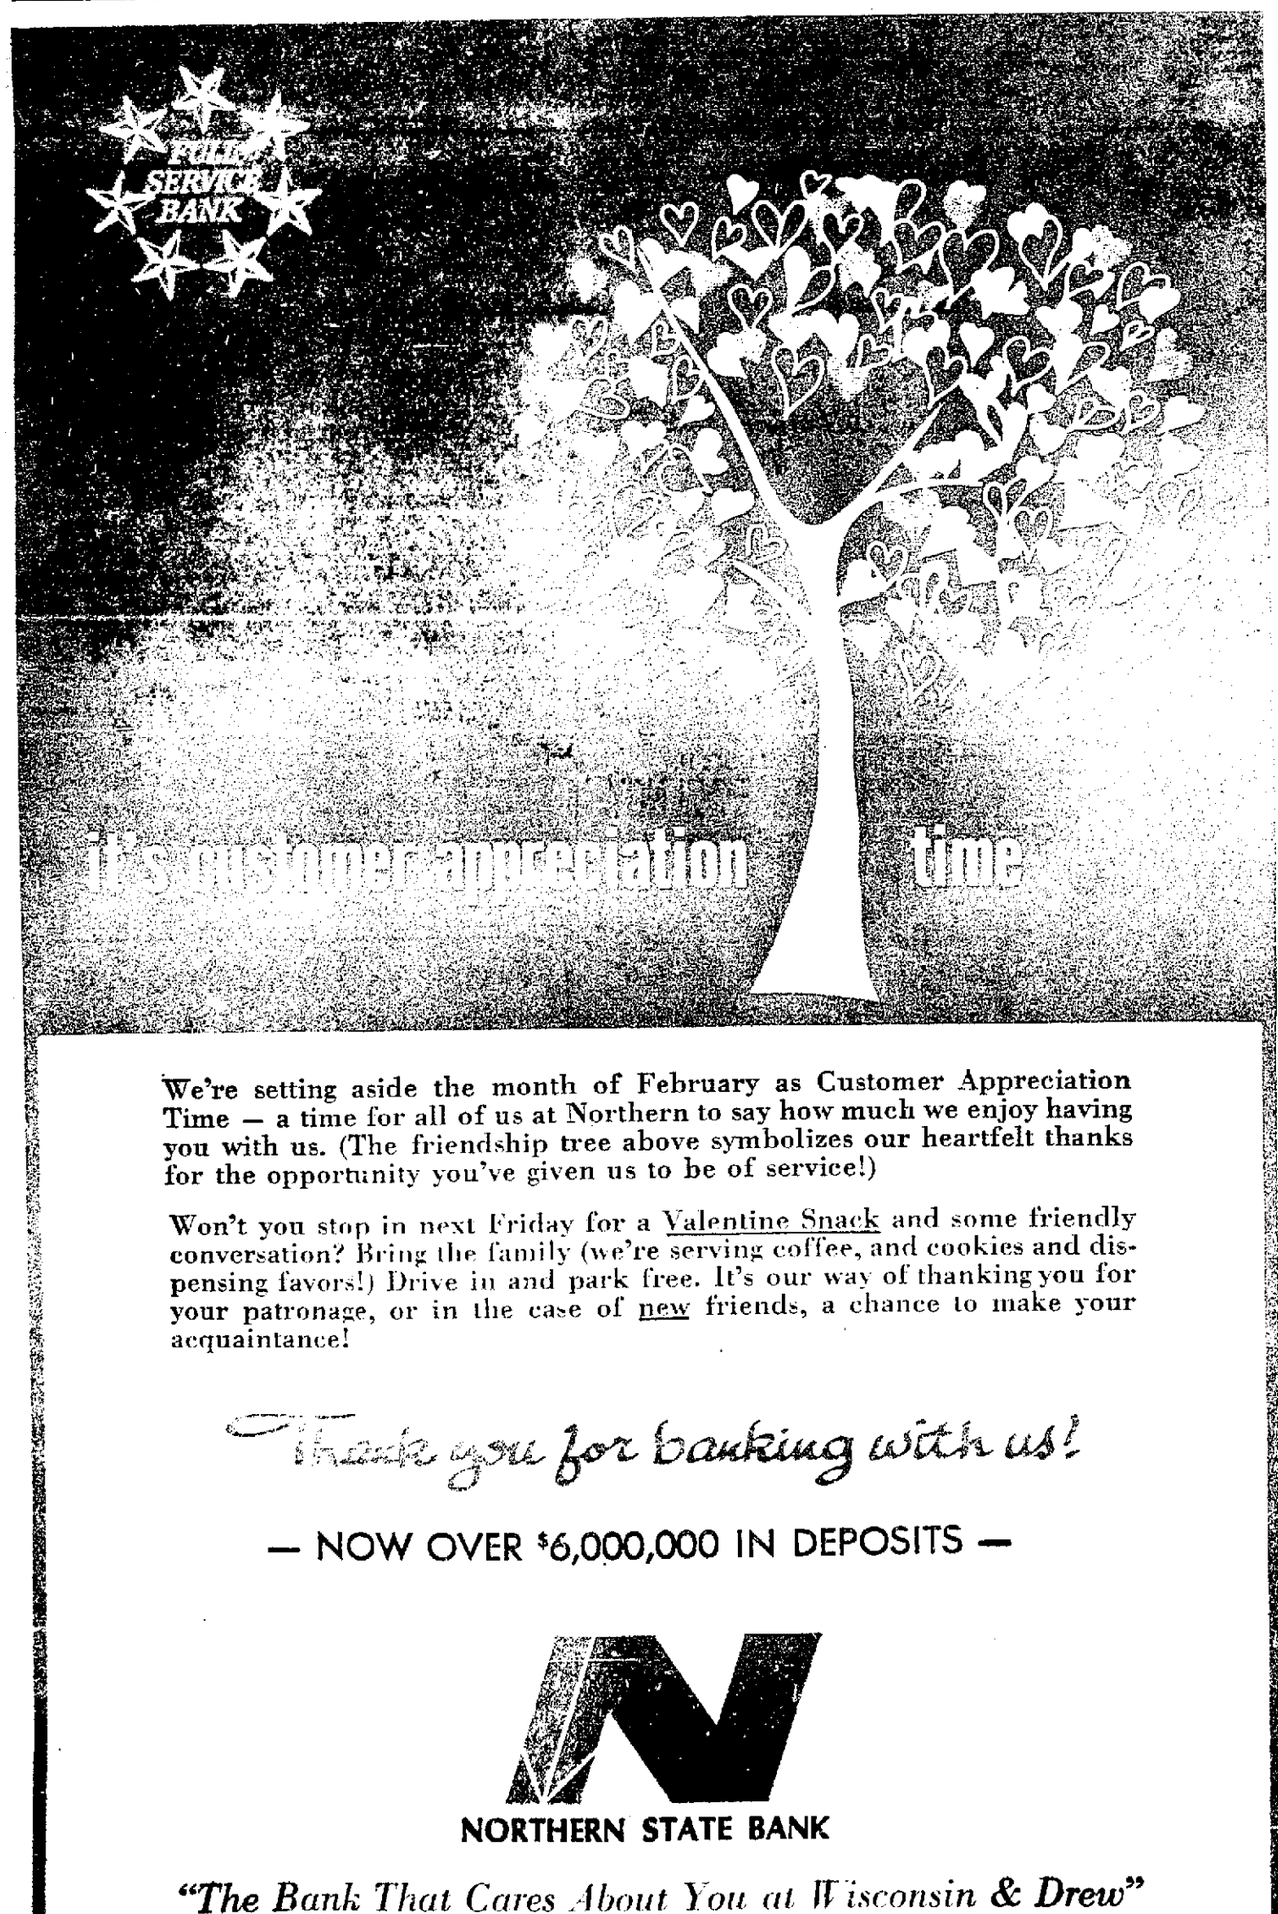

Less obvious are social problems. They could become issues at any time. The impact of a growing university located in the heart of the city will be felt as the institution expands.

There is a need for programs directed toward elderly persons on fixed incomes. Interest groups are beginning to discuss open housing, but it is not yet a council issue. Crawford said, "Open housing will confront policymakers in the future."

Last year the council prepared a project list to define, however generally, long range needs. Oshkosh is in the midst of a "continuous and constant search," Crawford said.

Manske said, "This city has had to undergo an evolution."

Father Groppi On Probation For Two Years

fined $500 and put on two years' probation today on a charge of resisting arrest.

County Judge F. Ryan Duffy Jr. first sentenced Groppi to six months in the House of Correction, then stayed the sentence and imposed probation. He told Groppi that if the priest were arrested again during the period of probation, he would reinstate the jail term.

Groppi was convicted by a jury last Friday of resisting arrest during an attempted march last August.

Thieu Asks Extra American Troops

MY THO, Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today more U.S. troops are needed to hasten victory in the Vietnam war.

"We can hold them (the Communists)," Thieu said, "but to end the war faster is another matter."

There are now more than 500,000 U.S. soldiers in South Vietnam.

Thieu said the recent series of Communist attacks on South Vietnam's major population centers shows that one Viet Cong battalion in a city "demands at least five times as many troops on our side to destroy them."

"They can do that because they have no responsibillities, they don't have to protect roads, bridges and outposts and they don't have to worry about hurting people," Thieu said of the Communists.

Thieu made his comments during a helicopter tour of four Mekong Delta cities hit by the Communist attacks.

Thieu said the Communists might launch a second wave of attacks against South Vietnamese cities. But he said that if the Viet Cong had been hurt in the recent fighting "they could go back to the countryside and spoil the pacification program, and meanwhile stay around the cities to fix our troops."

He referred to Communist activity near the cities that would force government troops to guard the cities instead of providing protection for pacification teams in the countryside.

Hue Bombed

On the war front, Vietnamese warplanes bombed and strafed Communist forces holding out in Hue's Citadel today after U.S. Marine reinforcements were sent into the walled fortress for the first time in the two-week battle.

The allied assaults were part of an all-out effort to drive the Communist North Vietnamese regulars and Viet Cong guerrillas from areas they have held since Jan 31.

The Communists, holding the Citadel's southeast corner, put up a hail of .50-caliber anti-aircraft fire at the attacking planes. Cloud cover lifted to permit the first air attack on the fortress in 10 days.

Marine Attacks

Two companies of Marines—about 300 to 400 men—entered the Citadel from landing craft sent up the Perfume River Sunday and another two companies of Leathernecks were taken to the Citadel's northern wall by assault boats today.

The Marines have already recaptured the southern part of Hue in a series of street battles in the old imperial capital since the Communists attacked Hue in the early stages of their big offensive against 35 cities and towns. South Vietnamese troops pushed the Communist troops into one corner of the Citadel but had been unble to drive them out.

The U.S. Marine force in Hue was about 1,000 men. AP correspondent George McArthur reported from Hue that the Marines were meeting only occasional sniper fire in the southern part of the city 400 miles north of Saigon.

Local Guerrillas

He said there were indications all North Vietnamese troops had withdrawn from the fighting for the south side, leaving only local guerrillas, including some who infiltrated among the 30,000 civilian refugees.

Lt. Col. Phan Van Khoa, province chief, mayor of Hue and district military commander, said Communist troops in Hue executed 300 civilians Friday and buried them in a mass grave south of the city. He said the grave was in an area not yet reached by allied forces but that his reports of the executions were precise and unquestionable.

The victims were province officials, technicians, policemen and others who long had been marked for death by the Communists, he said.

A Vietnamese civilian reported 125 to 150 Catholics being led from the city as captives Saturday.

Fighting in Saigon

Fighting also continued in Saigon and its suburbs for the 13th day, and communiques and field reports said U.S. and South Vietnamese infantrymen, helicopter gunships and fighter-

Vance, Park Meet for 3 Hours

SEOUL (AP) — South Korean President Chung Hee Park is reported considering a trip to talk with President Johnson if U.S. presidential envoy Cyrus Vance doesn't resolve the U.S.-South Korean rift over Korean security.

Vance and Park met for the first time today. Vance's mission is to quiet South Korean fears that the United States is tending toward appeasement in the Pueblo incident and neglecting the increase in the infiltration of armed North Koreans into the South.

Park and Vance met for three hours today. The U.S. Embassy said the talks included a "free, friendly and candid exchange of views," while a spokesman for Park said the meeting was held in a "sincere atmosphere."

Neither side would say whether any progress was made.

Johnson sent Park a personal letter last Thursday, and Vance was expected to deliver another such letter today. Informed Korean sources said Johnson may have invited Park to Washington and, depending on the results of his talks with Vance, Park may decide to go.

Meet With North

In a move welcome to the South Koreans, the American officers who head the U.N. Command in Korea asked for a meeting with North Korea to air claims of Communist truce violations "in and through the demilitarized zone."

North Korea rejected the command's proposal to meet today, but it was indicated that the Communists proposed meeting Wednesday and that this would be acceptable to the U.N. side.

A U.S. military spokesman said four North Koreans crossed into South Korea around midnight Sunday, but American sentries repelled them in a brief clash. No casualties were reported.

There was speculation that Vance would also meet with North Korean representatives before his scheduled departure Tuesday afternoon. The United States and North Korea have held five secret meetings since Pean sources said they believed the Communists seized the U.S. intelligence-gathering ship Pueblo Jan. 23.

No official reports have come out of the talks, but reliable Ko-

three injured Pueblo crewmen and the body of one sailor who died would be returned soon.

The secret meetings miffed the South Koreans, traditionally strong allies of the United States, who are more concerned about the security threat raised by the Communist commando raid into Seoul Jan. 21 in an attempt to assassinate President Park.

The commandos failed, but a police chief was killed in a gun battle with them only 800 yards from the presidential mansion. Allied forces later killed 27 of the infiltrators and captured one.

South Korean officials also were expected to ask Vance for return of operational control of their 560,000-man armed forces, now held by American Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel III, the commander of U.N. forces in South Korea.

The South Koreans also have been pressing for more U.S. help in modernizing and expanding their armed forces. President Johnson has asked Congress for $100 million in special military aid to Korea, but Park's government said it was more concerned about fundamental security problems than any one-time appropriation.

Some Korean legislators have suggested withdrawal of the 48,000-man Korean force in Vietnam to meet the crisis at home unless the United States takes what they consider a firmer stand in Korea.

'Flames All Over,' Trucker Says

Jet With Crew of 2 Slams Into San Francisco Bridge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two men in a Navy jet trainer, hurtling through thick fog, crashed in flames into the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, scorching girders and tearing crosspieces Sunday.

Shattered remains of the T33, which had taken off from nearby Alameda Naval Air Station, continued past the five-lane westbound upper bridge roadway and about 180 feet down to the water. Engineers said a damaged bridge girder would have to be replaced.

Coast Guard boats and navy divers operating from a barge searched for the two fliers in 50 feet of water. The search, suspended because of darkness, resumes today.

Both From California

The Navy identified the two men as Lt. Anthony V. Miller, 33, of Palm Desert, Calif., and Lt. Bruce C. Turnbull, 34, of Los Angeles. Both were members of Reserve Attack Squadron 773 stationed at Los Alamitos Naval Air Station in Southern California. The Navy said they were on a routine weekend training mission.

Seconds before the crash, truck driver Ronald Terry of El Sobrante was heading toward San Francisco with 8,050 gallons of jet fuel in a tank truck.

"...I hear this jet coming," he said. "I look up and I see a big streak. There were flames all over the place. The stuff was raining down on me. I thought my truck blew up..."

There were no reports of any injuries on the bridge. Bits of wreckage slightly damaged Terry's truck.

The two fliers crashed into the cantilever section about two miles from the Oakland end. Girders were scorched within a 20-foot area. One was badly dented. Steel crosspieces were torn from their rivets, and an access ladder was wrenched loose.

Scorched debris from the plane including a blistered Red-White-and-Blue Navy star insignia, lay scattered on the roadway. San Francisco-bound traffic was halted 2½ hours.

It was the second time a Navy plane flying out of the Alameda air station has struck the 8½-mile long bridge. The first was in 1943, when Navy Lt. J. L. Morrelle, 24, a reservist from Georgetown, Tex., was killed when his single-seater hit suspension cables.

The bridge, one of the largest of its type in the world, is part tunnel, part cable, part truss and part cantilever.

Soviet Union Adheres To N. Vietnam Terms

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union publicly urged on the Vietnamese Communists to new victories today while Kremlin leaders secretly discussed peace prospects with U.N. Secretary-General U Thant.

After his talks, Thant departed for London to confer with Prime Minister Harold Wilson. He had come to Moscow from India where he met with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles and a North Vietnamese diplomat.

Britain is cochairman with the Soviet Union of the Geneva conference which ended the French-Indochina war in 1954. India is a member of the International Control Commisison for Vietnam.

Continued Aid

Complete Soviet support for the peace programs of Hanoi and the Viet Cong, and promises of continued aid in fighting the United States. were given here while Thant was meeting with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, Communist Party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev and President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

The talk with Kosygin was described as friendly. The other talks were not officially described.

Thant refused to talk to reporters before he left.

"I am sorry but I have had a long trip and I am very tired. Please forgive me," Thant had a Soviet official tell reporters waiting at the airport.

Pravda, official organ of the Soviet Communist Party, reported Thant's visit without comment but ran a long front-page editorial supporting what it called Hanoi's "clear-cut position . . . leading to a solution of the Vietnamese problem."

'No Obstacles'

The paper noted with approval that the Communist formula calls for an unconditional halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

"There are no obstacles whatever for the United States to enter into talks if it wants this seriously," Pravda said.

Communist China's official New China News Agency charged that Thant went to India last week "to peddle the U.S. peace talks scheme in collusion with Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi." The broadcast called Kosygin, Wilson and Yugoslav President Tito "American lackeys who are whipping up a new peace talks campaign."

The Soviet attitude has shown no change since the Viet Cong launched their military offensive two weeks ago.

Soviet leaders also gave personal assurances of support last week to the Viet Cong representative in Moscow, who has talked of continuing the war in South Vietnam until the Americans get out.

Thant's London schedule called for a meeting Tuesday morning with Foreign Secretary George Brown and luncheon with Wilson before departing for New York.

Road to Peace

Wilson said Sunday after a visit to Johnson that he supported President Johnson's San Antonio formula as the road to peace in Vietnam. He said he had carried the proposal to Kosygin when he visited Moscow Jan. 22-24.

Johnson in a speech in San Antonio, Tex., last September promised an end to the bombing of North Vietnam when there is assurance from the Communist side that this will lead to prompt, productive peace talks. North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh said last week the talks could begin as soon as the bombing stopped.

British Conservative Party leader Edward Heath accused Wilson on his return to London Sunday of "lecturing" gjohnson instead of supporting the President when, in a speech at the White House Friday night, he advised the President to ignore "impatient and exasperated demands" for intensification of the fighting. But the New York Times said it was thought Wilson "spoke with the President's advance knowledge and approval. In other words, Mr. Johnson used his visitor to strengthen his own hand against advocates of escalation."

Discredit Saigon

In Paris, neutral sources with close contacts in Vietnam suggested that the aim of the Viet Cong offensive in the cities was to unseat or discredit the Saigon government to keep it out of future peace negotiations.

These sources also said a chance to start negotiations apparently was close recently, but that prospects have dimmed considerably as a result of the military situation.

They said the Viet Cong goal appears to be to kill, kidnap or threaten so many government officials that President Nguyen Van Thieu's government can no longer be considered operating, and any peace negotiations would be between the United States on one side and North Vietnam and the Viet Cong on the other.

No Part Secure

In the United States, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said Sunday that the Communist offensive against South Vietnam's cities had made clear that no part of the country is secure.

"The hamlets, villages, and the cities of Vietnam are seen to be honeycombed with a NLF (National Liberation Front) infrastructure which has undoubtedly existed for many years, which is still intact and which may well be stronger than ever," Mansfield said in a speech at the University of Maine. Mansfield also disputed allied casualty claims in the offensive and said body counts "may well be over-inflated. The U.S. Command has reported more than 27,000 killed of an estimated enemy force of 60,000.

Mansfield said the bombing of North Vietnam had not accomplished its purpose and should

Amherst Junction Boy, Sister Killed

MILWAUKEE — Two children of a rural Amherst Junction family were killed here Sunday morning when the car in which they were riding collided with another vehicle at a southside intersection.

Rhonda Loberg, 6, and her 7-year-old brother, John, children of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Loberg, were thrown from the car on impact and both hit the curb. Rhonda was dead on arrival at a city hospital and John died shortly after.

In the same car but not injured were Mr. and Mrs. Loberg and four other children —Bonnie, 17; Carol, 16; Sandra, 10; and Willie, 9.

The Loberg family, which had gone to Milwaukee Sunday morning to visit relatives, lives on a farm one-half mile north of Nelsonville on Portage County Trunk ZZ.

Funeral services for the two children are pending at the Voie Funeral Home, Iola.

Cathleen S. Geisel, 18, of Cincinnati, Ohio, a student at Marquette University, died Sunday in a pre-dawn car accident in Oak Creek.

A West Allis man, David C. Raash, 21, died Sunday when his car plunged off a Waukesha County road.

The body of Daniel Stelmaszewski, 19, of Superior, was found Sunday along State 29 about two miles west of Thorp, Clark County sheriff's deputies said his car had left the road, jumped a stream and landed on an opposite bank. He was alone in the vehicle.

Bum Turns Down $19,219

44 Cents Is Richness Enough

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'd rather stay at the bottom of the barrell. I'm not ready yet to go over to the other side."

With these words bearded, tattered Clint Wescott, 51, who says he's been on the bum for 15 years, refused $19,219.

"Hand me a dollar," he said, "I'll take it—buy a little drink, a little smoke. But I don't want the nineteen thousand.

"I just don't want the money."

Sleeps in Weeds

The money belongs to Wescott, who sleeps in weeds in a vacant downtown lot and lives with his friends "One-eyed Jack," "Big Swede," and "The Missing Man."

His current assets are 44 cents, he says.

The money is from the foreclosure sale in 1961 of a gas station in Burnt Hills, N.Y., near Schenectady, that Wescott abandoned in 1953 when he headed west. The $15,124 sale price plus interest are in two bank accounts.

A law firm, appointed by the New York Supreme Court to handle the case, has searched for Wescott since 1961.

In Burnt Hills, attorney John P. Brown read the story.

Being on the Bum Appeals to Clint Westcott, 51, who has refused $19,000 owed to him by two New York banks. After 15 years as a vagabond, he just wants money a dollar at a time. (AP Wirephoto)

Brown phoned the Los Angeles Times and told of the money owed Wescott.

Said Brown: "Finding Clinton is a great relief. The sooner I hand over the money to him, the better I will like it." He said Wescott had been a popular resident of the town and had built e$ n ho $on with his own hands.

"Then suddenly one day 15 years ago he said the hell with it and took off," said Brown.

Brown sent a letter to the newspaper carrying a separate note informing Wescott of his wealth.

'No Cares'

"It's not a bad life, Wescott said. "No cares." A man lives in the weeds with $30, $40 in his pocket—it's a different story. A few dimes, pennies There's no danger of anything.

"I'm rich. This is all the richer I want to be. Enough to buy a short jug. That's all I want out of life now. No taxes, no rush to work. Rush home from work. Nothing.

"One of these days I'll go straight. I'll climb out of the bottom of the barrel. But I'm not ready. Not now anyway."

Britain Reportedly Set To End Nuclear Status

LONDON (AP) — Britain will be a nonnuclear nation by 1971 according to confidential government plans, a leading defense writer said today.

Chapman Pincher of the Daily Express said the government's goal is the abolition of all tactical nuclear weapons under independent British control, and the placing of the navy's four Polaris submarines under some form of international control.

Pincher said reversion to conventional weaponry was foreseen in the recent defense spending cuts, but that the nuclear implications of the moves were kept quiet on government orders.

The moves leading to the nonnuclear goal, Pincher said, include the scrapping of aircraft carriers which carry tactical nuclear bombers, cancellation of orders for the American F111 nuclear strike bombers and the phasing out of nuclear roles for existing planes, no further nuclear supplies to the British Rhine army and the virtual abandonment of nuclear research and development.

Pincher said the plan has appalled Britain's defense chiefs but is a major victory for the Labor Party's left wing.

Wallace 5th of Century

3rd Party Candidates Mostly Unsuccessful

BY CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — George C. Wallace's decision to run for president makes him the fifth major third-party candidate of the 20th century. None has come close to winning.

But one, Theodore Roosevelt, ran a strong second in 1912 and had a lot to do with Woodrow Wilson's victory.

The others were less successful. Sen. Robert LaFollette Sr. won only his home state of Wisconsin in 1924. In 1948, States Rights Party candidate Strom Thurmond and Progressive Party nominee Henry A. Wallace failed to prevent President Harry S Truman's re-election.

George Wallace declared in announcing his candidacy last week he thinks he can win.

May be Optimistic

The former Alabama governor noted that with three candidates in the race he could win a state's entire electoral vote with as little as 34 per cent of its popular vote.

While Wallace's estimate of his own political strength may be optimistic, his knowledge of history was accurate.

In 1912, Roosevelt failed to wrest the Republican nomination from President William H. Taft, his chosen successor four years earlier. He formed the Progressive Party and ran against Taft and Wilson, the Democratic candidate.

Wilson carried 40 states with 435 electoral votes, to six with 88 votes for Roosevelt and two with eight votes for Taft.

But, in 26 of those 40 states, Wilson polled less than half of the combined vote and was victorious solely because of the GOP split. These included such key states as New York, Illinois and Ohio.

Wilson's popular vote—6,286,214—was less than the combined total of 7,699,942 for the two Republicans. It was even less than the 6,409,106 polled in 1908 by Democrat William Jennings Bryan when he lost to Taft, who drew 7,679,006 and had an electoral majority of 321 to 162

In 1924, LaFollette ran against Republican President Calvin Coolidge and Democrat John W. Davis. The senator polled 4,822,856 votes to 15,725,016 for Coolidge and 8,385,586 for Davis.

Of the 35 states Coolidge carried, he won 13 with less than 50 per cent of the vote, mostly small border and Western states. The ones he carried outright included all the big states

Thurmond's 1948 candidacy stemmed from the Democratic National Convention's adoption of a strong civil-rights platform. The then-South Carolina governor captured control of the regular Democratic machinery and electoral votes of Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and his home state.

In the same election, Henry Wallace polled 509,559 votes in New York, which Republican nominee Thomas E. Dewey carried by about 60,000 votes. But Truman won the election by carrying California by 17,000 votes and Ohio by 7,000 despite strong Wallace showings.

No Required Majority

If Truman had lost those two states the election would have been thrown into the House for the first time since 1824, since neither candidate would have had the required electoral majority.

In 1960, an effort by some Southern segregationists to force the election into the House failed. States-rights electors carried Alabama and Mississippi, but John F. Kennedy won enough states for an electoral majority

Even if Wallace fails to win, he could repeat Thurmond's 1948 showing and win some Southern states The big question then would be whether the two major candidates would split the remaining states evenly or whether one would win enough to get elected.

Minor Price Gains

NFO to Continue Holding of Grain

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The National Farmers Organization said today it will "outlast the grain trade" with its withholding action despite no appreciable price gains after a month of boycotting markets in 30 states.

Prices for corn, oats, wheat, rye, soybeans and sorghums have edged upward only pennies since the militant farmer organization announced its sales embargo Jan. 11.

Trade specialists say that in addition to the NFO action factors involved in higher prices include increased exports, a big farmer turnout to join the government's 1968 acreage diversion program, grains held off the market under government loan and the political tension in Southeast Asia.

Picture Cloudy

The result is a cloudy picture of what effect the withholding action has had, if any.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley points to a fresh one-cent hike in corn prices at Chicago as evidence that the flow of corn is beginning to stop. Dealers, however, report neither shortage nor stockpiling.

Staley says farmers can outlast the grain traders as long as grain can be stored under government loan at prices equal to or higher than the market price, a current condition.

But Bob Skinner of the Iowa Grain and Feed Dealers Association thinks the boycott has stalled. "If all farmers would stop selling grain it would affect the market in a hurry," said Skinner. "I don:t think we are going to see any effects."

Boycott Ill - Timed

U.S. Rep. Mark Andrews, R-N.D., feels the boycott was ill-timed. "Once the grain is produced, individual holding back doesn't work too well. Generally, the middleman can wait," Andrews told a Missouri farmer meeting last week.

On the Chicago market Friday, No. 2 corn sold for $1.18 a bushel, about five cents more than on Jan. 11. The NFO is holding out for $1.50.

Soybeans traded Friday went for $2.73. seven cents above the Jan. 11 price. The NFO is seeking $3 a bushel. Wheat was near $1 66—up 36 cents from Jan. 11—with the NFO asking $2 in its pledge of "no price, no production."

Staley is urging his members to sign up to hold back 50 per cent of their grain acreage next season and to seal the current supply for distribution over the next 18 months.

Plans remained firm to extend the withholding action to meat and then to milk at undisclosed later dates.

The NFO keeps secret both the timetable for its actions and its total membership.

Withholding actions were called on livestock in 1962 and 1964, and on milk last March. The NFO claimed some success in each, which dealers discounted.

The Justice Department stepped in to halt the milk boycott.

Housing Aid Set For Wittenberg

HUD to Supplement Leasing Program In Units for Elderly

WITTENBERG — Fourteen low-rental housing units for the elderly recently have been approved for a federally assisted leasing program.

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has contracted with the Wittenberg Housing Authority to provide financial assistance for part of the rent on these units.

The program will help solve acute housing problems in the village. The 14-unit building is the Kersten Building.

Frank Sell, local authority chairman, said the rent not covered by HUD will be paid by the tenants.

This program o fleasing privately owned existing dwellings is one of several new public housing techniques authorized by the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965.

Leases may run from one to five years and are renewable, Sell explained. The dwellings will remain on the tax rolls.

He said smaller housing units could enter into a similar contract with HUD.

The local authority's next meeting is Feb. 19 in the Roger Schmidt office.

Guernsey Convention

State Educator Sees Need For System Collaboration

Post-Crescent Farm Editor

A prominent state educator invited Wisconsin Guernsey dairymen to join in seeking answers to problems facing the state's growing education system.

Angus Rothwell, executive director of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education (CCHE), pointed to the need for better educated leaders not only within the agricultural industry but in all other walks of life in the state.

Rothwell was keynoter for the Wisconsin Guernsey Breeders Association's 43rd convention banquet at the Conway Hotel Saturday night.

"We have problems ahead," he warned, "and unless we work together the problems will become more serious."

Problems facing the U.S. such as the international situation, racial strife, crime, health in the form of air, water and soil pollution, conservation and ways to continue our prosperity, will not be resolved by the under-educated, he reminded.

"There will be more of the educated in higher positions than in past years," he said, ans many of them "your sons and daughters."

Rothwell noted that Wisconsin has enjoyed an outstanding reputation for educating its youth. Almost 90 per cent of its grade school graduates finish senior high school he observed. But the new change is toward higher education in one form or another.

The CCHE's job is to work with the university and its branches, extension centers, vocational schools and teachers' colleges, and make them ready for the influx of students.

Since 1960 the state's population has increased only 5 per cent while the number of persons going on for higher education has increased 150 per cent. Thus a smaller group is asked to pay for it.

The problem becomes serious because the great increase in population has been in the below 21 age bracket of youths who are not yet contributing to the tax rolls.

At Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, the student population was 2,200 in 1960. Fall enrollments for 1968 through 1970 are expected to reach 10,000 per year, or double the present population at the University campus in Madison.

The 18 new vocational school districts in the state also are expected to attract large numbers of high school graduates.

Alter Policy

With the opening of five branch university campuses including Green Bay and Fond du Lac this year, and others in Baraboo and West Bend next year, this phase of the state's educational system should be ample for the time, he said.

Rothwell predicted the time may come when the state may be forced to alter its present open door policy of permitting students to attend schools in any area of the state. Future students may be shifted to less crowded schools, he said.

The educator reminded the dairymen that their industry has benefited considerably from the present high degree of sophistication. He saw a future need for more basic and applied research, and public service through the schools such as community education programs.

Rothwell likened the future education financing task to an industry trying to find economies in its operation but retaining the most able leaders.

Guernsey Princess

The association named its first Guernsey princess, Helen Fischer, route 1, Cumberland. Runners-up were Sandra Polzin, route 2, Cadott and Cathy Sattler, route 1, Malone. Miss Sattler is the daughter of state director Howard Sattler, a member of the Calumet County Association.

The first state junior association also was formed with 64 charter members. Cynthia Wehrman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Wehrman, route 2, Black Creek, was named a secretary of the board of directors. Wehrman is president of the Outagamie County Guernsey Breeders Association. Outagamie and Calumet County associations sponsored the convention.

Farmers to Attend Agronomy Seminars At New London High

NEW LONDON — About 120 Waupaca and Outagamie County farmers will be taking part in a five-session seminar on agronomy beginning at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the high school.

The program is jointly sponsored by the University of Wisconsin Agronomy Department; New London High School; First State Bank, New London, and the extension offices of Waupaca and Outagamie counties.

Each class will be two hours long and run on consecutive Wednesdays beginning this week. Topics include corn, small grains, soybeans and forage production and the latest in weed control. Instrtructors will be Elwood Brickbauer, Leon Wrage, Charles Krueger and Ronald Doersch, of the University of Wisconsin department.

Hear Portage Judge

NEW LONDON — Portage County Judge James Levi, one of three candidates for the circuit court seat for Waupaca, Portage and Wood counties, will be the speaker at the 6:30 p.m. Tuesday Lions Club meeting at the Rainbow Supper Club.

Shoreland Zoning Ready for Adoption

Board to Name New Coordinator

Two resolutions tied to the new state water quality law will come before Outagamie County supervisors Tuesday.

One will call for the adoption of the shoreland zoning ordinance, which is the first of three-part compliance required by April 1 under state law.

The second resolution will ask approval of the appointment of Frank Charlesworth, county surveyor, for the newly-created post of coordinator of public services. The executive committee is recommending Charlesworth for the post, which primarily will entail enforcement of shoreland zoning.

If Charlesworth's appointment is approved, the post of county surveyor will be phased out by him and his assistant. County officials have no immediate plans for a replacement.

Others Expected

If supervisors adopt the shoreland or flood plain portion of the shoreland zoning program, approval of sanitary code and subdivision regulations can be expected in March. The Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission is coordinating compliance by Outagamie and eight other counties.

The new coordinator post was created last fall and Charlesworth's salary has been recommended at $905 per month. He was recommended from a number of candidates because of his engineering experience and knowledge of the county. He was surveyor about 10 years.

A third resolution to face supervisors will request that $15,000 be transferred from the reserve contingency fund to provide mobile dental equipment, including an x-ray unit, for the county hospital.

Dr. C. A. Frye, Winnebago State Hospital dental program director, and a state official from Madison, have called present dental facilities outmoded, and urged updating, Eugene Speener, superintendent, has said.

The funds would be used to update existing equipment and purchase a special dental chair which would allow treatment of patients in their rooms.

If approved, a dentist will work eight hours a week treating hospital patients instead of the present two. Speener said the present service provides the bare minimum in emergency

Milk Is Next

NFO Inaugurates Livestock Boycott

The National Farmers Organization (NFO) started its livestock holding action at 10 a.m. today throughout its 30-state area.

Members in the Fox River Valley area were expected to be notified through the NFO's calling system this morning.

This is the second of a three-phase system action scheduled this winter by the NFO to boost farmer prices on grain, livestock and milk.

The grain action, which is expected to have little immediate effect on the Fox River Valley except as it contributes to a national picture, is about three weeks old.

Withholding of milk is expected to follow shortly. NFO President Orin Lee Staley has indicated that by the time the milk withholding action begins to take effect, the other phases should be reaching a simultaneous reaction on the market and force buyers to purchase these commodities from the farmers at NFO stipulated prices.

Pat Tienor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Tienor, is recipient of the DAR good citizenship award at Brillion High School.

Guest Concert Plans Set at New London

NEW LONDON — An advance ticket sale is underway for the annual Mid-Winter Guest Band Concert Feb. 20 at the Washington School auditorium.

Instrumental music departments at the senior and junior high school are sponsoring the 8 p.m. concert. Guest this year will be a French horn player John Barrows, a professor of music at the University of Wisconsin.

Barrows will conduct a clinic for school band members at 1 p.m. Feb. 20 and then rehearse with the high school band for the remainder of the afternoon.

The senior high school concert band directed by Don Griebenow and the junior high school concert band directed by Cornelis Vander Zeyden will share the program.

Tickets can be purchased from any band member or by contacting the senior high school business office.

Educational Awards

Legionnaire Banquet Set in New Holstein

CHILTON — Seventy American Legion posts will be in attendance at the annual Americanism Banquet sponsored by the 6th District, Department of Wisconsin, at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at Whitey's Altona, New Holstein.

Theme of the banquet, taken from the preamble to the Constitution of the American Legion, is "To inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community."

Speaker for the event will be Judge Robert W. Hansen of Milwaukee.

Each post in the district is selecting a person in the educational field who was outstanding in the promotion of patriotism and Americanism activities in their school and community. A committee of district officers will select three of the outstanding nominees and awards will be presented.

The legion post here has chosen Charles Schuknecht, a high school teacher of American problems who also taught a contemporary affairs course at the adult education school Schuknecht also was very active in Boy Scout leadership and has assisted the local post with their speaking and essay contests.

New Holstein is host to the annual event, under the direction of Joseph Schneider, commander.

A 50-Year-Old Rural Weyauwega man died early Saturday morning when flames destroyed his small frame farm home. Weyauwega firemen are shown removing the body of Claude L. Howe from where it was found in the basement of the house. The fire was discovered at about 4 a.m. and when firemen arrived the house was engulfed. Howe lived alone and was in bed when the fire started, it is believed. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Twin Lakes Council Scouts Plan Annual Klondike Derby

WAUPACA — Boy Scouts of the Twin Lakes Council will participate in the annual Klondike derby, Feb. 25, at the Twin Lakes Boy Scout Camp south of here.

Registration for the Scouts will start at 10:30 a.m. and the program will last until 4:14 p.m.

Throughout the camp points have been marked with names of Klondike cities. Patrols after checking in will be given general information and the direction of the first city. Six patrols will start out at one time and will proceed to the north pole with instructions to follow their sealed orders. At each city a judge will give the leader a mimeographed sheet stating a problem for the patrol and what to do when they finish and the next point they are to go to.

As patrols complete the problems they will be given nuggets. In moving from point to point the scouts will carry their equipment on sleds they have made.

Some of the problems will be orienteering, emergency operations, first aid, shelter building, signaling.

Revenue Exceeds $800,000; First For Wisconsin

WITTENBERG — Electric cooperative license fee tax payments topped $800,000 in 1967 for the first time in Wisconsin history, according to reports filed with the Wisconsin Department of Revenue.

Thirty Wisconsin cooperatives paid the state $815,644, a $38,039 increase over 1966 payments

Most of the revenue is returned to local governmental units where the cooperatives operate. After a $8,156 administering tax is deducted, the state sends $807,488 to over 900 local governmental units in 54 counties.

The Village of Wittenberg received $88.

Shawano County received $508. Its townships received $2,908 and a breakdown indicates that Almon received $377; Angelica $47; Bartleme $268; Birnamwood $141; Fairbanks $84; Germania $238; Grant $107; Green Valley $125; Hutchins $236; Morris $248; Red Springs $8; Seneca $146; Wittenberg $277, and Eland $4.

Shawano Countys' cooperatives are Electric Cooperative of Iola and Oconto Falls Electric Cooperative, Oconto Falls. Shawano received $2,696 of the Iola cooperative's $11,899 in license fee tax and $211 of the Oconto Falls cooperative's $19,046.

Brillion Girl Scout Drive Nets $852, Short of Goal

BRILLION — Contributions to the recent Girl Scout fund drive amounted to $852 compared to the $830 collected here last year.

An $890 goal had been set by the Manitou Council, Manitowoc, Brillion's Girl Scout affiliation.

All contributions are sent there and are returned to local Scouts in the form of a field director's services, council aid, handbooks, leaders' notebooks and other troop materials. Other benefits are film strips, movies, resource material and a camping program, said campaign co-chairmen Mel Thorp and Mrs. Robert Brick.

Businesses and community service organizations were contacted by mail for their contributions. A neighbor-to-neighbor campaign was conducted in the city and rural area.

Mrs. Charles Miller Sr. recently volunteered to aid in securing two Brillion women for Brownie day camp work this summer, according to Mrs. Mel Thorp, Girl Scout community association chairman here.

Girl Scout family night has been set for Sunday, March 17 at the high school.

Shiocton Youths Will Learn Weapon Safety

SHIOCTON — Some 130 boys and girls — ages 12 to 16 — recently attended the hunters safety program orientation meeting. The program is geared to familiarize youngsters with gun safety.

The program, sponsored by the Wisconsin Conservation Commission, will include eight 50-minute classes in gun handling, fire arm safety in the home and field, care of fire arms, marksmanship and responsibility of hunters and shooters.

It will include classroom periods and actual range practice with live ammunition.

A Hunters Safety Certificate will be given by the Wisconsin Conservation Commission on the basis of students' attitude, attendance and tests. A shoulder patch will also be given them to wear.

Youngsters who pass will be able to hunt alone at age 14, instead of age 16 as the law now states.

Registration blanks and books, "For The Young Hunter" "NRA Hunter Safety Handbook", were distributed. The cost per student is $2.50; all material and ammunition will be furnished. Each student has to provide their own weapon. The meeting will be at 7 p.m. Tuesdays at the high school.

Teacher-Pupil Ratio Theme Of Conference

School Board and Advisory Group Will Discuss Terms

Appleton school district's pupil-teacher ratio, which drew criticism during budget hassles with the fiscal control board last fall, will be clarified tonight during a joint meeting of the school advisory committee and the board of education.

This is the committee's first meeting following a resolution last fall urging the fiscal control board not to approve the school budget unless a 1-25 teacher pupil ratio existed.

Mayor George Buckley named the advisory committee to investigate the question after Roland Kampo, Town of Menasha chairman, submitted the resolution.

Clarify Resolution

Ald. Norman Beyer (20th), advisory committee chairman, and Supt. of Schools William Spears indicated the resolution would be clarified at tonight's meeting.

Beyer said the groups would determine whether the resolution referred to all school personnel or just classroom teachers.

When this is clarified, Spears will present the current ratio statistics to compare with those requested in the resolution.

The advisory committee will report back to the fiscal board sometime after this meeting.

Kampo contended last fall the school could save considerable money if it strictly adhered to the 1-25 pupil-teacher ratio. He said the savings would come in number of teachers, equipment and other areas.

Committee Members

Advisory committeemen are Alds. Beyer, Arthur Hoolihan (11th), Mark Catlin (7th), John Steidl (18th) and Glern Thompson (13th). Representing townships in the school district are committeemen Joseph DeBruin, Buchanan; Thomas Thorson, Grand Chute; George Schwalbach, Harrison, and Kampo.

Prior to the joint meeting, William Pickett, director of physical education, health and safety, will present the proposed program for the school's compliance with the new state safety law on driver training.

The new law requires persons under age 16 to pass both classroom and behind-the-wheel drivers training course before receiving a license.

The school will have to pick up the behind-the-wheel portion of the program, which was formerly carried on by Appleton Vocational School.

With the vocational school reorganization, it no longer can present training for persons under 18.

Pickett met with I. Russell Hunter, state driver and traffic safety education supervisor, last week to adjust the program.

The public school district also has night classes for private school students as a part of the new program.

Hoover's Cousin Wants Name on Ballot in Primary

MADISON (AP)— Herbert F. Hoover, a fourth cousin to the former President, objected Friday to what he called "the method by which pro-Nixon Republicans," kept his name off Wisconsin's April 2 presidential preference primary ballot.

Hoover, of Oskaloosa, Iowa, was one of two men who filed protests concerning their omission from a list of primary candidates selected earlier in the week by a bipartisan committee.

Hoover submitted his complaint in writing. The other protester, who appeared in person at the office of Secretary of State Robert C. Zimmerman, was Donald DuMont of Chicago, who calls himself a "good humor candidate."

Both are Republicans. Lar Daly, a frequent candidate in Illinois elections, had asked earlier that the committee be reconvened so he could be listed.

Hoover, who with DuMont is entered in the New Hampshire primary, said he objects to "the method by which pro-Nixon Republicans kept my name off the ballot" in Wisconsin.

Having not been listed on the primary ballot, a candidate wishing to enter the state's primary must obtain 1,000 signatures in each of the state's 10 congressional districts by March 5.

Electrical Firm Sold at Waupaca

WAUPACA — James Becklund, 707 Royalton St., owner of King Electric, has announced the sale of the firm to M&S Electric Corp., Wausau.

The company will become part of the Stevens Point Electric Co., a subsidiary of M&S, which has about 50 employees.

The firms are in residential, commercial and industrial contracting and servicing and operate throughout Wisconsin with the exception of the Milwaukee and Madison areas.

Becklund will be employed by Stevens Point Electric as its representative in the Fox River Valley.

Waupaca Police Started moving to new quarters at the Armory Thursday. By the end of the day most of the equipment was moved. Police Chief Fred Rasmussen, left, and Ald. Robert Bergman, (4th) are shown moving one of the desks at the armory. Ald. Bergman stopped in to check on the progress and was pressed into service. The move will be completed Monday, with the switching of radio equipment. The fire department also will move to the Armory Monday. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Armed Robbery Charge Is Filed

Robert A. Weinandt Accused Of Shotgun Holdup of Tavern

OSHKOSH — Robert A. Weinandt, a 26-year-old Green Bay man, faced an armed robbery charge in Winnebago County Court Branch 3 this morning in connection with Saturday night's shotgun hold-up of Marten's Bar near Neenah.

Weinandt told Judge James V. Sitter that he understood the charge "in a way" and asked for a court appointed attorney. After an indigency hearing the judge refused his request and instructed Weinandt to hire his own attorney.

The judge set bond of $25,000 and scheduled a preliminary examination for 2 p.m. Friday.

Weinandt, who reported his address as 1416 Oakland Ave., and his occupation as a welder for Green Bay Structural Steel Co., was stopped in his car and arrested by Winnebago County police about 9:15 p.m. Saturday five miles north of Marten's Tavern.

Winnebago County Sheriff Marvin Peppler said this morning that five policemen, two from Outagamie County and three from Winnebago County became involved in the arrest. Police reported that Weinandt struggled when they tried to handcuff him, and a tussle ensued.

Peppler said the sheriff's office received a call from Warren Zemlock, route 1, Neenah, bartender at the tavern, at 9:11 p.m. Peppler said his office was given a description of the car and its license number. Minutes afterward County Policeman George Sasse spotted Weinandt's car and radioed for help before stopping it.

The complaint charged that the robber escaped with "in excess of $200 in currency and coin." The owner told The Post-Crescent Saturday night that the bartender reported $219.50 stolen.

Racine Man in Custody For Driving Stolen Car Across State Line

A 39-year-old Racine man is being held in the Outagamie County jail awaiting release to a federal marshal from Milwaukee today on a charge of transporting a stolen auto across the state line.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and Oshkosh police arrested Edward T. McGrath, at an Oshkosh motel Thursday night.

The car allegedly was stolen in Chicago. It was recovered in Oshkosh. McGrath has been unable to post a $2,000 bond set by Federal Court Commissioner Patrick F. Coughlin.

HORTONVILLE — Policy holders in the Ellington Mutual Insurance Company will hold their annual meeting and election of directors at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Silver Dome in Greenville.

Guest speaker will be Thomas A. Thorson, a stock broker, who will discuss investments.

Directors whose terms will expire are Kenneth Egan, Alfred Krause and Donald Gehring.

Salvation Army Fund Drive Starts Tuesday In Bear Creek Area

BEAR CREEK — The annual fund drive on behalf of the Salvation Army will be conducted Tuesday evening in a house to house canvass by Lois and Ella Riehl.

During the past year baskets of food were given to needy families at Christmas and assistance given during five emergencies by the Salvation Army.

Mrs. Frank Koch is chairman of the local unit, Mrs. Albert Lehman, treasurer, and Mrs. Leon Bechard, committee member.

Police Investigate Store Break-in At New Holstein

NEW HOLSTEIN — A break-in at Stell's Super Value was discovered about 1:30 a.m. today by village police.

Entry was gained by breaking a plate glass front door and opening it from the inside, police said. The burglar left from the rear door leaving footprints and tiremarks in the fresh snow.

Apparently no money was taken and an inventory is being conducted to discover if there was any other loss.

The store is operated by John Stellpflug, 2104 Mary Ave.

This was the second break-in reported in two weeks in the village. The other occurred at a sporting good store. Entry in both cases was made by breaking a door glass.

Mathematics Club Film Will be Shown Tuesday at Lawrence

A 60-minute color film titled "Let's Teach Guessing" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Casper Youngchild Hall of Science at Lawrence University under the sponsorship of the Lawrence Mathematics Club.

The film presents Prof. George Polya of Stanford University. It was funded by the National Science Foundation (NSF) and the American Mathematical Society.

Dr. William Sanders of the Lawrence mathematics department has pointed out that the film is comprehensible to those with little or no mathematical background.

The film is open to the public without admission charge.

Bar Operator Fined $250 on Two Charges

A Mackville area tavern operator was fined a total of $250 and costs or 84 days in jail Friday after he pleaded guilty of permitting an unlicensed operator (his 13-year-old daughter) to be on the premises and of furnishing intoxicants to a 17-year-old girl on Feb. 4.

Floyd J. Reiland, 49, route 2, Appleton, appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 on charges brought following investigation by agents of the Wisconsin Department of Justice Enforcement Bureau. Reiland operates Floyd and Babe's Bar.

State agents said they were in the Town of Center tavern Feb. 4 when Reiland's young daughter was tending bar. Reiland reportedly was asleep in the living quarters of the tavern.

Weyauwega Chief Ends 16-Week Class on Police Administration

WEYAUWEGA — Police Chief Lawrence Schmies has completed a 16-week course in police administration and law enforcement offered by the University of Wisconsin, Oshkosh, and has been awarded a certificate and three college credits.

The course consisted of one 2½ hour session at the university each week.

Chief Schmies said he now plans to enroll in a 16-week course on municipal government.

Sohrweide Tops Bowling Tourney

CHILTON — Sohrweide Insurance bowling team took top honors with a 2,571 in the women's bowling tournament last week.

Second place went to Ginny and Andy's and third to Calumet Printing.

Sohrweide team members are Clare Stroobtnts, Esther Welch, Katie Mueller, Beulah Hawig and Ida Toth.

Another resolution calls for adoption of the negotiation settlement with the Outagamie County Courthouse Employes Association, as it applies to holidays, vacation, sick leave and funeral leave.

The resolution, approved by the personnel committee, would pay employes travel allowance of 12 cents a mile for the first 400 miles, 8 cents the next 300 and 5 cents for all miles over 700

Supervisors also will be asked to pay 50 per cent of the county board members' insurance plan, effective March 1, to cover group health and medical insurance.

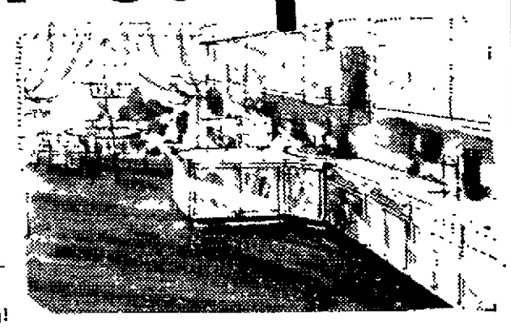

One resolution calls for a county nurse salary of $633 per month on a 12-month basis and the assistant nurse $500. This resolution also asks the positions of county nurse and assistant county nurse be deleted from the civil service and salary manual.

The joint health education and institutions and executive committees will ask authorization for the assistant county nurse to attend an eight-week training course and be absent from her post at no cost to the county.

The Law of the Veto

Speaker Harold Froehlich, among others of his majority party in the state assembly, is indignant because Gov. Knowles chose to use the "item veto," as it is familiarly known in the parlance of legislative politics, to deny the legislature's desire to put six of its members on the board of managers of the new noncommercial television network that was authorized in one of the final acts of the 1967 legislature.

Mr. Froehlich and several of his colleagues who have legal training say that the governor went beyond the bounds of his constitutional authority in exercising the veto function in that manner.

Now the head of the reference bureau of the legislature acknowledges his own uncertainty about the technicalities of law involved, and in response to an inquiry from the assembly leader, offers the opinion that it is perfectly proper for the legislature as a coordinate branch of the state government to start an action in the state supreme court to clarify and make certain the original consitutional provision as amended several decades ago.

Mr. Theobald, of the reference bureau, notes that there is a scarcity of court cases that have touched upon the disputed point. Inferentially, at least, he suggests that it may be wise to have some certainty in such an important subject dealing with the respective powers of the constitutional branches of government.

Aside from the merits of the vetoed portion of the television bill, which touch upon bureaucratic interests, legislative suspicions, perhaps even some political considerations, we believe Mr. Theobald is right and that Mr. Froehlich and his colleagues on the committee on legislative organization should proceed to test the case.

In our own studies and observations of state affairs, we have always tended to assume that the "item veto," meaning the refusal to sign a particular section of a fiscal measure, was intended to relate to general appropriation or state budget bills. At least some governors of our own recollection so interpreted the constitutional law. As it happens, the constitutional amendment under dispute simply uses the word "appropriation," however, and it is upon that fact that Mr. Knowles evidently relied. Mr. Froehlich, in reply, says that there is considerable doubt, in the minds of lawyers, and on the basis of precedent, that the amendment meant a single appropriation bill, even such a minor one as the television bill that carried a paltry appropriation (most of the money expected to be used will be borrowed, or received from the national government in grants in aid).

"This veto by the governor has raised questions in the minds of several legislators as to how extensively the item veto procedure can be used by a chief executive in thwarting legislative intent," the speaker has said with some asperity.

We don't know who is right. We doubt that anybody can now say with certainty. The initiation of an action in the state supreme court strikes us as a useful means of guiding future governors and legislators, aside from the immediate argument.

'Just like old times!'

Education Program Spread Still Thinner

President Johnson made a strong advocation for an expanded federal program in higher education. But due to the same reason that has meant cutbacks all along the line domestically, his proposed budget for education is really barely keeping even with last year's.

There have been some changes that probably are merited. The emphasis in federal aid for higher education is now to be on programs specifically aimed at students and services rather than upon construction. However, aid for construction is far behind its originally ambitious conception, so it cannot be argued that the construction program has been completed. There is also a healthy increase in the proposed budget for the Teachers Corps although Congress has taken a more limited view of this program in general in the past.

But the small increases and in some cases even decreases at the elementary and secondary levels unfortunately will mean a continued downgrading in the effort to improve opportunities for deprived youngsters. The President's National Advisory Council on the Education of Disadvantaged Children has criticized the program as it now exists. The projects spread funds too thinly, they emphasize skill acquisition instead of subject matter and in general are using old methods which have not worked with deprived youngsters instead of exploring new ways. The proposed budget cuts back Title II on library materials by more than half while it adds new programs such as bilingual education and some $14 million for planning an evaluation of federally supported school programs. Again, it appears to try to do just a little something for everyone but this is the very ineffective approach which the Council criticizes.

The new budget also cuts back funds available for the "impacted areas" program which means a further reduction in assistance to some disadvantaged.

There is also a cutback for vocational programs just at a time when many educators are beginning to realize their importance. However, there is a supplemental program to find innovative projects for vocational students. And the budget message emphasized that the increase in research funds would be aimed at programs for low income, migrant and non-English speaking children.

President Johnson has finally faced up in part to the fact that extensive domestic programs cannot be developed and financed while we are fighting a war. But his education budget seems to be an attempt to spread what funds there are available in as many different directions as possible. This hardly is the way to promote effective educational progress.

Lincoln as a War President

In his biography, Lincoln And His Generals, T. Harry Williams writes that "judged by modern standards, Lincoln stands out as a great war president, probably the greatest in our history, and as a great natural strategist, a better one than any of his generals. He was in actuality as well as in title the commander in chief who, by his larger strategy, did more than Grant or any general to win the war for the Union."

As Williams further points out, Grant was a fine general and after he was placed in command, Lincoln found that he had to intervene less than before. Earlier he had to contend with "the incompetent N. P. Banks," and erratic and ambitious John C. Fremont, but found that he could rely far heavier upon W. T. Sherman and George Thomas. "But it was Lincoln's horrible predicament to be saddled with McClellan before he found Grant. . .Consequently, as Grant assumed a larger role Lincoln took a smaller one—but he never left the stage completely."

The picture of Lincoln as a magnificent war president may seem to conflict with other portrayals of him — as a man of great humour and great compassion. And yet perhaps it was those particular attributes, combined with insight and intelligence, that contributed to his successful role when the dreadful responsibility of the Civil War was thrust upon him. There was never in Lincoln any attempt at vengeance; he felt as great sorrow about southern suffering as about that in the north: he understood the problems of the ordinary soldier as well as those of his generals. He realized that in this particular war, the military role had to be pressed to a conclusion or the nation would not endure. But he further understood the need for restraint. Had he lived, the massive problems that grew out of northern vengeance and exploit of the south might well have been prevented.

Certainly it was not a man obsessed with the glory of victory who wrote the second inaugural address. It was a man of deep humility who understood that guilt for the war in a way encompassed all Americans.

"If we shall suppose that American slavery is one of those offenses which, in the providence of God, must needs come, but which, having continued through His appointed time, He now wills to remove, and that He gives to both North and South this terrible war as the woe due to those by whom the offense came, shall we discern therein any departure from those divine attributes which the believers in a living God always ascribe to Him? Fondly do we hope, fervently do we pray, that this mighty scourge of war may speedily pass away. Yet, if God wills that it continue until all the wealth piled by the bondsman's two hundred and fifty years of unrequited toil shall be sunk, and until every drop of blood drawn with the lash shall be paid by another drawn with the sword, as was said three thousand years ago, so still must it be said, 'the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether.'

"With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle and for his widow and his orphan, to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

It was a strange message indeed from a man who came to be regarded as a triumphant commander-in-chief. It is a tribute to Lincoln's greatness that his war role is not the main way we remember him.

GAR Backs Grant for President

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for Jan. 23, 1868.

The Army of the Republic, at its national meeting held in Philadelphia — and at which 240,000 soldiers were represented, unanimously adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That the veteran soldiers and sailors, steadfast now as ever to the Union and flag, fully realize the claims of Ulysses S. Grant, General of the Army of the United States, in the confidence of the people, and recommend him for the office of President of the United States, in implicit confidence that the victories won under his guidance will be fully carried out by him in peace in such measures as shall secure the full fruits of our exertion."

Without warning, shoe rationing was ordered the previous day from the White House by James F. Byrnes, economic stabilization director. Vernon Maurer, Milwaukee, was named Wisconsin shoe rationing moderator. Each person was allowed to have three pairs of shoes per year, according to the order.

Hospital service stripes were awarded to four volunteers at Theda Clark Hospital. The stripes signified the nurses aides had completed at least 150 hours of volunteer service at the hospital. They were Mrs. Julius Wismer, Neenah; Mrs. Ira Clough, Menasha; Mrs. Julia Robb, Neenah, and Miss Barbara Mory, Neenah.

New officers of the Deaconess Board of First Congregational Church, Appleton, were Mrs. C. A. Bland, chairman, Mrs. A.C. Berry, vice chairman, Mrs. William Madson, secretary.

Kraft Writes

Here's New Hampshire Answer: It's Really Two Different States

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

MANCHESTER, N.H. — The people of this country change so much so rapidly that the political leadership has a tough time staying up to date. And nothing shows the difficulty better than the Republican primary fight between Richard Nixon and George Romney here in New Hampshire.

To be sure, a part of the state is itself an old American period piece full of flinty Yankees sagaciously intoning yups and nopes against a Robert Frost background of stone fences, snowy woods, village greens, and rural roads. But that is only in the northern part of the state with less than a third of the population.

The southern part of the state, with two thirds of the population, is Neo-Hampshire. The early American theme emerges only in wagon wheels and coaches set up around motels as quaint lures for the tourists. Otherwise the people are like Americans everywhere else.

NO YUPS, NOPES

They do not talk in yups and nopes. They live not in graceful towns or isolated farms, but in new developments concentrated around the fringes of metropolitan Boston.

Kraft

They are young, averaging under 30 years of age, as against an average of over 35 for the north country. Most important of all, the great bulk are migrants who have come into the state from one of two sources.

One group are French Canadians who have drifted down from Quebec. They work in the shoe factories and textile mills around Manchester and Nashua. They vote Democratic.

The second group has spread north from Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New York. They work in the science-based industries around Boston, and live in New Hampshire as suburbanites.

These suburbanites tend to vote Republican. In 1964, they voted for what amounted to the local boy, Henry Cabot Lodge. This year they will probably comprise the swing Republican vote. But like the suburban voters all over the country, they are hard to reach.

For one thing, the suburban voters do not have affinities with any of the New Hampshire notables. That is one of the reasons why all the best known figures — former Governor Wesley Powell, United States Senator Norris Cotton, Republican State Chairman Perkins Bass — are lying low.

Neither are the suburbanites reachable through local media. They read the national magazines and the Boston press. They watch national TV on the Boston stations.

GO AFTER VOTERS

Accordingly, the two chief contenders in the Republican primary have had to go after the voters in person. They have moved in varying ways, but with only indifferent success.

Mr. Nixon has been asking people to meet him at public receptions. And they turned out by the hundreds the other day for a handshaking session at St. Anselm's College in Manchester.

But it was an older crowd, full of memories of 1952 and 1956, made manifest, in some cases, by Eisenhower-Nixon buttons from those days. They were the regular Republican faithful, the people who owned Nixon. He was reaching them, but they were the crowd he had anyhow.

Governor Romney has gone to the folks in street tours and by meeting them at receptions in private homes. At a typical reception in Goffstown the other day, he had about 30 or 40 suburbanites, serious young married people asking intelligent questions about Vietnam, crime, and rising prices.

But the Governor's moralistic idiom and enthusiastic salesmanship seemed inappropriate to the questions and evoked no response. Indeed, a woman who asked about high prices was obviously skeptical about the pitch she got for breaking up monopoly power in unions and companies.

Each candidate, in other words, is in his own way a kind of throwback. Neither seems to be stirring the electorate very much.

While Nixon seems sure to win, it will be surprising if he gains a decisive victory, or even more than 55 per cent of the poll. For a large part of the electorate in this state, as in the country, there is a political vacuum ready to be filled by men who haven't made the scene.

Wisconsin Report

Politics Kept Name Of Bobby Kennedy Off Primary Ballot

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The manifest intent of the 1967 Legislature in rewriting and vastly improving the over-rated old presidential primary law was to afford the broadest possible opportunity for the people of Wisconsin to express themselves in an advisory way to the political party conventions about the nominations for president.

Wyngaard

Such a purpose was consistent with Wisconsin tradition and history, the court construction of other election laws, and almost surely, squared with the wishes of the people. There was not a whisper of popular opposition to the enactment when it was composed by a blue-ribbon committee leaders of both parties.

The law intends that the Wisconsin presidential primary ballot shall list, for the reaction of Wisconsin voters, not only those men who want to campaign here directly for nominating convention delegates, but those who are generally recognized or advocated nationally as presidential aspirants, real or potential.

CAN FILE DISCLAIMER

It also recognizes, however, that a man cannot be forced to run for an office against his will and thus there was added a provision that anyone who was listed by the bipartisan commission for the Wisconsin preference ballot could have his name removed by filing a disclaimer of candidacy in an official way with the state elections office. That is what Republicans Sen. Percy and Gov. Rockefeller will do, they say.

Viewed in that perspective, the Democratic members of the selection commission obviously defied or ignored the plain purpose of the new law when they voted in concert the other day to keep the name of Sen. Robert Kennedy of New York off the Wisconsin ballot. They, therefore, denied to a probably significant slice of the Wisconsin population a chance to express itself on a man who obviously wants to be the second Kennedy in the White House, although no doubt at a time of his own choosing.

Those men were putting the convenience and the strategical problems of party and politicians above the right of expression of the people.

Sen. Kennedy appears to have no great stomach for challenging President Johnson this year, but does anybody in America who reads what is going on doubt for a moment that he is prepared to run for the presidency, nevertheless, if an opportunity should somehow open?

CAN'T ESCAPE CONCLUSION

As one of the Republican members of the selection commission observed, one would have to keep his eyes and ears closed to come to any other conclusion.

Had Sen. Kennedy been put on the Wisconsin ballot, he would have filed a disclaimer, according to all accounts. Thus no harm would have been done. He would have been within his rights. But it would have been a tactical inconvenience, as the Democrats saw it, for it would have put him in an awkward position if he should change his mind later in the year, for any number of reasons that cannot now be guessed.

More curious was the demand of Assemblyman Huber, the leader of the liberal Democratic minority in the Assembly, with the backing of two other Democrats, to put the name of George Wallace of Alabama on the state ballot as a Democratic candidate.

Wallace is not a Democrat, by his own declaration. He has organized a third party for the fall election. Surely he is not widely recognized or advocated as a Democratic presidential aspirant. Nor does the Wisconsin primary law accommodate independents.

TWO REASONS LIKELY

Only two explanations for the Huber motion seem possible. Huber mentioned the support for Wallace in the "industrial areas," which suggests that he might have been acting under pressure of some of his Democratic legislative colleagues from Milwaukee County and others in the metropolis who are cool on the orthodox Democratic line on civil rights.

But equally probable is the calculation of Huber and two of his party colleagues that Wallace on the Wisconsin ballot might very well be hurtful to the Republicans, and especially Richard Nixon. Wallace gathered a startling 34 per cent of the Democratic primary vote here in 1964, when he was the Democratic governor of Alabama, and nobody in Democratic politics is likely to forget it for a long time.

Strictly Personal

People's Opinions Often Prejudices

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Learning to use the correct word for the correct thing will not resolve human conflicts, as some people think, but it will clarify them and help us understand what we are arguing about. For most arguments do not really join the issue, and thus can never be truly settled.

Harris

Consider the words "information," "opinion," "knowledge," and "wisdom." Unless one understands exactly how these four words differ, what each one includes and excludes, it is impossible to have a meaningful dialog or discussion.

For example, the familiar statement that "everyone is entitled to his opinion," is a mischievous and meaningless remark masquerading as a piece of tolerance. A man who believes the world is flat is not entitled to that opinion, because he is not expressing an opinion — he is defending a prejudice.

We are entitled to an opinion only after we have (1) made a strenuous effort to acquire as much information about the subject as possible, (2) endeavored to organize this information into a coherent body of knowledge, and (3) thought deeply about the implications and consequences of this knowledge, which is the exercise of wisdom.

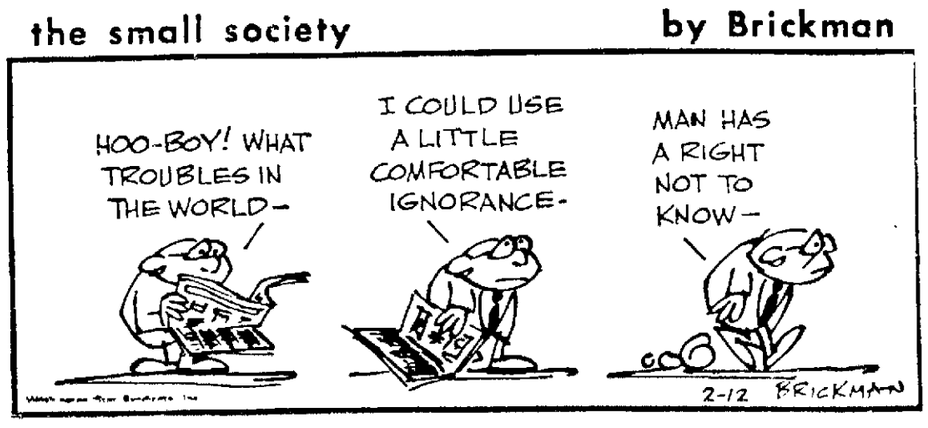

An "opinion" is a valuable thing, and it is only cheapened when we use the word to signify any half-baked attitude or deeply-rooted prejudice we may happen to entertain, because it fits our self-image or serves our self-interest.

When our Founding Fathers suggested that our national policy be based, in part, "upon a decent respect for the opinion of mankind," they did not mean we should cater to the uninformed and often bigoted views about Americans that were held by so many people in that day. They meant that we should respect the views of those foreigners who really understood what we stand for and what civilization is all about.

Many "opinions" that Europeans hold about us are as shallow and false as our "opinions" about some foreign countries, for in both cases, there is not enough information, it is not organized into knowledge, and no practical wisdom has gone into the judgment. Nobody in the world is "entitled" to such fallacious "opinions."

But it is far easier to feel than to think, and it is far more comfortable to believe (on insufficient evidence) what confirms our prejudices than to seek for evidence that refutes it. When Darwin was working on his theory of evolution, he scrupulously set down in his notebook every bit of evidence that seemed to contradict his theory, and only when he could satisfactorily explain these difficulties, did he feel entitled to advance his opinion on the origin of species.

All-Out Safety Program Asked Of Committee

$400,000 in Federal Funds to be Used For Road Seminars

MADISON (AP) — The executive arm of the state government begins a campaign Tuesday of seeing that new highway safety legislation adopted last year produces satisfactory results among all levels of traffic law enforcement.

The states first highway safety advisory committee, which will meet in Madison, is to be asked by Dean Van Gordon, state highway safety coordinator, for a thorough program in which each citizen could be involved in reducing vehicle accidents

Van Gordon said he hopes the program will be vigorous, but said there are no immediate estimates as to how fast facets of the project can be put into effect

Funds Distribution

Wisconsin has been assigned $400,000 in federal funds this year as its share of the 1966 Highway Safety Act Van Gordon said distribution of funds for the program should range from $42,000 in Milwaukee County to $105 for Menominee County.

"The moneys are too small to be useful in most instances," he said, "so we will have to spend them on seminars and local pilot programs"

Cooperation of state agencies, universities and motor vehicle associations will help offset any shortage of funds, he added

The state needs a broad approach "because there is no single answer to fatal accident or injury prevention," Gov. Warren P. Knowles said recently.

Van Gordon said the 15-member advisory group meeting Tuesday will begin with discussions of a statewide traffic safety outline.

He said he would like to see a rapid evaluation of the new legislation and the safety campaign.

Two former U S ambassadors in Asia called for a halt to the bombings to be followed by negotiations

Unable to Halt

Edwin O. Reischauer, former envoy to Japan, and John Kenneth Galbraith, ex-ambassador to India, both said the Vietnam war has made clear that the United States is unable to halt insurgent actions.

"We have lost this war in terms of what was our original objective," said Reischauer, "and that was to prove that so-called wars of national liberation do not pay and we can stop them. Obviously we cannot."

Galbraith noted that the North Vietnamese had said they would agree to negotiations once the bombing was stopped.

"Why not stop the bombing and have negotiation?" he demanded "Why do we have to go into this elaborate State Department-type of mumbo jumbo as an argument for continuing this screwy business?"

Vowed No Surrender, Murder Suspect Jailed

PRATTVILLE, Ala (AP) — Benny Brown, who vowed he would never be taken alive, and Faye Dawson his girl friend, were in an Alabama jail today, arrested in connection with slayings in Georgia and Alabama.

Brown, 23, and Miss Dawson, 16, were arrested Saturday night at a roadblock near Macon Miss., following a chase through three states which left two persons dead and four others wounded.

Georgia officials reported telephone calls from Brown Saturday warning them not to come after him because he would never be taken alive and saying he intended to make a run for it

But Mississippi authorities said Brown offered no resistance when captured Saturday night.

"I think at the roadblock Brown saw he didn't have much of a chance, looking down those shotgun barrels," said J D Slay, head of the Meridian, Miss patrol district.

Brown and the girl waived extradition proceedings and were turned over to Sheriff Phillip Wood of Autauga County Sunday

Sheriff Gary McConnell of Chattooga County, Ga , went to Prattville Sunday night to confer with Alabama authorities on the Georgia charges. No date for arraignment or preliminary hearing was set and the couple was held without bond.

Brown was charged with murder in the Friday night shooting of Connie Willingham, 16, of

Miss Dawson

Brown

Menlo, Ga., in Summerville. Three other youths were wounded in that shooting

Both Brown and Miss Dawson are charged with murder in the shooting of Hugh Boyd, 47, of Montgomery, Saturday near here. Boyd's son, 21-year-old Marine Sgt Harry Neal Boyd was shot and seriously wounded

Brown and his girl friend just happened to meet the Boyds in Prattville, said Wood. "They didn't give them a chance to talk, explain or anything," he said "They just shot them."

Authorities pieced together this chronology of events which they believe occurred in the three-state crime spree.

Brown had been in an argument earlier with Willingham and the other three youths in Summerville. On Friday night the four youths in a pickup truck pulled alongside Brown's red sports car. McConnell said the youths told him Brown roller down the window and opened fire on them with a 38-caliber pistol.

The pair fled and authorities issued a lookout for them in both Georgia and Alabama.

On Saturday, authorities said, Boyd and his son were shot after they stopped their car to lend aid to a young couple who flagged them down claiming they had had a hunting accident

Officers said both men were shot five times. Boyd was killed immediately and his son was in serious condition at Maxwell Air Force Base hospital in nearby Montgomery

Mississippi authorities said a highway patrolman spotted the Boyd car and followed it. A roadblock was set up and highway patrolmen sat quietly with their auto lights out until the car appeared.

Then, all the cars flashed on their lights at once Troopers said Brown climbed from the car with hands behind his head, leaving the girl and the pistol inside the car.

Authorities said the girl was charged with Brown because she apparently went with him freely.

'Life With Father' Actor Dies at 78

NEW YORK (AP) — Howard Lindsay, actor, director and playwright for more than a half century—but familiarly known to millions as the irascible-lovable father in Broadway's "Life With Father"—died Sunday of leukemia. He was 78 years old.

Lindsay not only appeared in "Life With Father" for over five of its seven years' run, he wrote it with the late Russel Crouse, with whom he collaborated for 28 years.

Lindsay's wife, Dorothy Stickney, portrayed the mother in the play.

Among other hits resulting from the Lindsay-Crouse association, which ended in 1962 with the death of Crouse, were "State of the Union," which won them the 1946 Pulitzer Prize; "Arsenic and Old Lace," which ran for over three years; the musical "Anything Goes," and, with the aid of Irving Berlin, "Call Me Madam," which starred Ethel Merman

Lindsay also wrote the book for "The Sound of Music," starring Mary Martin, for which he was given the 1960 Antoinette Perry Award

Polar Bear Club Notes Birthday With Cold Dip

NEW YORK (AP) — Members of the Polar Bear Club ignored 13-degree cold to take their annual dip in the Atlantic Ocean off Coney Island.

The 11-member group, headed by Swedish-born Marta Gronski, 66, Sunday celebrated the club's 65th anniversary.

Mrs. Gronsky said she has enjoyed swimming outdoors in winter since she was 6 years old.

The members swim every day from December to April. After that, a spokesman said, the water becomes too warm.

Confusion Results From Accident; 40,000 Rerouted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A gigantic traffic jam ended after nine hours of confusion, frustration and rerouting that started with an accident Friday on the San Bernardino Freeway.

A truck rammed into a pedestrian overpass, weakening the structure so that police feared it might tumble. Eastbound lanes of the busy roadway closed for more than 2½ hours.

The westbound lanes into Los Angeles were shut down for about nine hours.

Police said at least 40,000 commuters were affected on the San Bernardino Freeway alone.

Firemen's Efforts Fail; Woman's Not in House

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two Miami men battered down the door of a neighbor's burning home Sunday to rescue a woman they thought was inside

The rescue effort started when a neighbor called the Roy H Hawkins home to say the house was on fire A woman answered the telephone and the caller presumed she was inside the house. But the voice on the phone turned out to be that of a woman at a telephone answering service No one was in the house.

$11,300 Lost in Theater Robbery In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A downtown motion picture theater was robbed of an estimated $11,300 shortly before midnight Sunday by two masked intruders, one of whom carried the loot in a wastepaper basket as he fled.

Police detectives said estimates of the loss by employes of the Centre Theater ranged from $11,300 to $15,000, and that it included weekend receipts.

About 250 patrons were in the the holdup.

The theater manager, Donald Dungan, said one of the men carried a pistol. Money was taken from cash boxes and a basement vault.

Dungan said the robbers ordered employes to lie on a floor, then fled. Police, alerted by a telephone call, arrived moments later, but a search of the adjacent business district produced no trace of the robbers.

Employes said the robbers attempted to stuff the cash into a large paper bag, but resorted to a wastepaper basket when the bag ripped.

Southerner Joins Lincoln Observation

By SID HURLBURT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — At least one Southern Democrat in the Senate will join Republicans today in honoring the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln, GOP patron saint and Civil War president.

Amid preparations for "Lincoln Day" observances around the nation, traditional occasion for speech-making and campaign fund-raising efforts by Republican politicans, Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., said of Lincoln:

"He was one of our great presidents."

Byrd said Northerners shouldn't be sirprised that a Southerner such as himself thinks highly of Lincoln, born 159 years ago.

He noted Lincoln's declaration of "malice toward none and charity toward all."

Plight of South

"Had he lived," said the senator in an interview, "the plight of the South would have been much less severe."

Visitors to his Senate office find a portrait of Lincoln in a prominent position on Byrd's desk, emblazoned on the front of his leather-covered appointment book.

"I'm a great admirer of Lincoln," he said. "When I see one like this in a stationery store, I buy it."

One of Byrd's hobbies is history, and much of his reading has been concerned with Lincoln and his time, the senator said.

"What was perhaps our most tragic era—tragic because of this war which was a fight within the family, so to speak—produced two of the greatest leaders we have had: Lincoln and Robert E. Lee."

Admire Writing

Byrd, a newspaper publisher and former editor, said he admires Lincoln not only as a strong and compassionate leader but also as a literary figure.

"His ability to write with such conciseness impressed me greatly," he said. "So many of his remarks had such common sense to them."

Byrd, whose family has roots deep in Virginia history, said he finds no embarrassment in being an admirer of the Civil War president.

Richmond was the capital of the Confederacy, much of the state was ravaged by the war and the final surrender of Southern forces was at Appomattox Court House, Va.

But, Byrd noted, Lincoln also had roots in Virginia. His father was from the Shenandoah Valley, not far from Byrd's home.

bombers killed 223 Viet Cong in running battles around a government ammunition dump a mile northeast of Tan Son Nhut Air Base and near the Saigon racetrack on the city's western outskirts.

AP photographer Joe Holloway reported that infantrymen from the U.S. 199th Brigade, moving into Saigon Friday to speed the mop-up operation, found remnants of a Viet Cong battalion hiding out behind grave mounds in two small cemeteries and near three houses surrounded by rice paddies in the race course area

The infantrymen sealed the area off with armored personnel carriers, then appealed via loudspeaker from a hovering helicopter for the guerrillas to surrender, none came out. The infantrymen went in after them and later counted 42 enemy dead, along with six U.S. troops killed and 13 wounded.

Family Killed

In another incident, a flare dropped to illuminate a sector of the city caused a house fire that killed 12 members of one family

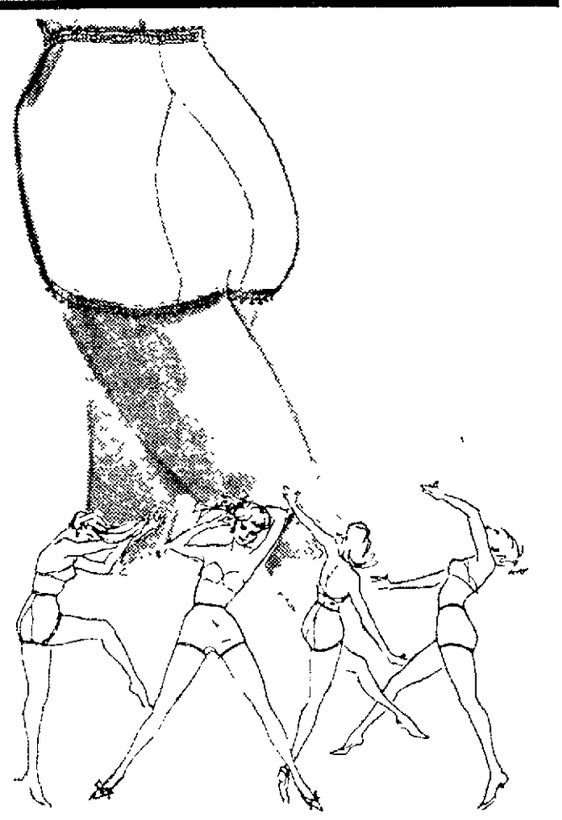

But downtown, more people were on the streets and more shops were open than at any time since cities fighting began Jan. 31.

In the 13 days up to midnight Sunday, Communist losses totaled 32,245 dead and 6,307 captured.

Research Group Says UW Faculty Partially to Blame

Contend Oct. 18 Dow Riot Might Have Been Avoided

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The administration's view of the administrative problems that led up to the Oct. 18 riot on the University of Wisconsin campus over job recruitment of the Dow Chemical Co., makers of napalm, has been compiled

And as a main point of their conclusions they have attempted to answer the numerous questions raised by critics of the events that led to the outbreak of violence among the community of scholars that led to the injury of more than 70 students and police.

The study was conducted by a special research group assembled from the ranks of the news and publication office of the UW, and points a long finger at the faculty as being unwilling to accept the responsibility of reaching students in efforts to head off such problems.

If There Is Blame

If there is blame to levy, the faculty must share it, the report pointedly implies toward faculty critics of the administration's actions in bringing Madison police, armed with night sticks, onto the campus to break up the disruptive protest against on-campus job recruiting.

Other conclusions the report reaches include the adoption of unenforceable rules for such protest control by the faculty.

Also included are the conclusions that too few police were on hand to do the job required of them. About 70 police were on the scene of the attempt to remove 200 to 250 demonstrators who were determined to continue blocking the Commerce building where the interviews were to be held.

Questions raised by critics — and the administration's study committee answers — include:

Q: Why were the Dow interviews not moved to an off-campus location after it became clear that obstruction was planned?

The report answers that the faculty had voted to continue on-campus interviews and that it had voted to prevent the obstruction of such interviews. The faculty knew that outside police force might be required to enforce those decisions. The administration could have violated those faculty decisions, but would have then been permitting some firms to interview on campus while barring others from the same facilities, the report states.

Why Not Isolated?

Q: Why were the Dow interviews not held in a more isolated building or at least confined to a single building so the administration would know where the obstruction would take place?

The violence might have been prevented by such a move, the report admits. But the protestors were determined to disrupt. They could have chosen any other symbolic building — such as the administration buildings — and tied those up just as easily and pushed their point of preventing selected interviews on campus, the report stresses.

Q: Why was not a strong attempt made to allow the mere spectators to leave the Commerce building corridors on the first floor before police were sent in to clear the area?

A stronger attempt might have been made, but demonstrators and onlookers were making so much noise — and the halls were so congested — that communication was impossible by the time the police were sent in. And many students were determined to stay on the scene as long as possible to watch the events. It could have been announced that force was to be used, but campus officials were aiming to clear the corridors without violence and with minimum force the report argues.

Q: Why were not the persons trapped inside the Commerce building rooms taken out via windows and the protestors simply outwaited by the police?

The procedure would have been very dangerous because of the vulnerability of persons on ladders and the nature of the crowd outside of the building. The police had only one choice — to remove the demonstrators, the report emphasizes.

Clearing Corridor

Q: Why was not the plan to partially clear the corridor in order the reach the interview rooms rather than to completely clear the corridor?

That was the plan, the report says. The protestors were to be removed a row at a time. It was hoped that others would leave as the first were picked up.

Q: Why weren't the police at the Commerce building ahead of the students in order to bar entry to the protestors?

The UW decided to allow some protestors to demonstrate inside the building. It is not clear, in fact, how protestors could be kept out because of the large number of students who attend classes there every day "A protestor with a book instead of a sign in his hand is just another student and undoubtedly could enter any building on campus by simply telling police he was en route to class," the report states.

Q. Why didn't the police wait until they had a larger force before moving into the Commerce building?

The arrival of the city police attracted more students. he police expected non-violent resistance. Police decided to move into the building before the crowd outside became too large to control, the report explains.

Some Trained, Most Not

Q: Were police instructed on the use of night sticks?

Some Madison officers had been trained in crowd control with the sticks, but most were not. But all officers have some training in the area, and the officers were cautioned before being sent in, the report points out.

Q: Were some Madison police officers not wearing their badges?

"Many were not," the report states. Police contend that the removal of badges is an individual decision, and is done to prevent their use against police as a weapon, or their theft in riots.

"However, there is no doubt that the sight of policemen without badges convinced some protestors (and spectators) that the officers intended to use unnecessary force and attempt to escape punishment by hiding their identity," the report concludes.

Asian Affairs Expert Speaks At Lawrence

'China, Southeast Asia' to be Topic Tuesday Night

A University of Wisconsin Asian affairs specialist will discuss Southeast Asian leaders' views of Red China in a public talk at 8 p.m. Tuesday, at Lawrence University Memorial Union.

Fred R. von der Mehden, chairman of the university's East Asian Studies program, will speak on the topic, "China and Southeast Asia." His appearance is sponsored by the Lawrence World Affairs Council

Is there a cure for piles?

Many leading authorities say there is no cure for piles short of surgery. But in some cases there is a product that may relieve pile pain. Its name is M.P.O.—Mentholatum Pile Ointment. M.P.O. contains Benzocaine, a topical anesthetic hospitals use to soothe burns and skin rash. It can give relief for hours. Get M.P.O. at your drug counter, in ointment or suppositories.

Ody Fish Named GOP Chairman of 13-State Region

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Ody J Fish, state Republican chairman of Wisconsin has been chosen chairman of a 13-state Midwest GOP region, a post which his predecessor said will make Fish a national spokesman for the area.

Fish, elected to the job Saturday during a meeting of seven state chairmen, will meet regularly with chairmen of the party's three other regions, and with GOP national chairman Ray Bliss.

The Midwest unit represents Wisconsin, South Dakota, North Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio.

"Ody will have considerable influence," said Robert Ray, Iowa's state GOP chairman who is resigning the regional post to run for governor.

"We will look to him for leadership, and he will be our spokesman nationally," Ray said.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — State Sen Oscar Alagood of Little Rock passed a telegram around the Senate Wednesday Sent by one of his constituents, it said: "Opening session was a great disappointment. Please do better for Arkansas Help the governor."

The only thing the Senate did when it convened Monday was to answer the roll call.

"Apparently," Alagood said, "I can't even answer the roll call right

Jaycees Conduct 'Auction on Air' At Waupaca

WAUPACA — The Jaycees in conjunction with WDUX radio station presented their first annual "auction on the air" today from the Waupaca Armory.

In past years the Jaycees had held a radio day on the station and sold advertising as a fund raising project. This year items were collected from merchants and other persons and then auctioned off over the radio, with the highest bidder phoning in getting the item.

Members working on the radio day auction were Jerry Vandehey, Jim Heinske, Fran Vergaun, Andy Wendt, Denny Lee, Everett Roloff and Jim Lick.

Money raised by the event will go toward the Brainard Bridge Park, Waupaca Youth Center and other community projects.

Save on Taxes

New Deductions Listed For 1967 Income Tax

BY SYLVIA PORTER
(In collaboration with the Research Institute of America)

This series of 10 tightly written columns is not designed to make it easier for you to fill out your 1967 income tax return. Rather, it is designed to give you facts which wil save money and time for you; guides which will help you avoid costly errors; specific ways to minimize the chances that your return will be questioned and to bolster your position should it be questioned.

Much information you will find here will be absolutely new, for some of the most vital tax developments of 1967 came in little noticed court decisions or obscure Treasury rules.

Clip this tax series, save it for use when you fill out your return. Translate these words into dollars for yourself.

To begin with, here are important changes you will find on your 1967's Form 1040.

Health insurance premiums. Those of you who itemize your deductions can generally deduct only your medical expenses in excess of 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income (which is the figure on page 1, line 9 of the return.) For instance, suppose your adjusted gross income is $8,000. If you had $240 (3 per cent of $8,000) or less of medical expenses in 1967, you can't deduct a dollar. If you had medical expenses of $245, you can deduct $5; of $300, you can deduct $60; etc.

Special Exception

But there is now a special exception to this general rule applying to health insurance premiums that provide reimbursement or indemnity for hospitalization, surgical fees and other medical expenses. These premiums formerly were lumped in with other medical expenses subject to the 3 per cent wastage rule But starting with your 1967 return, you can deduct one-half of these premiums as an itemized deduction (but your deduction can't exceed $150) regardless of the 3 per cent wastage rule.

Take this deduction on line of your itemized deductions on page 2 of Form 1040. The remaining one-half or more of the premiums that you can't deduct on this line goes into your other medical expenses that must meet the 3 per cent rule.

For instance, if you paid $350 of premiums in 1967 for hospitalization and major medical insurance, you deduct $150 on line 1 (½ of $350 is $175 but the limit is $150) and you include the other $200 with your medical expenses on line 5 of your itemized deductions on page 2 of Form 1040.

Capital Gains Changes

Capital gain dividends. If you are among the millions whose only stock investment is in mutual funds, you will find it easier to report any long-term capital gain dividends on your 1967 return. In the past, you had to fill out a separate Schedule D — Capital Gains and Losses — to show your capital gain dividends and then you brought the figure forward to page 2 of Form 1040. In preparing your 1967 return, you no longer have to prepare a separate Schedule D if all you received were mutual fund dividends and you don't use the alternative capital gains tax. Instead just report in the Miscellaneous Income section, on page 2 of Form 1040 one-half of the amount of your capital gain distribution from the mutual fund. This will save you time and trouble

Sales tax deductions. Your tax form package this year contains, as in 1966, an official table of acceptable state sales tax deductions, but the 1967 table has a new wrinkle which can give you a bigger itemized sales tax deduction than in 1966 IF you have any tax-free income.

In previous years, the amount of acceptable sales tax deductions was based on your adjusted gross income as shown on line 9 of Form 1040. This line includes only your taxable income. But for 1967, the tables let you pick out your acceptable sales tax deduction on the basis of your income shown on line 9 plus all your exempt income — such as Social Security benefits, tax-exempt interest — which you received during 1967.

Tomorrow: Average Deductions and Children of Divorce.

Tipsy Driver Fined $100

Waupaca Court Revokes License of Frank Harris, Almond

WAUPACA Frank A Harris, 23, route 2, Almond, pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants and was fined $100 and costs, Friday, when he appeared in Municipal Justice Court

Harris was arrested by state traffic police Dec. 1 on U. S. 10 in the Town of Lind and pleaded not guilty to the charge when he appeared in Municipal Justice Court later the same day. Before the case could go to trial, Friday, Harris changed his plea to guilty

In addition to fining Harris, Justice George Whalen also revoked his driver's license for one year.

Larger Social Security Checks Start March 2

Social Security increases will be reflected in checks beneficiaries receive on March 2, 1968, Frank M. Donnick, district manager in the Appleton Social Security Office, said today.

Donnick said that many beneficiaries are getting in touch with the Social Security Office unnecessarily in the mistaken belief that the benefit increase in the 1967 Social Security Amendments would be included in the checks they received on Feb. 3

Beneficiaries need not take any action to get the increase, he said. The increase will be sent to them automatically.

Put Hand in Cold Tap Water to Help Burns

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Something took my attention for a moment, and when I turned around I accidentally plunged my hand into scalding water up to the wrist.

The pain was so great all I could do was grab a tray of ice and put it in a bowl of water and put my hand in The pain disappeared right away but soon my hand was freezing, so I poured out the ice water and ran cold water from the tap. It did as well.

After 30 minutes I decided I could not keep my hand in water all day so I took petroleum jelly and a handful of aspirins and made a paste and put it on my hand

But I had to put my hand in the water again I put more paste on several times, each time returning my hand to the water After about two hours I was able to remove my hand from the water and the pain was entirely gone No redness, no blisters, no soreness. By evening no one would believe I had burned my hand

Since then I have been puzzled as to which treatment did the trick, the water or the paste Could you explain why it worked? And in severe cases could it save lives? — N.M.

The experts on burns have been trying to spread the word — and I've been trying to help do it — that immersion in cold water is the best possible first aid for a burn

The ones in whom I place great trust urge ordinary tap water — not ice water. Your experience bears them out

I doubt that your aspirin-grease paste did anything for you except give you something to do Indeed, the surgeons who treat serious burns urge strongly that people put nothing on a burn, and especially grease or salves. Reason: Too often it has to be removed at the hospital and tissues, already damaged, are harmed still more.

Tap water is the best first aid for severe and extensive burns, too — getting the patient into a tub of cool water.

But in extensive burns more than the pain is important There is shock to the system, and when a burn (even an ordinary scalding) covers 10 per cent or more of the body, the patient should be taken to the hospital quickly. Burns as "small" as 10 per cent have been fatal in some cases because people decided to "wait and see."

With less severe burns, keep the burned are in cool water until the pain ceases This may take an hour, more or less. You may have needed more time because of removing your hand to put the paste on.

Important: Get the burn into the water as quickly as possible.

Dear Dr Molner: Is it true that once a vitamin is opened to the air, the vitamins inside are useless in a week? A friend said that anything made to dissolve in the stomach will be useless when exposed to the air. — W.R.M

Your friend, sir, is a mite mixed up. It is true that vitamins deteriorate gradually. Many things do. The brown bottles, commonly used for vitamins, are a means of protecting the capsules from the action of light.

They will not, in any event, deteriorate as rapidly as your friend seems to think. If you just use them at the ordinary rate, they will remain fully potent as long as need be

Dear Dr Molner I have a badly sprained knee from a fall My doctor said to keep heat on it and take aspirin It doesn't seem to help much, and I was told to soak red pepper in kerosene and rub that on Would it be all right to try? — Mrs E D

A sprained muscle needs time to recover. Heat and aspirin will do as much as anything to make it more comfortable. I don't think the red pepper and kerosene will do any good — nor do any harm, except to make a mess

Dr Molner is interested in all his readers' questions, and whenever possible uses their questions in his column, but because of the great number received daily, he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters

BEWARE of Phony Zitzencloppers

Because of the interest created by a recent classified advertisement that appeared in The Post-Crescent, we thought it our duty to warn our readers of the possibility of being duped into buying a phony Zitzenclopper.

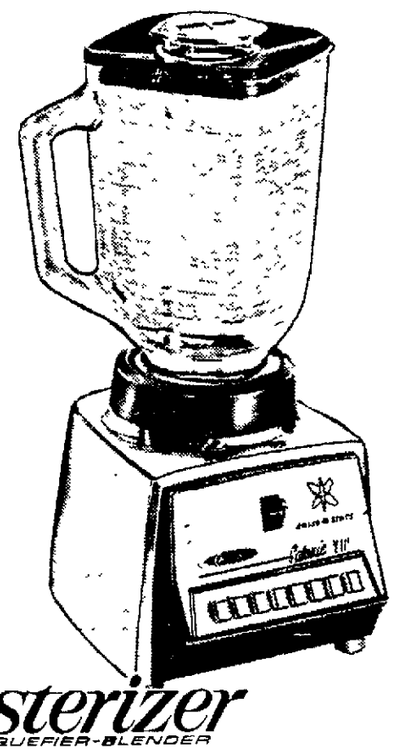

One of our readers was kind enough to send us the above illustration of what he thought was a genuine Zitzenclopper. Now, the apparatus pictured apparently does an outstanding job in performing the function for which it was intended . . . but it is NOT, and we repeat . . . IT IS NOT A ZITZENCLOPPER.

In the first place the power facus appears to be round, and of course that's absurd. The flagalate is way too small and the blef is missing completely. We could go on and on as to the many other discrepancies in the "thing", but they get a little too technical to describe.

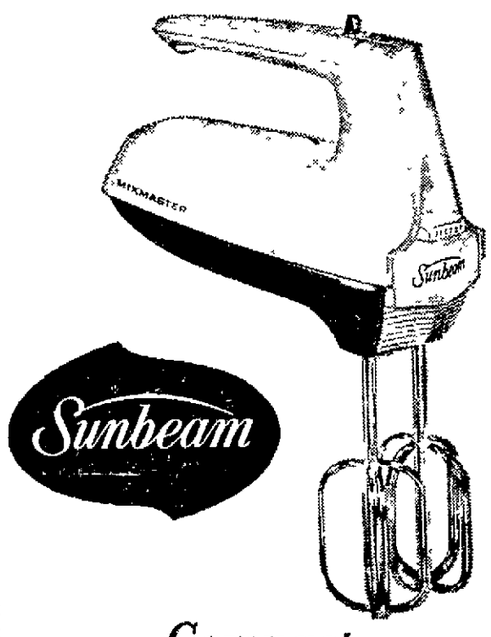

As a public service to our readers, The Post-Crescent intends to publish a complete description and picture story of the Zitzenclopper later this week.
